

TO DEMAND SAFETY FOR AMERICANS IN WAR ZONEGerman Declaration and Lusitania Incident Discussed by Pres. Wilson and Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The German declaration of a war zone around the British Isles and the hoisting of the American flag on the British liner Lusitania continue to be topics of widespread comment in official and diplomatic quarters and the receipt of the German war office memorandum from Ambassador Gerard and a report on the Lusitania incident from Ambassador Page are eagerly awaited here. Until these are received the Washington government will take no action in the matter.

The situation which has arisen as a result of the German declaration and the Lusitania incident was up for discussion today between President Wilson and his cabinet. It was understood that following the conference formal inquiries would be instituted concerning what steps the German naval commanders will make to protect neutrals traveling on merchant ships and for information as to the use of American flags by British ships generally.

SAND BANK CAVED - IN

James McGuinness of Summer
St. Killed at Chelmsford Centre
This Morning

A workman named James McGuinness, residing in Summer street, employed by Contractor Dix of Chelmsford Centre, while at work on a sand pit in that town, this morning was caught under a cave-in of sand and suffocated.

While fellow-workmen were attempting to rescue him a call was sent for the ambulance and the private ambulance responded in all haste, but upon its arrival the unfortunate man had been taken from underneath the pile dead. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertakers McDonough Sons to await a view by Medical Examiner Meigs.

Wool

The fact that the electric heating pad is soft and pliable and made of wool accounts to a large extent for its popularity.

For where heat, locally applied, is desired to relieve pain, flexibility is essential.

ENTER YOUR BABIES
IN THE WEIGHING CONTEST

We will start a bank account with one dollar deposit for each of the nine babies that win in this contest being held in our infant department this week.

Three classes of babies—under 3 months—3 months to one year—one year to two years, for lightest, heaviest and medium weights.

In six months we will give a loving cup to the baby registered here this week that gains the most weight in that time.

Officials are said to be much concerned over prospects that the prescription of the war zone and the use of a neutral flag by war vessels as a stratagem of war may endanger lives of Americans whose right to travel on neutral ships in war times, it is understood, will be vigorously upheld by the Washington government.

C. S. TO SEND NOTE TO ENGLAND
POINTING OUT DANGERS OF HOSTING FLAG

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The administration view of the hoisting of the American flag on the steamer Lusitania as stated today on the highest authority is that the use of other flags by ships of nations at war is such a customary practice that no formal protest can be made but that it will be proper to send to Great Britain a note pointing out the dangers to neutral shipping which may follow if such a practice is continued.

Turkish Invasion of Egypt Seems to Have Come to Naught—Desperate Fight in East Prussia and the Carpathians—Germans Make Gains in Argonne

The German army in East Prussia reinforced with troops sent to help stay the Russian advance into Germany has undertaken the offensive. The Russians also are believed to have a large army in this region, where a great battle apparently is developing. The outcome of this struggle is expected to have an important bearing upon the entire campaign in the east.

Paris Expects Washington to Send Protest to Berlin

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The paragraph in the German memorandum sent to the United States government declaring Germany's naval forces have been instructed to abstain as far as possible from damaging neutral ships, the French press declares did not appear in the original text published in the Reichstag at Berlin. It is considered by the papers here that no matter what apparent restrictions may be added to the operations of the navy the document constitutes an intolerable menace to neutrals on the part of Germany. The opinion is expressed that the Washington administration will protest to Berlin.

Plot to Seize States of Texas
Arizona, New Mexico and California for Independent Republic

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 9.—After the private examining trial here yesterday of Alvaro Gutierrez, one of two men arrested by United States officers on a charge of seditious conspiracy against the United States, federal officials said they were in possession of documentary evidence which they alleged revealed further details of a plot to seize the states of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and the lower half of California for the formation of an independent republic. Ultimate annexation to Mexico was contemplated. It is said the document declaring that Mexico had been robbed of this territory. Gutierrez was held in $5,000 bond for trial. Basilio Ramos was held under the same bond after preliminary hearings. Other arrests are expected.

THE SHIP BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A half score of weary-eyed senators were in their seats at dawn today when the second all-night session of the battle over the administration ship purchase bill drew to its close with the republicans again pitting their physical endurance against that of the democrats in an effort to delay a vote on the measure until the expiration of the present congress.

Senator Jones of Washington had held the floor virtually the entire night opposing the bill. He began his address late yesterday when a parliamentary struggle disclosed the fact that the democrats were again in control of a majority vote of the senate.

The mobilization of their forces having been completed with the arrival of Senators Newlands and Smith of South Carolina.

At 6 a. m. today the senate had been in session continuously for 13 hours. Republican leaders insisted they could keep up the fight until March 4, if necessary. The democrats were equally insistent that they could retain a majority within call and determined to carry the struggle to the bitter end.

Senator Jones yielded the floor at 9 a. m. to Senator Bristow, who immediately made a point of no quorum. Senator Jones had spoken 12 hours. After the quorum was obtained, Senator McCumber, another republican, began to speak.

Drastic steps were proposed by democratic senators to break down the opposition to the bill by compelling constant attendance of all the opposition. Senator Fletcher immediately after Senator McCumber began to speak got an order passed for the arrest of Senators Bristow, Borah, Burton, Camden, Catron, Goff, Hardwick, Hitchcock, Lodge, Oliver, O'Rourke, Root, Sterling, Sutherland, Vandaman and Weeks, all absent.

Senator Reed presented an order to compel each senator to remain in the chamber until excused.

Senator Gallinger denounced the order as outrageous and a prolonged debate followed.

POSITIVELY PAINLESS
DENTISTRY
NAP-A-MINIT
USED BY DR. GAGNON

A broad statement, but a true one, and one which I am prepared to prove:

The average person is rather skeptical in regard to painless dentistry, as experience has taught him that in most cases the work done in a painless manner simply meant that the teeth were not prepared properly and the result was that trouble arrived sooner or later.

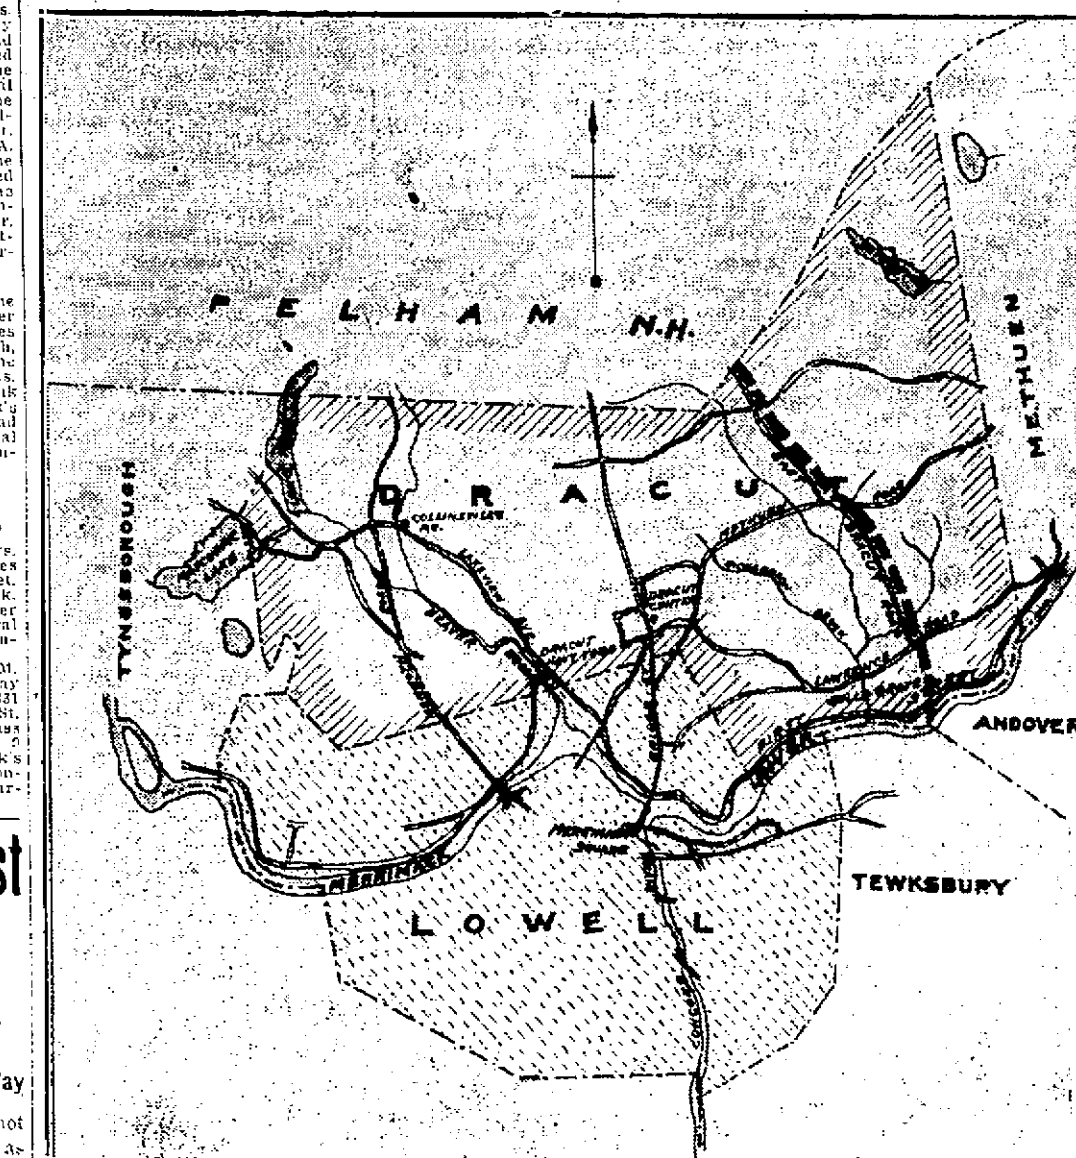

With Nap-A-Minit you can have teeth and roots extracted, nerves removed, cavities thoroughly prepared for fillings, bridge work inserted, pyorrhea treated, in fact every branch of dental work done absolutely without pain.

Do not confound Nap-A-Minit with the ordinary anesthetics, an ether, gas, or any of the anesthetics. It is a combination of nitrous-oxide producing the state of analgesia in which you can talk, hear, watch the dentist at work, every faculty unimpaired, save that you can not feel pain.

Don't let fear keep you from your rightful inheritance—good teeth—but come to either of my offices and let me explain in detail the wonderful merits of that great boon to teeth-suffering humanity—Nap-A-Minit.

MAP OF DRACUT IN OUTLINE. CITY OF LOWELL MARKED IN LIGHT SHADING. HEAVY STROKED LINE SHOWS PROPOSED PARTITION OF TOWN

In the above map of Dracut, the heavy stroke line along the East Dracut Road shows the proposed partition of the town, the eastern portion to go to Methuen and all the rest to Lowell. It is contended that the Dracut residents east of the separating line are identified with Methuen and Lawrence much more than with Dracut or Lowell. They do not even attend town meetings and so far as can be learned they would rather belong to Methuen than to Dracut. Whether Methuen wants them is another question.

The population of that part of the town is very small and it is not likely that Methuen would offer any great objection to such an addition particularly as this area contains a pond which might be used as a source of water supply.

To the west of the East Dracut Road lies all the best part of Dracut including the Centre Village with its Dracut. The greater part of Dracut ample areas of high land, the Navy Yards within easy reach of Merrimack

FINDS GROSS NEGLIGENCE

Judge Pickman has returned a report on the inquest following the death of Clarence E. Lessner, the instructor at the vocational school who was fatally injured in the explosion there on Oct. 23, 1914. In his report Judge Pickman finds that the victim of the accident was "grossly negligent in the use of the means and appliances." The report in full follows:

"At the time of the accident on the 23d day of October, last past, the basement of the school building was used in part for the process of welding in making repairs of automobiles, or other repairs where welding was required. There was a welding set in the basement consisting of tanks to which connection could be made by means of a tubing and a liquid gas torch. It will serve to state generally that the process of welding is done by means of a commingling of gases susceptible of generating an intense heat which passes through a torch, which, when lighted at its tip, serves to concentrate the heat upon the metals to be welded. At the place of union of the metals to which the heat is to be applied, a flexible compound called spelter is used which serves to aid in effecting the welding of the metals. On the floor above the basement of the school building, rooms that were used for the repair of automobiles and for making other repairs. Automobiles requiring repairs were brought to the school by the owners thereof and left there to be repaired, whereupon a record was made by some person connected with the school who was authorized to act in making the report; repairs were made by the instructor having charge of the department of repairs, the pupils in the department having the opportunity to see the work done, and where help was needed, assisted therein under the direction and supervision of the instructor. When an automobile was repaired, as aforesaid, the bill for the work done, with the name of the owner thereon and other details concerning the same were sent by some employee of the school to the city treasurer of the city of Lowell, who sent the bill to the person whose name was on the bill as being indebted for the repairs made at the school; the amount of the bill was then paid by the person indebted, to the treasurer of the city and went to the city treasury.

Lessner Had Charge
"Clarence E. Lessner, who was of the age of 26 years, was instructor in the school having charge of the repairs and of giving instructions thereto to the pupils of the school under his charge. In the department of repairs was included the process of welding. Said Lessner had been instructor in the school for a little more than two years prior to the day of the accident. While in the school he had the experience of about a year in the work of welding; he had received instructions as to the process from Mr. Staples from whom a welding set had been bought for the use of the school. For a time Lessner in welding used a liquid gas in combination with oxygen, a comparatively safe method to be employed, as liquid gas is inactive. Subsequently, and within a short time prior to the accident he made use of acetylene gas in combination with oxygen, making use of the torch that was intended to be used with the liquid gas-oxygen combination. There was testimony from the principal of the school tending to show that Lessner used the acetylene gas-oxygen combination without the knowledge or consent of the principal. The principal stated that he had refused a number of welding jobs for the reason that a supply of liquid gas could not be obtained in the market. At some time before the closing of the school, in the month of June last, upon an occasion when said Lessner was at work welding and making use of a mixture of acetylene gas and oxygen, there was a minor explosion that blew off one of the gauges on the tank, the gauge being used for regulating the flow of the gas, and the gauges were not replaced. About a week prior to the date of the accident said Lessner brought the broken parts of an automobile to a welder in business in said Lowell, to have the same welded. In the course of a conversation concerning the job of welding that he wished to have done, said Lessner said: 'I mix the gases in an expansion tank, they work better and I am using that.' The welder said: 'I would not do that for a farm down in Maine.' There was further testimony tending to show that when oxygen and acetylene gas are mixed in a receiving tank that the slightest concussion will cause an explosion and that where a liquid gas torch, which is known as a Weld torch, that was used by Mr. Lessner, is made use of that there is danger of the fire from the lighted torch flowing back through the torch into the receiving tank, thereby causing an explosion. It further appeared that the torch made use of by said Lessner had neither gauge nor any other material proper to use to prevent the back fire.

How It Occurred
"About 1 o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, the 23d day of October last past, and some time after the close of the session of the school, said Clarence E. Lessner, who was of the age of 26 years, was in the basement of the school in a job of welding an automobile that was out of repair; they went into the basement together and within a few minutes thereafter an explosion took place in one of the tanks that was being used wherein were gases that were being used in welding; the explosion caused a fire in the basement, some windows were broken, the tanks were damaged and thrown about on the floor of the basement. Mr. Lessner was badly injured but was able to get out of the building unassisted. John Kenney, who was assisting in the work, had a leg and an arm blown off and sustained other injuries. They were removed to the hospital. Mr. Lessner died on the first day of Nov. 1914, from the effects of the injuries that he had received. John Kenney is still living. One or more of the witnesses who testified at the inquest had a conversation with both Lessner and Kenney at the hospital some time after the accident occurred concerning the explosion and the cause of it. The conversation was very brief, and not of much detail, as both of the persons were suffering greatly from their injuries, and talked with some difficulty.

Two Tanks Used
"It appeared that two tanks were used, one contained acetylene gas, and the other tank that said Lessner had prepared for the purpose, contained oxygen; that the tanks were connected by a tubing or other appliance through which the commingling gas flowed through into the chamber of the torch that was used, to which reference has been previously made; that to regulate the flow of the gas, by the direction of said Lessner, Kenney used a monkey wrench, and turned the wrench to effect the flow of the gas, as he was directed to by Lessner. When the work was being done in the manner stated, the explosion occurred.

"Arthur S. Dodge, a chemist of experience, particularly with respect to chemistry as applied to the welding process, in reply to the inquiry 'To what do you ascribe this explosion based upon what you have seen here and heard here?' made this answer: 'I ascribe this explosion to the mixture of oxygen and acetylene in a common mixing chamber and ignited by one of two causes, either by the propagation of a flame from the point of a torch back into the mixing chamber, or by a disassociation of the mixture in that chamber by an external cause, such as shock or concussion.'

The Finding
"I find that on Friday, the 23d day of October last past, that Clarence E. Lessner, a resident of said Lowell, and an instructor in the Lowell vocational school, while at work welding in the basement of said school building in said Lowell, assisted therein by John Kenney, a pupil in attendance at the school, sustained bodily injuries that thereafter caused his death, resulting from an explosion, caused by the intermingling of acetylene gas and oxygen in a receptacle that was being used in said process of welding in conjunction with the defective condition of the receptacle or the parts appurtenant thereto in which said mixed gases were inclosed.

"I find that said Clarence E. Lessner was grossly negligent in the use of the means and appliances that were used by him in welding as aforesaid, and that the explosion was caused thereby.

"Respectfully submitted,
John J. Pickman,
Senior Special Justice of the Lowell Police Court.
Lowell, Mass., Feb. 6, 1915."

PAUL E. BURNHAM

Lowell Boy Tells of Flood in Eel River Logansport, Indiana

Paul E. Burnham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Burnham of this city, is living in Logansport, Ind., and his parents have received a letter from him telling of the flood caused by the overflow of the Eel river, an occurrence similar to the overflow of the Wabash in 1912.

Paul Burnham came to Lowell after the Wabash flood in 1913, having figured in some experiences that were strenuous, to say the least. He said at that time there was nothing to stop a recurrence of the overflow. He told of a bridge at the junction of the Wabash and Eel rivers. He said the bridge was too low and would move in case of ice and freshet.

That the young man knew what he was talking about has been evidenced by the fact that the bridge he spoke of was responsible for the big ice jam that raised a riotous at Logansport a few days ago. The bridge, when it backed up, he said, flooded the west end business section and the west side residential district. The ice jam did not last very long and when it broke, allowing the river to go its way, the water soon disappeared from the street, leaving great cakes of ice in different sections of the city and on many of the main streets.

While the situation was for the time being, very serious, it was not without its funny side, glimpses of which appear in Mr. Burnham's letter. In one place he tells of a colored footman struggling with a "colored pony." He was trying to take him up to the front steps to a house, as the water in the street was too deep for comfort. The owner of the pony looked on from a height that was safe, and said: "Please don't go away." "Don't worry, sah, I ain't goin' nowhere," replied the colored footman as he clasped a half nelson on the pony and fairly threw him up the steps.

Mr. Burnham states that the flood did considerable damage to property, and that there is nothing to prevent a recurrence of it. The only thing to prevent it, he says, would be to raise the bridge at the junction of the two rivers.

CHIEF WELCH'S FEAT
A pair of horses attached to a heavy sled filled with fertilizer became stuck on the pavements near the corner of Central and Market streets this forenoon and it was several minutes before the driver succeeded in getting away. Snow was placed under the runners but the horses could not even then move their loads and finally were freed by the use of a pair of horses. The four horses pulled strenuously but the sled would not budge. A call for volunteers was then made and Sup't. of Police Welch was one of the few to respond. The chief and others pushed on the rear of the sled and thus the driver finally got over the hump and continued on his way. A friend of the wrestlers of all Europe this by-stander said the big chief pushed the sled an four horses over the bare spot.

FUNERALS

ROARKE—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary J. (Harris) Roarke, one of the most kind and best beloved members of St. Peter's parish, took place this morning from her home, 229 Charles street, and the remains were taken to St. Peter's church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Patrick Grayson, assisted by Rev. George Mullin, deacon, and Rev. Thomas J. Heffernan, sub-deacon. Assisting at the service were representatives of many of the older families of the parish, a large number of well known citizens, and a representation of Lowell council, K. of C. The choir, augmented for the occasion, sang the Gregorian mass with the usual solos. Mr. James E. Donnelly directed the choir. The casket was borne by Capt. J. Edward Burns, of the fire department, and Messrs. Hugh C. O'Shea, William Black, Patrick Morris, William Ryan, and James Sheridan. The ushers at the house were Messrs. Clarence W. Weston and William J. McLaughlin. At the conclusion of the church service the funeral cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery, where the interment took place in the family lot. The service at the grave was conducted by Rev. Fr. Mullin, assisted by Rev. Fr. Heffernan. The interment was in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough and Sons.

Large floral offerings were a large display described "Mother," from the family and relatives from Mrs. Agnes J. and Miss Elizabeth O'Shea, and the building department, city of Lowell. BIG WRESTLERS COMING

CARNIVAL TO BE HELD IN THIS CITY ON FRIDAY EVENING OF THIS WEEK

Lowell, as a sporting city, received quite a card a few days ago, when George V. Tuohey of Boston, transferred his big wrestling carnival scheduled for Mechanics hall, Boston, Feb. 12, to the present rink in Hurd street. Mr. Tuohey was in competition with the R. A. A. hockey match upon that occasion, and rather than stage his big event to the detriment of the other attraction conducted by many of his personal friends, he decided to give up his date, and later, he selected Lowell as the best city in the state for the transfer. Here is the all star heavy weight card: Lemie vs. Arvidson, Cyclone Burns vs. Ivan Michailoff, the Croakie; Dixie Bob Allen of Louisville vs. Fred Babcock.

Karl Lemie, the Bohemian wrestler, is one of the youngest men in the world to attain the prominent position he occupies in his chosen profession. Although just past 24, Lemie has been one of the star mat men of Europe for the past eight years, and in that time he has won many of the open tournaments so popular across the water. In one of these held at Warsaw, in which there were 119 entries, Lemie went through the entire field and captured first prize. When it is considered that among the starters were a few of the wrestlers of all Europe, this feat in itself stamps the Bohemian as being a rather rare specimen of the athletic and wrestler.

FINDMAN DEAD IN BROOK MADE IN AMERICA CUT HIS THROAT

WORCESTER, Feb. 8.—Lying face upward with the ice and snow sweeping past in a torrent, the body of Joseph Bourrel, aged 82, of 539 Park avenue, was found in a stream near his home yesterday by Camille Richards, a newelty of 3 Park avenue place.

TORE UP A $20 BILL

Van Collected the Fragments and Patched Them Together and Re-declared It

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—Fragments of a $20 bill scattered along the tracks in the Washington street subway were recovered at intervals between trains by John J. Gallagher, the owner, patched together after two hours' work and finally redeemed at the sub-treasury today. Gallagher abscondingly tore up the bill and threw the pieces in the track pit at the Milk street station. When he discovered his mistake he returned to the station to search for the money. Investigation disclosed the bits of money blown about by each successive train. Between train arrivals Gallagher hoped down into the track pit and snatched up pieces of the bill and on the winding run of approaching trains hopped back again.

ICE CUTTING AGAIN

Ice cutting was begun in earnest on the Merrimack river this morning, and an attempt will be made to fill the basement houses of the Daniel case Co. before another storm. The snow was cleared from the surface last week and a part of the ice was marked off. Today over 200 men started to work pushing the ice along the runs and packing it in the houses. The ice is about 10 inches thick and of very good quality.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS

The officers and committee in charge of the Merrimack party to be given Wednesday evening in Lincoln hall by the Lowell Postoffice Clerks Mutual Benefit association have completed plans for the event.

FIRST TIME IN 200 YEARS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Probabilities are that the United States will not be compelled to look to Europe in the future for its chemical porcelain. Experiments by the bureau of standards disclose that it is possible to manufacture such articles from American materials. Heretofore practically all chemical porcelain came from Germany.

The experiments developed that porcelain wares could be made from American clay which were the equal of the foreign product except as to color.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT REQUESTS

HOUSE TO GIVE IT A BLANK CHECK FOR ARMY PURPOSES

LONDON, Feb. 8.—For the first time in 200 years the British government today has requested the house of commons to give it a blank check for army purposes. This is virtually the effect of the new precedent set up by the introduction of the army appropriations without details and without the aggregates of the expenditures and when parliament has voted the nominal sum of 1000 pounds sterling under each of the 15 groups of expenditures it will have voted supplies without limit for an army of 3,000,000 men to be accounted for when the war is over.

MADE IN AMERICA CUT HIS THROAT

MANCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 8.—The death of Andrew Thompson, a painter, who is alleged to have cut his throat yesterday after stabbing Margaret McAllister, his sweetheart, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAllister, was expected hourly today by physicians at the hospital to which Thompson and McAllister were taken. The young woman's recovery is looked for and the wounds of Mr. and Mrs. McAllister are not considered dangerous.

DAZED IN MERRIMACK SQUARE
ALON WILKINS, aged about 45 years, was found dazed in Merrimack square and taken to the police station where he was attended by city physician Fitch. He was identified and removed to the Chelmsford Street hospital for treatment. Mr. Wilkins was formerly employed at the Boot mill.

Grand Observance by Banquet at Associate Hall with 500 Guests

Speeches on World Peace and New Eng- land's Future

Fine Musical Program, Grand Decorations— Optimism the Keynote

JOHN H. MURPHY
Secretary

The Lowell board of trade celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary last evening by a great banquet in Associate hall attended by 500 members representing the best in the public life of the city. In every particular from the slightest to the greatest it was a memorable occasion and it establishes a new record for the quarter-century organization. In its blending of the enjoyable and the educational it was unique and the spirit of cordial hospitality and brotherhood created a club atmosphere which one does not often find in such large gatherings. Anyone who could have seen the banquet hall last evening when the program was in full swing or who could have heard the great burst of melody when 500 voices were raised in chorus would not doubt that Lowell has a lively and up-to-date board of trade managed by practical and resourceful officers. The smoothness with which the successful affair was conducted was largely due to the personal supervision of President Marden, Secretary Murphy and the energetic committee on arrangements.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapiesin" is the Quickest and Surest Stomach Relief

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves, sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapiesin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite, but what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapiesin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

197 Central St.

The musical program was of a high order throughout. Avoiding the merely popular and transitory, it included songs that while they had the spirit of the occasion, had permanent musical value. If hearty cooperation and frequent applause go for anything, those present appreciated the change for there were moments when all joined in the chorus and the choruses were demanded in terms that could not be refused. At each place was a horn with the motto: "Blow your horn for Lowell," and these were used often and effectively in the demand for more music. The musical program of the evening was the Lowell Vocal club, a new organization under the direction of Mr. Albert Edmund Brown, which gives great promise of future achievement. There is splendid material in the body and with such competent management Lowell may expect much from it. The Mendelssohn male quartet was also heard in many fine selections and was well received by Mr. Brown and Mr. Charles H. Howard.

A feature that created a great deal of amusement and stirred up considerable enthusiasm was the singing of a topical song by Mr. Howard, to the tune of "Tipperary." All present joined in the chorus. Following is the musical program in full:

Winter Song.....Bullard
Lowell Vocal Club.....Westman
Mendelssohn Male Quartet.....Westman
The Sheriff's Song from Robin Hood.....Dooley
Mr. Albert Edmund Brown.....Dooley

Mr. Wilfred Kershaw, Accompanist.....Dooley
President Marden.....Dooley

At the conclusion of the singing which had left everybody in a most enthusiastic state of mind, President Robert F. Marden made the introductory speech of the evening. He spoke briefly but pertinently referring to the very special importance of the occasion and touching lightly on slighting of the board of trade since its organization. He said that 25 years ago it was a thriving body and announced that two of the charter members, Mr. A. G. Pollard and Mr. Patrick O'Hearn, sat at the head table. He also expressed his satisfaction at the great attendance and the spirit that pervaded the meeting, and celebration of the largest of its kind and one of the best in the history of the board of trade.

Mr. Marden introduced as the first speaker of the evening Mr. Hamilton Holt, of New York, editor of the Independent, a noted scholar and orator and one of the most ardent workers in the country for universal peace.

Mr. Holt was once decorated by the emperor of Japan for his work in bringing about better international relations.

Mr. Holt's Speech
I am very glad that your president in his kind introduction was kind enough to remember that I am the editor of the Independent. I have a journal to attack my enemies. I can

Physician's Prescription

Important for All Those Who Suffer After Eating

If you suffer from indigestion after eating and find that instead of the one little pebble or soda pill you used to take, it now takes two or three to stop it, it is time you called a doctor and did some hard thinking.

The plain truth is that there are thousands of men and women in this country whose stomachs are dead or dying from lack of exercise while they themselves still live. They can't go on this way much longer. It's wonderful to think that the powerful action compressed in a pill will even for a little while do the work of a human stomach. But no pill was ever made that could do it for

A dead stomach can't be brought to life but a slowly dying stomach can and must or its owner must soon follow. Years ago a famous physician wrote the prescription for Mi-na-na Stomach Tablets and thousands owe their very life to them today. Most stomach remedies work on the food you eat. Mi-na-na works on the stomach and digests nothing. Mi-na-na stimulates the stomach muscles and vitalize the stomach's chemistry into its normal and natural state. The stomach starts at once to churn its food and normal, painless digestion follows. All the ailments that come from indigestion are relieved. Mi-na-na Tablets, returning to refund money in any case where it does not do these three things. First, in ten minutes give relief from heartburn, gas, belching, acidity, souring, etc. Second, in thirty days completely renovate, cleanse and strengthen the stomach so it can do its own work without aid of any kind. If your own druggist thinks this well of Mi-na-na you surely ought to try it.

combat my traducers, but Heaven preserve me from my traducers. You all know about Theodore Roosevelt and his return from the jungle, his visit to Norway, his capture of the Nobel peace prize, and his subsequent visit to Germany where a sham-battle was fought for his decoration. Later, we said to a friend of mine that we wanted a senate at Washington to make arbitration treaties and a house to launch battleships.

Some of the great souls of the world have believed war to be a necessity. Professor James and war was the romance of history. Our only living Shakespeare—Geo. Bernard Shaw—says nothing is ever done unless men are prepared to kill each other if it isn't done.

I know of only three valid arguments in favor of the first is that familiar and fallacious old notion that the engines of war have lately become so terrible that man cannot stand against them. This war has evidently multiplied that argument, for man has stood the test of Zeppelins and of the great flying machines and all the idea that war can be abolished by fear is shown to be wholly untrue, and that we can ever influence men against war by fear I do not believe. If we really need more engines of war I believe we should build them, but I do not believe this work should proceed in hysterical fashion.

All nations are friendly to us at the present time. Possibly Japan may be in your thoughts as potentially hostile, but I am convinced that Japan will do anything we ask her to, provided she can get it with dignity. Moreover, even assuming that any nations are inclined to be hostile, the present war will leave them so exhausted that they could never keep pace with our own preparation for battle.

As to battleships, there is some evidence that they are things of the past. Forts now require defense instead of being a defense; submarines and airships perhaps are more to be desired as additions to our provision of instruments of destruction, but even these we shall understand better when we see the result of this war.

What will other nations say at the end of the war, when we come in as the peace agents, if we are to proceed now to make extensive preparations for war? Our motives in preparing for war would certainly be impugned, and our purpose misunderstood. The way to secure peace is not through panic preparation to fight.

The first real argument for peace is the old one—"Thou shalt not kill." Lowell was right when he said, "As for war, I call it murder." That truly is the unanswerable argument. Further, it is calculated that ten thousand millions of dollars will be spent on this war—perhaps even more. It takes $2000 to kill a man in this war, and civilization cannot stand that. Norman Angell has shown that the winner loses almost as much as the loser in any war of this kind. Suppose you conquer a people and wish to trade with the conquered state. Benjamin Franklin showed us years ago that the poorest way to get a customer was to hit him on the head. We cannot grasp the meaning of this war. Nor is it a matter of men alone. All wars are primarily waged on women and children, who cannot fight. If there are 2,000,000 men killed, there are as many women that will match them. They are thrown into the street as the natural consequence, and they die of a living death. For the men not married who are killed there are women who must marry inferiors if they marry at all.

The peace movement must not hereafter be an anti-war movement—it must be a pro-peace movement. It must aim at the substitution of law for war. Before we can have anything like a real end of international law making for peace, we must have a conscience built up in the nations concerned to guarantee universal respect for that law; and we must organize, politically, the world itself. The world has been able to maintain law for war within the borders, in lower and cities, but as yet it is not able to maintain law in the international relations. The next step is to push the people into the background, will eternal peace prevail?

The extension of democracy must be done by the several parties in the various countries. The United States today is the greatest league for peace known to history. The League has been used 10 times in peace war, which is a real accomplishment. We cannot hope to do it all at once.

How can we stop this war, and how prevent its recurrence? Mr. Bryan wisely says in the United States calls a congress of the various national nations, the causes of that congress would have to be respected, and with the prejudices of the nations existing, this may not be the practical way to work at this time. But the time will come when something of this kind may develop, and we shall be the nation to take the lead. Indeed the time is already ripe to organize a peace movement by co-operation. It is our duty to talk down war, discourage it. The militarists and pacifists often forget that force is to be used in three ways—either the force of the police, which is a necessary force, the force of aggression which is not necessary, or as of defense, which is necessary only when aggression first exists. I can see no objection to a league of force as a police—and we should accustom ourselves to think of it in that way alone.

I believe a league of peace should be formed with the disarmament plan of the United States on the one hand and the armament plan of England on the other—by which I mean that we should agree to a disarmament among the nations, but still keep force enough to oppose any combination that might be brought against the disarmament league. Let the league of peace disarm down to the point where its remaining engines of destruction are just enough to meet possible attacks of these nations that remain medieval minded. This might be started by the United States, France, Italy and England. The others would sooner or later have to come to it, because their own people would force them to. The leading thinkers in this country have endorsed some such idea, and if we think it and talk it long enough it will come. Already the United States has done more than any other nation to establish an arbitration system for the furtherance of permanent peace, and more will yet be done.

We ought to be thankful that we have a president here who will meet our great international questions in the right spirit. Mr. Wilson has presented war with Mexico and may yet be the means of doing it more. He may do for the world what Washington did for the United States, adding to our Declaration of Independence a world-wide Declaration of Interdependence.

The address of Mr. Holt was followed with the closest attention and at the close the applause was prolonged and hearty.

Mr. A. W. Douglas, of St. Louis, Missouri, was the next speaker, his subject being: "Fundamental conditions and the spirit of the people in the west and south as affecting the business outlook." His speech was mostly a message of business optimism and the need for the cultivation of resources, backed up with facts gleaned personally from all sections of the country. Mr. Douglas has about 700 agents whose chief concern is to keep him in touch with business affairs in all sections and, as he remarked last evening at the close of his address, he is ready at all times to support by positive proof any facts he states.

Last evening he touched specifically on the railroad situation and declared that a better public spirit towards them is growing. He also said that coal mining is improving and that the Colorado feud is a thing of the past.

Mr. John N. Cole
Hon. John N. Cole of Andover and Boston was the next speaker. Before coming to the subject of his address he spoke in most complimentary terms of the anniversary program, referring especially to the splendid music under the direction of Mr. Brown. He said that he was thrilled by the music of J. A. Wilson Baker and hoped that a like condition would prevail under Mr. Brown's leadership. Mr. Cole's subject was: "Tying New England to the World," and he dealt with it in the forceful and convincing manner which served him so well as speaker of the house in the Massachusetts legislature. He said, in part: "In New England, taxation, transportation and legislation are obstacles. Legislation in Massachusetts has gone farther than in any other state, and too frequently it has become a handicapped belief there is a great call for courage at the state house. You can't help these wheels turning in Lowell unless you watch other cities with laws just as equitable as those applying here. In my opinion we won't get the right level of the taxation problem until we come to taxation of land value, because it produces."

"Boston is the market place of New England. Massachusetts has spent $7,000,000 for water transportation to aid Boston, which with other appropriations aggregates $17,000,000, but there has been no development in the matter of marine facilities commensurate with the enormous expenditure. Few millions were expended on the fish pier, but until recently there was no accommodation to ship fish, and you people of Lowell paid the extra cost."

"Today there is no adequate tying link between Lowell and the ports of South America. From the North Atlantic to the South Atlantic you can find little accommodation. It will take you four days to get a car across Boston if you have a pull, and if you haven't, it will take you a week to make connections. You have got to see a link built between North and South states before you can hope to make any progress in exportation."

"We must impart courage to our legislators that they may stand in their shoes and be counted for measures that will give relief to the people who so much need it. I feel that the Lowell board of trade is doing a great work, and I want to say that its efforts to improve traffic by the opening of the Merrimack river are helpful in many ways. This move speaks a lively organization—a type that can do much to promote prosperity and improve conditions generally in New England."

EXPOSITION A DREAM CITY COME TRUE

1.—Section of Palace of Horticulture. 2.—Court of Four Seasons. 3.—Colossal statue of Buddha shown by Japan. 4.—New York state building. 5.—Portals of Education building. 6.—Oregon state building. 7.—Section of Palace of Education. 8.—Rending the isthmus. 9.—Tower of Jewels statues.

THIS is not a story of the Panama-Pacific International exposition. It is, at best, a word picture of the setting in which the visitor to the grounds after the formal opening of the fair Feb. 20 will view the collected achievements of the nations.

Nestling against the green background of Presidio hill, with the waters of the bay as its western boundary, the pastel colored buildings lie—parapet and tower and dome, rose and cream and shadowed blue, old gold and bronzelike green, reminiscent of Spain at its most beautiful period. To this have been added the charm of Venice, the mirrored reflection in canal, lagoon and lake. Nature and the cunning of those who had the task of construction in hand have combined to cause the grounds to appear century old, with all the softened beauty of permanency and age.

One goes to the fair prepared for the usual glare of unrelieved imitation white marble—a glorified version of Coney Island—and one finds within a few blocks of the business center of San Francisco proper a city of another age in another world—a dream city come true; palaces which might have been built for the kings of Spain in days long past, had their subjects ever attained the appreciation of the Romans for the beautiful in architecture and sought to express it in their own way.

There are hedges, real box hedges, twenty and thirty feet high and of correct proportions in depth, which by the magic of necessity and modern horticultural witchcraft spring up overnight and flourish thereafter. There are flowers and ferns and palms from every corner of the globe about and above one, exotics planted in a rich loam brought from the Sacramento valley to insure their well being. And the pillars of the palely United marble are mossy and soft, as are all true pillars of centuries past which touch the waters at their bases. It is as if California foresaw this fair before white men came to our continent and builded that all might be ready when the twentieth century arrived.

Nothing has been overlooked in the determination of those who are in charge to retain this impression of permanency. The Midway (for since the famous avenue of fun at Chicago all others have been called Midways by the public) is situated well on the outskirts of the grounds in order that the more brilliant lighting necessary in this vicinity may not interfere with the carefully subdued effects in the actual grounds. There is no tendency toward "cramping" the buildings; the effect and identity of each are sedulously retained by the broad avenues and courts.

Eleven Main Exhibition Palaces. There are in all eleven main exhibition palaces grouped about the great courts. In the center lies the Court of Universe, opening to the east into the Court of Abundance and to the west

PANAMA PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

into the Court of the Four Seasons. Famous artists have contributed to the effectiveness of these broad, grassy stretches by providing symbolic statues, which, mounted on the huge arches and about the fountains, make concrete the abstract ideas of the architects. The whole is a memorable achievement, and the opening of the grounds will mark the realization of California's dream, a dream of properly commemorating the importance of America's gift to the world the great canal which today unites the east and the west.

A massive statue of Buddha, a hundred feet high, will stand at the entrance to "Japan Beautiful," a miniature Japan with all the beauty and characteristics of the country of the Rising Sun. It will be one of the most striking exhibits.

Most interesting of "Japan Beautiful" will be the trip to Japan. In the very body of the huge Buddha, the visitors will be taken on a slight seeing trip to the orient. By newly patented electrical and mechanical devices the scenery will be reproduced in detail. As the visitors step out of an eighteen feet escalator they will find themselves on the deck of a trans-Pacific steamer. They will be taken from San Francisco harbor, passing by the exposition grounds out into the Pacific ocean. The magnificent view of the exposition from the sea is exactly reproduced. Touching at Honolulu, visitors will see the tropical life, divers and native youths riding the surf. Arriving at Yokohama a short trip to Tokyo is made. From Yokohama the ship goes to Kobe and thence to Shanghai and Hongkong.

Splendid State Buildings. The New York state building is a mansion. It cost $200,000. It has twelve rooms for servants, is four stories high, has twenty chambers for the state commissioners, a suit for the governor, a meeting room for the board, an oval reception room for women, a ball room, men and women's reception rooms, dining room, private dining rooms and a kitchen equipped with $3,000 worth of the latest appliances.

The Oregon building is in the style of the Parthenon, and the pillars are of Oregon giant logs. All the lumber for this building was sent from Oregon forests and was saved and planed on the exposition grounds. The tallest flag pole in the world stands on the Oregon site as the gift of the citizens of Astoria, Ore.

All of the state buildings are splendid structures and add to the general attractiveness of the exposition.

SUNDAY LIKE RACE HORSE CHAMPING AT BIT

Photos by American Press Association.

MR. AND MRS. BILLY SUNDAY.

I HONESTLY don't know what to think of Billy Sunday. I am willing to be convinced that he is sincere in his purpose, but he impresses me with the feeling that he is more anxious to have a reputation for sending a long list of recruits to God than honestly to save one soul.

For three-quarters of an hour I sat within three feet of him and watched him closely as he greeted some 3,000 persons, and I failed to see the kindliness I expected in a man with such a great purpose, says Eva Nagel Wolf in the Philadelphia Press.

His eyes are cold and absolutely impersonal; his mouth is the only part of his face that is alive. He has a curious way of wetting his upper lip with his tongue and at the same time giving a keen, searching glance as if on the lookout for another person who needed to be convinced that his conscience was asleep.

His personality is not pleasing to me. The very fact that he is always on the alert, that his nervous energy is so much in evidence, would make him a trying person to be with any length of time. In his face one does not find the warmth of feeling that radiates from that of Mrs. Sunday, who is of the unselfish, motherly type.

Like a race horse champing at the bit, crazy to be off, is Billy Sunday waiting for the noise to die down before beginning one of his lectures. Each muscle seems to be connected with a cell of live wires.

His words are forceful, if crude, but it is his acting and eloquence that carry every word that the man has to say to each individual in the audience. I am not sure even yet that his is a dominating personality. I first think it is his eloquence, seconded by as fine acting as is seen on any stage. He races up and down the platform, and when it grows too small he capers over the reporters' desks with such force that one wonders if he will put on the shortstop in time to save the people crouching on the sawdust below.

He is like Peter Pan in one way only—he has not grown up, for he is still a boy in many respects and, like a boy, takes a deal of pride in his own achievements. After he has told a particularly funny story he awaits the applause and appreciation that he thinks are due him. He seems pleased with the very fact that he works himself into a perspiration and wipes it from his brow with the old gesture of the ball player, that all may see how hard he is working. And perspire he does! Perspiration rains off his face, drenches his handkerchief and stains his light gray suit in a huge spot between the shoulders. Oh, no, Billy Sunday does not spare himself. He is fussy about many little things—for instance, he always insists on a white reading desk, loathes being interrupted and becomes quite peeved when any one in the audience coughs.

There is no doubt that he is essentially a man's man. His greeting of men is more whole hearted, in fact, than it is with women, with whom he is a bit shy—that is, if one could ever call Billy Sunday shy. He is not a large man as size goes, but his wiry body has enough nervous energy to make up for any lack of height. This man has not the sensitiveness of the thinker; he is a doer of the sledge hammer type, as his handshake would signify.

His devotion to his wife, who watches over him like a mother hen, is marked. He appeals to her on all occasions for advice, for she is truly his manager.

HARD TO KEEP ROUMANIA OUT OF WAR

THE new king of Roumania couldn't very well have come to the throne at a more difficult time. If Roumania contrives to keep clear of the war it will be something like a miracle as one will see by looking at the map of Europe. Roumania has as neighbors Russia to the east, Austria and Serbia on the west and Bulgaria on the south, with Turkey not so far away.

Roumania is a country that always had to fight for its existence, partly because until within the last century the throne did not necessarily pass to the eldest son of a king. All sons were eligible and the country has the right to choose its king from among them. As a result the people quarreled among themselves as to which particular son should be placed upon the throne, and very often neighboring kingdoms were asked to take a hand in the struggle.

The new king and queen own what are probably the simplest symbols of monarchy belonging to any civilized kingdom, for the queen's crown is a plain little circlet of gold, while the king's is of iron, having been made by order of the late king from part of the metal of a Turkish gun taken at Plevna. To be a popular king in a country like Roumania one must first of all be democratic.

The present queen is a British princess. Her father, the late Duke of Edinburgh (afterward Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha), was the second son of Queen Victoria, and Princess Marie, as she then was, was only seventeen when Prince Ferdinand came a-wooing.

A good many English folk disapproved strongly of the idea of such a "mere child" being allowed to wed. Even Queen Victoria, it is said, protested, but the duke answered all protests by saying, "She will marry the man I choose now; later on she might expect to choose for herself."

High up in the Carpathian mountains Queen Marie has a beautiful highland home at Sinaia, and she is never so happy as when entertaining her friends there. All sorts of outdoor sports are the order of the day, and in the house the queen nearly always appears dressed in the quaint national costume that so well becomes her. This has naturally caused a great revival in peasant industries through the country.

The national dress is probably more worn in Roumania than in any other country in the world. Even many of the quite poor peasants possess most beautifully embroidered hand worked robes, which have been handed down as heirlooms and are worn on special occasions.

Every one, from the highest to the lowest, seems to have a good word to say for Queen Marie. She certainly works hard for the people whose country she has adopted and does much for the peasants, whom she is always trying to help in some way or another.

On her marriage she was presented with a large sum of money by the women of Roumania. The money was to be used to buy herself a wedding gift. But in acknowledging it she said that, with the permission of the donors, she would put it aside and, when she had discovered the needs of her adopted country, use it for the good of the Roumanian women.

The money was duly invested and ten years later was found to found a school of household economy, which has ever since been doing most excellent work.

At this school girls learn to house-keep, to wait at table, do cookery and accounts. Marketing, laundry work, the making and mending of linen and the making of their own clothes are also taught, and they are turned out really capable women.

The king and queen have six children. The eldest son, Prince Carol, is now twenty-one. Next comes Princess Elizabeth, who is said to be the prettiest princess in Europe, and two other girls and two more boys complete the family. WALTON WILLIAMS.

EXTENSION OF EDUCATION

The principle of the educational extension policy proposed by Governor Walsh, to make the higher education of all who aspire to it possible, has already commended itself to thousands of Massachusetts citizens and as it takes concrete shape it is attracting the favorable attention of most of the leading educators in the state. Last Saturday 25 representative educators, representing the best known colleges and universities of the state, had a conference with Governor Walsh which resulted in their espousal of the movement in the heartiest spirit. The large committee of educators said that they would gladly help the governor by every possible means in getting his ideas before the public and incorporating them into law. Thus the movement becomes practically as well as theoretically advisable.

The university extension plan which Governor Walsh wishes wisely to put in the hands of the state board of education aims at providing educational opportunities for those who are now obliged to leave school for industrial tasks at an early age and also for adults who, at any age, may wish to take up advanced academic or technical branches. However it may work out in practice—and it promises to work out well—its possibilities can be realized readily. As Governor Walsh expressed it to the educators at the recent conference, referring specifically to the correspondence school phase of the question: "The correspondence work should not be merely of university grade; men and boys who have no more than a common school education should be provided with the information and means to rise to higher positions in the shops in which they are employed as mechanics. And these courses should be of such wide range that the office boy, as well as the bank official, would have free instruction."

The advantages of correspondence schools are already apparent in the results accomplished in all parts of the country by privately-owned and controlled institutions, founded for selfish, if worthy, ends. These may be situated in the west or some other remote section but they find little difficulty in enrolling thousands of students in all parts of New England, and at a figure that is by no means slight. This of itself would prove that there is a wide field for wise state activity in educational fields, for it is a worthy object to facilitate the spread of higher education among those who aspire to it but who may be barred by poverty or the tasks of a disheartening routine existence.

A college or university extension plan in this state could do far more to raise the general educational standard than any number of privately managed correspondence schools or kindred institutions. First of all, there would be an incentive to thousands to take advantage of the state offer, and again, the education could be provided free or the cost might be made so slight as to prove no bar to the aspiring. Lecturers could be provided systematically and the correspondence school idea could be availed of to the full. Then free scholarships could be established for worthy pupils of more than ordinary ability or ambition who might not be able to secure advanced education without state aid. The state has every right to aid the worthy and the return to the community would be a hundredfold, in higher standards and in the increased loyalty of its citizens.

Now that the suggestion of Governor Walsh has progressed beyond the theoretical state and has received the unqualified approval of leading educators and the state board of education, it is desirable that it should crystallize in wise and prudent legislation. The governor has selected five of the large committee to aid him in drafting the terms of the bill and he can depend on the earnest support and cooperation of practically all the college heads in the commonwealth. The result should be such that the legislature will place no bars in the way but will open the doors of educational opportunity to all our people, and gladden the hearts of thousands of ambitious boys and girls who would see in the new laws the opportunity to achieve their laudable ambitions and the key that would open the door to future happiness and prosperity.

SHORTAGE OF SHIPS

Assuming that both sides at Washington are acting in good faith in their respective support of and opposition to the shipping bill of the administration, why cannot they agree on some constructive policy that would relieve the situation? Acting in good faith this ought not to be very difficult. That it is proving difficult is an arraignment of the motives of some side, and this side is the side opposed to the president. Meantime, while they argue and make partisan plays before a manacled country, business finds itself confronted with a situation for which as yet there is no promise of relief.

The lack of shipping has been advanced many times recently as the real reason for the partial stagnation of industry and the depression of business generally and it is now held responsible for some of the high prices. Undoubtedly the abnormal freight and ocean transportation rates have caused a general rise in food commodities that are exported and the scarcity of imported products has a like effect. Sugar is going up, with a likelihood of still higher prices and the explanation given is that it is almost impossible to get ships to bring sugar to this country, owing to the tying up of ships in all parts of the world.

The vice-president of the American sugar refining company is reported to have said a few days ago in a representative of a Boston paper: "It is difficult to say just when this shortage situation will improve, but just as soon as enough ships can be obtained we will get normal shipments and the price will naturally go down again." Though this referred only to one commodity, it holds true of the whole situation. With sufficient ships we could send out our manufactured goods and natural products to all the ports of the world and bring in return all the foreign commodities we need. Yet the government seems powerless to relieve the situation, opposed as it is by selfish interests, mistaken patriots and powerful private interests which have good reason to fear the shipping bill of the administration.

THE FLAG INCIDENT

Though it is not as yet certain that the British admiralty ordered the flying of the American flag by the Lusitania as a means of protection against possible German attacks, there is a disposition among those who speak of the matter in England to assert England's right to fly the flag of any neutral power, according to international usage. That this view is upheld by be injured by a policy that has many undesirable phases.

PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITY

From week to week the number of juvenile criminals in this and neighboring cities who are brought before the courts seems to be increasing, and undoubtedly but a fraction of the entire number of offenders gets into the tolls of the law. Many suggestions have been made to remedy the situation which as yet remains unchanged. The Lynn News, referring to a bill which has been introduced in the legislature by Senator Bates which will make parents responsible for the acts of wayward and delinquent minors, says:

"The present method of handling juvenile delinquents is not producing the results hoped for, notwithstanding the optimistic opinions of some estimable gentlemen as to its workings. Parental responsibility has been lost, and the moral effect of the police force, which used to be efficient in cases of this sort, has been entirely wiped out, but through no fault of the police itself, for it finds itself deluged from handling cases of this sort with anything like even mild admonition. If delinquent parents in the event of their children turning petty thieves and malicious mischief makers will bring home to them some sense of responsibility for their actions, by springing, then the new law is to be welcomed."

This might eventually be found desirable, but it should be resorted to only when other remedies have failed. A more direct reform would be to do away with the technicalities which now surround the child with an undesirable protection and to let the police department deal with the offender not as a delinquent who must be coddled to and given a mild reproof but as a young criminal who must be punished for his offense in proportion to its gravity. Yet, where property has been stolen, destroyed or injured by juveniles, it does not seem proper that the owner should have no redress. If the parents are in a position to make reparation.

AMERICA FIRST

The idea seems to be growing that the federal government should speedily take a hand in the wheat situation to prevent selfish manipulators from inflicting needless suffering on the American public by an embargo on exports or a prohibitive tax. It is undoubtedly the laudable intention of these foreign governments, belligerent and neutral, who can obtain cargoes of wheat, to pile it up against possible future emergencies, but that is no reason why the American public should suffer. Last year saw this country blessed with the greatest crops known in our history, and our government did everything possible to help the agricultural interests dispose of their abundant products. Now that heartless speculators seem to have cornered the supply and sent the price soaring, the situation has reached a point where it may bring hunger and suffering to great numbers of our own people. Whether the manipulations of the wheat jugglers be within the law or against the law, there is no good reason why the price of wheat and consequently of flour should go up in this country.

A dispatch yesterday told that the British losses in the west have been over 100,000. When the French, Belgian and German losses are considered, the result is appalling. During the time of this slaughter most of the reports from the front told that nothing of any consequence had occurred. The gaining of a trench is a wonderful thing just now, but the killing of a few paltry thousands—pshaw—what does that amount to?

Uncle Sam is confronted with a most peculiar situation. England intimates that he has no right to purchase German ships in order to send his merchandise all over the world and Germany hints that he is taking chances in sending his goods to England. Seems as though he ought to put a little gun cotton in his ears, look over his law books carefully and then attend to his own business in the way that seems best to himself.

Four masked men boarded a train in Florida recently and robbed male passengers only. In olden days this would be called chivalry, but now it is called discrimination. A protest may be expected from some leading suffrage association. The practice of giving up a seat to a lady in a street car has already come under the ban.

Why is it, pray, that England may fly the Stars and Stripes on an English vessel while America may not fly the Stars and Stripes on a German vessel that she has bought and paid for? It is time there was a proper and definite understanding as to the use of neutral flags in war and, especially the American flag.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! See if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of his little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "Fruit Laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 26-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Young men give me the definition of "occupation?"

Bold John raised his hand. "Well, John, you may give it." "Highly delighted at the privilege, John arose, walked over to the teacher, and before she realized it, planted a kiss on her lips.

"What do you mean by doing that?" she demanded indignantly. "Give you what you asked for, didn't I," responded John triumphantly. "You said you wanted a definition of occupation, and that is a kiss."

A LITTLE MOONSHINE

February has no full moon and March will have two full moons. January, too, had two full moons. Also there is the interesting fact that the first quarter of the year contains four full moons, these appearing in two of the months. If the plan of figuring works out, by according to mathematics, if two months contain four full moons, and there are twelve months in the year, then there must be twenty-four full moons this year. Or if we take it another way, there are four full moons for one quarter of the year, so there must be sixteen for the whole year. But neither of these plans of figuring work out, for according to the almanac, which ought to know, there are but 13 full moons this year, one more than the usual number, of course, and then not as many as one would expect to find from the first figures.

THE SNOW STORMS

A heavy snow storm like the one that we had early in the week must take considerable out of the profits of the local street railway companies. What with the extra men that must be employed, the extra power used, and other incidents, there must be a big hole made in the receipts of the day, even if the receipts do happen to be a little larger than on fair days— which they may not be. It also makes a big hole in the town and city appropriations for street departments, and highway surveys and the superintendents of streets who want to keep their expenditures down to the lowest possible figure do not like to see these extra charges. However, those who have looked at it in another way and seen in the storm a chance to give some of the unemployed an opportunity to earn something, do not consider it an unmitigated evil.

A FAIR PROPOSITION

According to the story they are telling in New York, the German Kaiser was complimenting a soldier named Elstner, who had distinguished himself on the field of battle. "I am told," so the Kaiser is quoted as saying, "that you are a very poor man and the only support of your aged parents. Because of your poverty you shall have your choice between taking the Iron Cross or 100 marks."

"Your Majesty," inquired the canny hero, "what is the cross worth in money?"

"Not much," said the emperor. "It is the honor that makes it valuable. It is the badge of a hero."

"Very well, then," said Elstner, drawing himself up to full height and saluting. "I will take the Iron Cross and 50 marks in cash!"—Saturday Evening Post.

THE SUFFERERS

Out of the smoke of the cannon that rages, out of the hail of the bullets that fly, out of the ashes and dust of the ages, rises the sound of the harsh battle-cry.

Out of the fields with their harvest of grain, out of the forests made gloomy with fear, rises the wail of the widow and orphan.

Asking aid for the home made so dear, High on a throne they have placed Death, the Reaper. In his mailed hand is the sword, dripping red:

"I am my brother's protector and I will defend him with my sword."

Where is the comfort that comes from the knowledge That a whole nation will help the dead? When women's faces are stricken and tear-stained, And baby voices are shrieking for bread?

—Margaret E. Sangster.

REVENUE FROM DIVORCE

Nevada is a state without much pride, we fear, for the statute corner that the legislature is favorable to the six months' residence requirement for divorce action. Many marry, easy money, that is Nevada's motto. Most states are not anxious for divorce business, and this fact is Nevada's opportunity. The demand for her services extends to every direction and she has only to open her doors to let in a rush of trade that will fill her coffers.—Woonsocket Call.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

Saturday's conference of the governor with representatives of our leading educational institutions of Massachusetts, and with the state board of education, shows that the college presidents of Massachusetts are every whit as enthusiastic over the idea of university extension, as the governor himself is. The plans are to have the hearty support of our colleges, and that means that they are certain to be successful. If the legislature will do its part, in furnishing the comparatively small amount of money that will be needed for the purpose.—Boston Advertiser.

THE LUSITANIA CASE

The British admiralty, in a statement which we print conspicuously this morning, defends the captain of the Lusitania in sailing under false colors. But how he hoped to deceive anybody by doing so is not clear. His ship is the well-known war steamer, a piece of ocean craft to be easily mistaken at this time. Especially in the ordinary way of sailing, the American flag on such a craft in the trans-Atlantic commerce of the world.—Boston Herald.

POLES SUFFER

Poland is suffering quite as severely from the war as Belgium and the Poles are as much in need of assistance as the Belgians. The people of Springfield and surrounding cities and towns should respond generously to the appeal that is being made today in behalf of the Polish war sufferers. Prominent Springfield men and women have interested themselves in the Polish tag day arrangements and there is ample assurance that all the money contributed will be used to good purpose.—Springfield Union.

INCOME TAX

March 1 is just three weeks ahead. Income tax payers will please take note, since March 1 is the last day for filing income tax returns for the year ending December 31, 1914. The wise man will prepare his schedule early, file it as soon as possible, and so avoid the inevitable last-day rush. A number of treasury decisions have been made, covering various details of the income tax. Better get acquainted with these before you prepare your statement. The information is obtainable at the office of the collector of internal revenue, where returns must be filed.—Current Affairs.

THE SICKABED LADY

The cause of a fainting fit, says Nurse, may be fright, shock (even of pleasure), pain, or anything else, but the result is interference with the circulation. The blood leaves the brain, and unconsciousness immediately follows.

Obviously the right course is to get the blood back to the brain. The patient should be laid flat, without even a pillow under the head. All clothing should be loosened, especially about the neck and waist.

If the unconsciousness persists for more than a few minutes, heat should be applied to the feet, but care must be taken that the hot water bottle is not against the bare flesh, nor hot enough to cause a burn.

Something the invalid will appreciate is a little like to carry a little gift with you when you take a visit to the sick room—is a bouillon set for the tempting service of broth and beef-tea.

The set includes a low bowl of decorated china thick enough to protect the heat of the broth on the journey upstairs from the kitchen, and salt and pepper receptacles to match. The bowl is also provided with a cover which also helps to keep the contents piping hot, and the attractive bouillon set fits on a small tray with a wooden rim enclosing a decorated china bottom, suggests Nurse.

The Nurse prescribes the consumption of such much better, and more easily swallowed, a piece of glass. The bread forms a jelly-like shell around the fragment and often allows it to pass harmlessly through the digestive tract; whereas an emetic is generally useless and apt to cause cuts.

If the glass fragment is large, she says, send for the nearest doctor and continue the bread-eating until his arrival.

In case of a severe burn, she directs to exclude the air from the burned part with a thin paste made with water and cooking soda, starch, or flour. Smear on a cloth and cover the injured surface. If these are not at hand, use vasoline, lard, cream, or any clean grease, or olive oil. Do not use old grease or dirty grease.

Nurse has noticed that many persons find that some light fruit taken directly before going to bed induces comfortable and sound sleep. Apples either baked or uncooked are good to promote sleep. A hot bath is good. In extreme cases a rubber ice-bag filled with broken ice placed at the back of the neck and a hot-water bag at the feet, to equalize the circulation will have almost immediate effect.

Gentle exercise just before going to bed, she says, will often have the desired effect. Bend the head slowly forward as far as possible, then as far back as possible. Count twenty with eyes on the wall. Repeat ten times.

Another exercise is to stand erect and raise slowly from the heels. Do second slowly. Do this forty or fifty times until you feel the congestion of the muscles of the legs. Sleep will soon come after this.

Sulphur has long been a favorite remedy of Nurse's for skin eruptions, because such eruptions were supposed to be the effect of impure blood and

SEEN AND HEARD

We never value advice unless we have to pay for it.

Economy is a virtue that most people practice only because they have to.

Are all the people who live at Bad Axe, Michigan, entirely satisfied with the town's name?

You cannot judge a man by his clothes. It may be that his tailor owns them.

The man who is running an automobile naturally thinks that pedestrians ought to keep out of the way, because the pedestrian has nothing else to think of.

"Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today." is a good general advice, but put off putting off your winter flannels until settled warm weather comes.

RUB RHEUMATISM PAIN FROM SORE, ACHING JOINTS

Rub Pain Away With a Small Trial Bottle of Old "St. Jacob's Oil."

What's Rheumatism? Pain only. Stop grumping! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica liniment, which never disappears and can not burn the skin.

Remember! "St. Jacob's Oil" is a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatism and sciatic pain, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburg Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve, and drink it four times a day. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure a grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

A "FAT OLD SLOB" FIRE IN SALEM

Miss Ryan so Termed Henry Mansfield, Say Witnesses

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—When some one inquired if Miss Ryan was there, Mansfield, who was at the desk, said, "Yes, and she's going to be here all day."

This was the testimony of Edward G. Scammon, the last witness yesterday in the Ryan-Mansfield breach of promise case in the superior court.

He had testified that he had been employed as a chauffeur for Mansfield in 1914—from May 1914 to August 23. This was at Ferncroft.

At the morning session several employees at Ferncroft testified that they had seen Miss Ryan on occasions drinking wine and had also seen her talking with Guy Morris.

It was also testified by two witnesses that Miss Ryan had called Mansfield a "fat old slob"—and had said she wouldn't marry him anyway.

Conflagration is Barely Averted in Congested District

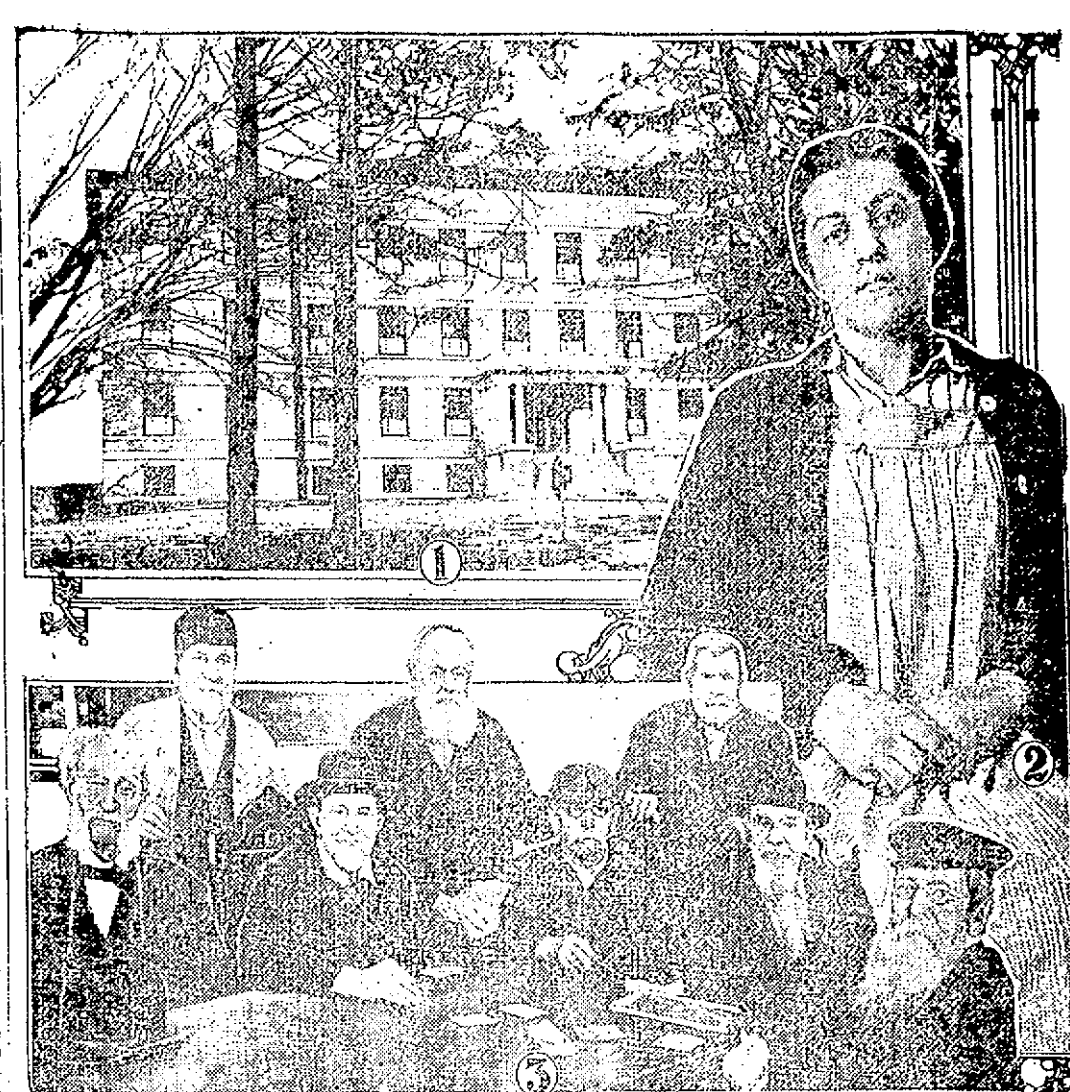

SALEM, Feb. 9.—Fire in the three-story Locke factory on Franklin street last evening caused a loss on structure and contents estimated at $55,000. The fire appears to have originated on the third floor, occupied by the Naumkeag Shoe Stock company, and worked downward. When discovered it was spreading in the stairway on the east side of the building.

A general alarm from box 62 called the entire department to the scene. The factory is in a very congested district, composed entirely of wooden buildings. Only quick work by the firemen averted what threatened to be a conflagration. In a short time the factory was flooded.

The first floor and a large section of the second floor were occupied by the Locke Regulator company. The plant was equipped with expensive machinery, which is said to be damaged at least $6000. A small section of the second story was rented by John T. Swensen, dealer in leather remnants. His loss is estimated at $1500. The entire third floor was occupied by the Naumkeag Shoe Stock company, which employed 60 hands. The firm had 30,000 pairs of footwear, principally boys' shoes, in various stages of manufacture. The loss by fire and water to the firm is estimated at $40,000.

The Locke building, valued at $15,000, is damaged fully $6000. The large body of water that flooded all the floors caused the beams to sag.

NEW STARTLING REVELATIONS PROMISED IN CASE OF MURDERS AT HOME FOR AGED

1-GERMAN I.O.O.F. HOME, YONKERS, N.Y. 2-GIRL IN CHARGE OF HOME'S DRUG STORE, WHERE POISON WAS OBTAINED 3-OLD INMATES

YONKERS, Feb. 9.—The investigation into the confession of Frederick Mors that he killed eight inmates of the German Odd Fellows' home, where he was employed as nurse, centered today in efforts of the authorities to obtain sufficient corroboration to justify exhumation of the bodies of three of the victims. These died from poison before the institution moved here from Utica, according to Mors but the authorities said today they would not act upon this statement until it was supported by other evidence. If this is forthcoming, the bodies will be examined for traces of the poison. The other five alleged victims were put to death with an anesthetic, Mors says, and exhumation of their bodies would be of no value. Light on the question as to whether Mors is mentally unbalanced was expected today from Dr. Gregory, who has had the nurse under observation at Bellevue hospital, New York. Dr. Gregory was looked for here today to make a report to Coroner Dunn as to whether he believed Mors' story was credible.

Help the Stomach Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 432 Washington St., Monticello, N.Y.

SOUTH END MINSTRELS

WILL PRESENT THEIR SHOW FOR BENEFIT OF INMATES OF CHELMSFORD ST. HOSPITAL

The 500 or more inmates of the Chelmsford St. hospital will be treated to a minstrel show Wednesday night when the members of the South End club will assemble at the hospital and present their show which made such a hit at Associate hall a short time ago. The inmates are looking forward to this evening with pleasurable anticipation.

WITH THE FRENCH WOUNDED

The Woman's Sacrifice.

Paris, Feb. 9th, 3:30 p.m. Away from the battlefield one sees war stripped of its glamour. We see the heroic work of nurses who are on duty day and night. There is devotion, self-sacrifice, suffering, patriotism—qualities which only a great war and its terrible consequences can inspire to the highest development. The women everywhere are helping and everywhere one sees self-sacrifice and devotion to duty.

The women of the United States do not know how fortunate they are. Here there are plenty of women who suffer in silence, whose strength is out of proportion to their ambition. Their hands are tied by some chronic disease common to womanhood; that weak back, accompanied by pain here or there, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, maybe fainting spells or spasms are all signs of distress for women. She may be growing from girlhood into womanhood, passing from womanhood to motherhood, and later suffering from that change which leaves so many wrecks of women. At any or all of these periods of a woman's life she should take a tonic and nerve prescriber for just such cases by a physician of vast experience in the diseases of women. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has successfully treated more cases than fifty years than any other known remedy. When you feel dull, headachy, backache, dizzy, or perhaps hot flashes, there is nothing you can accomplish, nothing you can enjoy. You can find permanent relief in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is sold by medicine dealers, or trial box by mail from Dr. Pierce, invalid hospital, Buffalo, N. Y., on receipt of 50 cents, or one dollar for large box. Adv.

MATRIMONIAL

Louise Coriveau and Miss Marie Bevilacqua were married yesterday morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock at St. Joseph's church by Rev. C. A. Paquette O. M. I. The witnesses were Nazario Coriveau and Amadeo Bevilacqua. At the close of the ceremony the couple left on a wedding tour to Milton, N. H. They will reside in this city.

LEQUIN-LAVALLÉE

Achille Lequin and Miss Helene Lavallee were married yesterday at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Louis church at 7 o'clock by Rev. C. A. Paquette O. M. I. The couple were attended by their respective fathers, Caliste Lequin and Ferdinand Lavallee. At the close of the ceremony the bride and groom were escorted to the home of the bridegroom, 124 Dalton street, where a wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Lequin, who were the residents of Milton, Mass., arrived at noon for Holyoke, Worcester, and Southbridge, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will return in two weeks and will make their home at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Fairland road. Present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lequin of Marlboro.

ROANE-MCCARTON

With the celebration of a nuptial mass Mr. Frank Roane and Miss Anna McCarton were united in the bonds of wedlock at the immaculate Conception church at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

The popularity of the young couple made the event one of unusual interest. Mr. Roane is the son of Mr. John E. Roane of Chapel street, the prominent letter carrier, while the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony McCarton of Concord street, Belvidere, and for the last two years a teacher in the Coburn evening school. The nuptial mass was celebrated at 3 o'clock by Rev. James P. McCartin, O. M. I.

The happy couple were attended by Mr. John E. Roane, Jr., a brother of the groom and Miss Catherine McCartin, a close friend of the bride.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white princess satin with train with duchess lace and wore a white picture hat. She carried a large bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom wore a gown of blue tulle with lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of lily-of-the-valley roses. She also wore a picture hat.

Following the ceremony Mr. Roane and his wife left on an extended wedding trip to Boston, New York and Providence, and upon their return in two weeks' time, they will take up their residence in Boston where the groom has accepted a position. The couple received many beautiful gifts.

LADY LOOKABOUT

In November of this year the question of equal suffrage will be placed before the voters for the first time in the history of the state. The electorate of Massachusetts, made up in part of native born citizens and in part of foreign born men who have been naturalized shall decide the question. A large proportion of the voters I fear are not prepared to act intelligently on this question and it may require a long time to educate them. Still the cause is making progress and will continue until success is attained. I am afraid for the suffragists in Massachusetts next fall. The women of Massachusetts have a well-justified hope that before they can vote they will be able to elect a woman to the legislature. I still believe that our only hope is through constitutional amendment. Suffrage is not a local issue. Suffrage was granted to the negro by constitutional amendment. Why not to women by the same means?

Feeding the Birds

In some cities, since the ground has been covered with snow, the municipal governments, through their park departments, have been feeding the wild birds. It is an act of kindness to do this, as their food supply is cut off by the snow and unless something is done for them they will perish. Mr. Keran, superintendent of parks, always quick to think of little acts of kindness, may already have taken steps to relieve the distress among the birds. Parents and teachers should encourage children to place food where the birds can find it.

Snowballing Abuses

In a nearby city, snowballing by boys has become such a nuisance that the police have been given strict orders to apprehend any one caught in the act. A few days ago, the members of the city government were assaulted as they passed along the streets of that city. The boys of Lowell are not among the absent when it comes to throwing snowballs, and they seem to take peculiar delight in choosing for their victims the old and feeble. Horses also are a favorite target with them, and often, not snowballs alone, but pieces of ice are hurled at them. It is a wonder that so many can indulge in this cruel pastime and escape arrest. I am afraid a day of reckoning is in store for many of them.

Beef Exposed to Dust

It was a windy day just before the snow storm of the past week. I walked along one of our main thoroughfares, looking at the clouds of dust that rose from the dry street. I passed a market outside which lay some dressed beef. One had a sign on it which read, "Beef, 10¢ a pound." All were covered with thick dust. Some of the carcasses also were dusty. They, too, were thickly coated with dust. It seems to me that it is not so very long ago since there was passed a law which compels wholesale meat dealers to cover with canvas the carcasses they carry through the city. It would seem that the purpose of the law is needed if markets can expose these carcasses outside their doors without covering of any kind. It surely is not carrying out the spirit of the law.

The Anti-Suffragist

Arrests of suffragists, here in one from Fitch that is far too good to lose from a woman's circulation. An anti-suffragist is a woman who does not wish to be able to elect for herself a woman to the legislature. A few men like that would help the cause. They should talk more.

Nine-tenths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure

A famous physician whose successful researches into the cause and cure of stomach and intestinal diseases have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the stomach, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach which in turn was due nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the delicate lining of the stomach, but also set up gastritis and indigestion. It is interesting to note that the scientific use of potent medicines as well as of medical treatment for the stomach, stating that he and his colleagues have secured remarkable results by the use of a deranged condition of the stomach, which in turn was due nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the delicate lining of the stomach, but also set up gastritis and indigestion. ANOTHER ALL NIGHT SESSION ON SHIP BILL

Sen. Reed Proposes Arrest of All Absentees—First Time in Years That All Seats Had Been Filled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Another all night session of the senate left President Wilson's ship bill being tossed about in a sea of debate with the republican filibuster again in full blast. The president at a White House conference today said he had no intention of dropping the bill and intimated that he would call a special session if it were filibustered to death at the present one. The senate republicans declared again they were prepared to talk indefinitely until March 4. Some indications of the wearing effects of the long, hard fight were coming out in the senate, however, and Senator Reed, one of the administration democrats proposed an order for the arrest of all the absentees in short he proposed to bring every one of the 95 senators into the chamber and keep them there until the bill is disposed of. His proposal drew a roaring attack and gave prospect of furnishing material for an all day's debate. Meanwhile the ship bill itself was waiting, virtually where it has been for the last two weeks.

At noon the senate had been in session 24 hours and Senator Kern, the democratic leader, was declaring any motion to adjourn or recess would be defeated. Both sides were stout in their declarations that there would be no more breathing spells and no let-up until the deadlock was broken.

At that hour every member of the body was on the floor. It was the first time in years that all the seats had been filled. Debate on Senator Reed's proposal was tinged with intimations of some sort of closure if the deadlock continued.

Made Of Wool

The fact that the electric heating pad is soft and pliable and made of wool accounts to a large extent for its popularity.

For where heat, locally applied, is desired to relieve pain, flexibility is essential.

3500 GERMAN TROOPS CAPTURED BY RUSSIANS

Turkish Invasion of Egypt Seems to Have Come to Naught—Desperate Fight in East Prussia and the Carpathians—Germans Gain in Argonne

The German army in East Prussia reinforced with troops sent to help stay the Russian advance into Germany has undertaken the offensive. The Russians also are believed to have a large army in this region, where a great battle apparently is developing. The outcome of this struggle is expected to have an important bearing upon the entire campaign in the east.

At 6 a. m. today the senate had been in session continuously for 18 hours. Republican leaders insisted they could keep up the fight until March 4, if necessary. The democrats were equally insistent that they could retain a majority within call and determined to carry the struggle to the bitter end.

Senator Jones yielded the floor at 9 a. m. to Senator Brewster, who immediately made a point of no quorum. Senator Jones had spoken 12 hours. After the quorum was obtained, Senator McCumber, another republican, began to speak.

Drastic steps were proposed by democratic senators to break down the opposition to the bill by compelling constant attendance of all the opposition. Senator Fletcher immediately after Senator McCumber began to speak got an order passed for the arrest of Senators Bankhead, Borah, Burton, Camden, Calron, Goff, Hardwick, Hitchcock, Lodge, Oliver, O'Gorman, Root, Sterling, Sutherland, Vandaman and Weeks, all absent.

Senator Reed presented an order to compel each senator to remain in the chamber until excused.

Senator Gallinger denounced the order as outrageous and a prolonged debate followed.

REV. E. J. CORNELL MADE PASTOR
Will Have Charge of St. Joseph's Church in Ottawa

Deserved Recognition of an Able and Zealous Priest

Rev. Edmund J. Cornell, O. M. I., former pastor of St. Andrew's church, North Billerica, and more recently a member of what is known as the Missionary Band of the Oblate Order, stationed at the O. M. I. novitiate in Tewksbury, has been assigned as pastor of St. Joseph's church, Ottawa, Canada, and will leave this evening for his new field of work.

Rev. Fr. Cornell, O. M. I., was pastor of St. Andrew's church in North Billerica about three years and during his stay in the parish he made a host of friends, who were grieved when he left about a year ago. The reverend gentleman before his departure was remembered by his parishioners, who presented him a purse.

Soon after leaving St. Andrew's church Fr. Cornell became a member of the Missionary Band and traveled through the states for a few months, preaching missions in Catholic centres. Some ten months ago he went to Seattle, Washington, where he remained, doing missionary work until a couple of months ago, at which time he returned to the novitiate.

Fr. Cornell, in conversation with the writer, said he is very much pleased with the appointment, for he considers Ottawa his home city, having spent several years at the Ottawa university. Fr. Cornell's many Lowell and Billerica friends will be pleased at his transfer, for his appointment as pastor of one of the largest oblate parishes in Canada is a recognition of his zeal as a priest and missionary combined with his ability as an administrator.

TWO WOMEN HELD UP

DESPERADO ATTACKED TWO WOMEN IN HIGHLANDS BUT MADE HIS ESCAPE

Two women who live in Holden street were held up by an unknown man last night shortly after eleven o'clock. One of the women was seized but the man ran off when the other woman came to her assistance. Both women were terribly frightened.

The hold-up occurred on Holden street, in the residential portion of the Highlands. The woman had just left a Westford street car. The woman who was grabbed screamed when she was seized and fell to the ground in her attempt to free herself from the clutch of the desperado, who then made his escape. Residents of this vicinity are thoroughly alarmed at present owing to a recent occurrence of a similar sort when a school girl was chased through Sanders avenue by an unknown man.

CALLS RAIDERS PIRATES

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Lord Charles Beresford will put a question to Premier Asquith in the common tomorrow in which he will demand that Great Britain treat German raiders on undefended places as pirates and after a trial by court martial hang them in public for the murder of women and children.

This applies to raids from the air as well as by the sea.

Lord Charles declares the government should adopt this plan in the future and no longer treat such raiders as honorable foes.

CONSTABLE NOT CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES

Constable Nocas Summoned Before Municipal Council Because He is Not a Citizen

The question of the right of one not an American citizen to act in the capacity of constable was brought up at the regular meeting of the municipal council this forenoon. It was brought to light in the case of Thomas Nocas who was called before the council to show reason why his license as constable should not be revoked. The council had already granted Mr. Nocas a license and had accepted his bond. There was no other charge against him except that of being a non-citizen.

H. V. Charbonneau appeared as counsel for Nocas.

High Officials Discuss Lusitania Incident and the German War Zone Situation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Regarding the establishment of a war zone by Germany around the British Isles, President Wilson said today he was awaiting the German government's memorandum being forwarded by Ambassador Gerard before reaching a decision on what attitude to take. He said Germany's first proclamation on the subject contained many questions on which the United States would like further explanation.

The president takes the view that the war zone proclaimed by Germany does not constitute a blockade or even a paper blockade but that it was simply a warning.

The president himself said that action by congress could not control the use of the American flag by foreign ships and that restrictions on such practices would have to come through international agreement.

High officials apparently attached much significance to both the Lusitania and the war zone situation and it was made apparent that every effort would be made to protect American rights.

Discussing the general international situation, President Wilson said today that he was not surprised at the length of time taken by Great Britain in forwarding its final reply to the American note on the interference to American shipping.

GIRL KIDNAPPED

15 Year Old Girl Abducted by Four Men and a Woman

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Josie Rizzoli, 15 years old, was kidnapped today by four men and a woman while on her way to an East Side public school. The girl, accompanied by a schoolmate, was walking through a thickly populated district when the occupants of a closed automobile which drew up to the curb jumped out. One of the men tied a handkerchief about Josie's eyes while another picked her up and threw her into the machine which then whirled away.

PACKING FIRMS GUILTY

Four Companies Fined $25,000
Each for Violating State Anti-Trust Law in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 8.—The packing firms of Armour & Co., Swift & Co., St. Louis Dressing & Provision Co., the Hammond Packing Co., and Morris & Co., were found guilty of violating the state anti-trust law by the Missouri supreme court today. An order of ouster was issued but the companies are allowed to remain in the state on payment of fines.

Each company was fined $25,000. To stay in the state each company must pay its fine by March 11.

The ouster suit against the so-called trust was filed by Governor Major when he was attorney general. Daniel Dillon of St. Louis was appointed commissioner to take testimony in the case and he reported to the supreme court that the companies had violated the anti-trust law. The case was argued in the supreme court more than a year ago.

The supreme court ruled that the anti-trust law was violated by the acquisition by the National Packing Co. of the Hammond Packing Co. and the St. Louis Dressing and Provision Company. The National Packing Co. was organized by the Armour, Swift and Morris companies.

The opinion says the National company became a holding company for and directed the five packing companies named thereby destroying competition and fixing the price for dressed meats.

LATE WAR NEWS

again at a standstill, according to reports received from both Berlin and Petrograd; on the other hand the Russian capital reports that on each wing of the eastern battlefield the Russian offensive has been resumed.

An official Russian communication claims progress on the Hungarian side of the western Carpathian ranges as well as success in the direction of Mezolaborcz in driving back the enemy with considerable losses in guns and prisoners. The Austro-German army is said to have met reverses on the Galician side of the Ussok and Reshid passes. Balancing these Russian successes are the Russian admission of their retreat before strong forces in Bukovina and the Austrian claims to having entered the town of Kimpolung in the crowdland.

In East Prussia, where matters have been at a standstill for some time the fighting apparently is assuming a more desperate character. This may account for the lull on the Warsaw front, as the East Prussian forces may have been reinforced by some of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's veterans.

The full text of the German blockade proclamation published in London served as a theme for much comment in which the Lusitania flag incident figures largely. Most of the British papers defend the use of the American flag in this emergency but some of them express misgivings as to the effect of this course of action.

PARIS EXPECTS WASHINGTON TO SEND PROTEST TO BERLIN

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The paragraph in the German memorandum sent to the United States government declaring Germany's naval forces have been instructed to abstain as far as possible from damaging neutral ships, the French press declares did not appear in the original text published in the Reichs Anzeiger of Berlin. It is considered by the papers here that no matter what apparent restrictions may be added to the operations of the navy the document constitutes an intolerable menace to neutrals on the part of Germany. The opinion is expressed that the Washington administration will protest to Berlin.

CONSTABLE NOT A CITIZEN

counsel for Mr. Noucas and stated that according to the statutes it was not necessary for a man to be a citizen of the United States in order to hold a constable's license. He said that the statutes provide that residents may be made to act as constables even against their will. He said that the word "resident" not "citizen" appears in the statute, having to do with Mr. Noucas' case. "All you have to say against him," said Mr. Charbonneau, "is that he is not a citizen. He has performed his duties faithfully and well and I think it would be very unfair to take away his license. He has a lot of unfinished business on hand. As a constable and an interpreter in your evening schools he has always been sound and upright in the performance of his duty, and as the law does not provide that he should be a citizen, I hope the council will allow him to go along in the performance of his duties as constable. I know that even though the statutes do not say that it is necessary for a constable to be a citizen you have the power to strip him of his authority as constable, but I feel that you will deal with this matter on broader lines."

Mayor Murphy said the council did not know at the time of the appointment that Mr. Noucas was not a citizen of the United States and he said that with the council it was a matter of policy rather than of law. There was some objection to a man not a citizen being placed in a position to arrest a man who is a citizen. In other words, said the mayor the council thinks that a man ought not to be a constable until he is a citizen.

Commissioner Charbonneau believed that the council should go slow in the matter. He recalled that the board of health had granted a man a license to build a stable and then objected to it. The matter found its way to the courts and the supreme court ruled that as much as the board had granted a license and the grantee had gone to a considerable expense in preparing the stable that the license could not be revoked unless the license had done something to warrant the revocation. The mayor allowed that the cases were dissimilar. He also allowed that the statutes do not require that a man shall be a citizen in order to be a constable or even notary public. He believed, however, that it should be the policy of the council not to grant a constable license to any but a citizen.

Mr. Charbonneau disposed of the matter, for the time being at least, by moving that the question be referred to the mayor and the city solicitor, and that hereafter none but citizens be made constables. It was so voted.

WEIGHERS OF COAL
The petitions of two applicants for appointment as weighers of coal were also held up, it being discovered by the mayor that one of the petitioners could not write, at least not sufficiently plain as to be understood with any degree of satisfaction. The mayor thought the man who weighs coal and other articles ought to be able to write with plainness.

A big raft of petitions having to do with pole locations, wire attachments, etc., were either voted or referred to the petition of the Bay State Street Railway company and the New England Telephone and Telegraph company for the joint use of 52 poles in Middlesex street. It was explained that the joint use of the poles would improve the construction and eliminate old poles. The matter was referred to Commissioners Morse and Pulkam.

Claims for personal injuries were presented by James A. Donnelly and Thomas Donohoe and were referred to the city solicitor. A garage and gasoline license was granted Stephen L. Kuchette and Grace R. Saunders was granted a garage license. The mayor asked for and was granted the authority to purchase, through the purchasing agent's office, 20 tons of English hay at an expense of about $500. The council adjourned shortly after the noon hour and at 1 o'clock went out to take a view of the firehouses for the purpose of acquainting themselves with the needs and requirements of the different houses in order that intelligent action may be taken on the fire department estimates.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work. People afflicted with bad breath and quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowels and liver complaint with attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are pure, a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, so you will know them by their olive color.

CURLING IS A SPORT THAT SCOTS PLAY WHICH HAS A LANGUAGE OF ITS OWN

CURLING, THE GREAT SCOTTISH WINTER SPORT

Wherever you find the Scot and cold weather there you find curling. Ice is essential, and the real players prefer that it be outdoors, though in most Canadian and northern American cities the big bonspiels are held in rinks. The game is a combination of quoits, shuffleboard and bowling. The stones are sent over the ice toward a goal and snow is swept in front of them to retard their progress or the ice is cleared to let them go farther. Each side takes turns, and the object is to drive an opponent's stone away from the goal and let your own take its place.

EXPOSITION A DREAM CITY COME TRUE

1.—Section of Palace of Horticulture. 2.—Court of Four Seasons. 3.—Colossal statue of Buddha shown by Japan. 4.—New York state building. 5.—Portals of Education building. 6.—Oregon state building. 7.—Section of Palace of Education. 8.—Rending the isthmus. 9.—Tower of Jewels statues.

THIS is not a story of the Panama-Pacific International exposition. It is, at best, a word picture of the setting in which the visitor to the grounds after the formal opening of the fair Feb. 20 will view the collected achievements of the nations.

Nestling against the green background of Presidio hill, with the waters of the bay as its western boundary, the pastel colored buildings lie—parapet and tower and dome, rose and cream and shadowed blue, old gold and bronzelike green, reminiscent of Spain at its most beautiful period. To this have been added the charm of Venice, the mirrored reflection in canal, lagoon and lake. Nature and the cunning of those who had the task of construction in hand have combined to cause the grounds to appear century old, with all the softened beauty of permanency and age.

One goes to the fair prepared for the usual glare of unrelieved imitation white marble—a glorified version of Coney Island—and one finds within a few blocks of the business center of San Francisco proper a city of another age in another world—a dream city come true; palaces which might have been built for the kings of Spain

In days long past, had their subjects ever attained the appreciation of the Romans for the beautiful in architecture and sought to express it in their own way.

There are hedges, real box hedges, twenty and thirty feet high and of correct proportions in depth, which by the magic of necessity and modern horticultural witchcraft spring up overnight and flourish thereafter. There are flowers and ferns and palms from every corner of the globe about and above one, exotics planted in a rich loam brought from the Sacramento valley to insure their well being. And the pillars of the palely tinted marble are mossy and soft, as are all true pillars of centuries past which touch the waters at their bases. It is as if California foresaw this fair before white men came to our continent and builded that all might be ready when the twentieth century arrived.

Nothing has been overlooked in the determination of those who are in charge to retain this impression of permanency. The Midway (for since the famous avenue of fun at Chicago all others have been called Midways by the public) is situated well on the outskirts of the grounds in order that the more brilliant lighting necessary in this vicinity may not interfere with the carefully subdued effects in the actual grounds. There is no tendency toward "cramping" the buildings; the effect and identity of each are sedulously retained by the broad avenues and courts.

Eleven Main Exhibition Palaces.

There are in all eleven main exhibition palaces grouped about the great courts. In the center lies the Court of Universe, opening to the east into the Court of Abundance and to the west into the Court of the Four Seasons. Famous artists have contributed to the effectiveness of these broad, grassy stretches by providing symbolic statues, which, mounted on the huge arches and about the fountains, make concrete the abstract ideas of the architects. The whole is a memorable achievement, and the opening of the grounds will mark the realization of California's dream, a dream of property commemorating the importance of America's gift to the world the great canal which today unites the east and the west.

A massive statue of Buddha, a hundred feet high, will stand at the entrance to "Japan Beautiful," a miniature Japan with all the beauty and characteristics of the country of the Rising Sun. It will be one of the most striking exhibits.

Most interesting of "Japan Beautiful" will be the trip to Japan. In the very body of the huge Buddha the visitors will be taken on a slight scenic trip to the orient. By newly patented electrical and mechanical devices the scenery will be reproduced in detail. As the visitors step out of an elevator on the deck of a trans-Pacific steamer. They will be taken from San Francisco harbor, passing by the exposition grounds out into the Pacific ocean. The magnificent view of the exposition from the sea is exactly reproduced. Touching at Honolulu, visitors will see the tropical life, divers and native youths riding the surf. Arriving at Yokohama a short trip to Tokyo is made. From Yokohama the ship goes to Kobe and through inland sea to Nagasaki, and thence to Shanghai and Hongkong. Splendid State Buildings.

The New York state building is a mansion. It cost $200,000. It has twelve rooms for servants, is four stories high, has twenty chambers for the state commissioners, a suit for the governor, a meeting room for the board, an oval reception room for women, a ball room, men and women's reception rooms, dining room, private dining rooms and a kitchen equipped with $3,000 worth of the latest appliances.

The Oregon building is in the style of the Parthenon, and the pillars are of Oregon giant logs. All the lumber for this building was sent from Oregon forests and was sawed and planed on the exposition grounds. The tallest flag pole in the world stands on the Oregon site as the gift of the citizens of Astoria, Ore.

All of the state buildings are splendid structures and add to the general attractiveness of the exposition.

SUNDAY LIKE RACE HORSE CHAMPING AT BIT

Photos by American Press Association.

MR. AND MRS. BILLY SUNDAY.

I HONESTLY don't know what to think of Billy Sunday. I am willing to be convinced that he is sincere in his purpose, but he impresses me with the feeling that he is more anxious to have a reputation for sending a long list of recruits to God than honestly to save one soul.

For three-quarters of an hour I sat within three feet of him and watched him closely as he greeted some 3,000 persons, and I failed to see the kindliness I expected in a man with such a great purpose, says Eva Nagel Wolf in the Philadelphia Press.

His eyes are cold and absolutely impersonal; his mouth is the only part of his face that is alive. He has a curious way of wetting his upper lip with his tongue and at the same time giving a keen, searching glance as if on the lookout for another person who needed to be convinced that his conscience was asleep.

His personality is not pleasing to me. The very fact that he is always on the alert, that his nervous energy is so much in evidence, would make him a trying person to be with any length of time. In his face one does not find the warmth of feeling that radiates from that of Mrs. Sunday, who is of the unselfish, motherly type.

Like a race horse champing at the bit, crazy to be off, is Billy Sunday waiting for the noise to die down before beginning one of his lectures. Each muscle seems to be connected with a cell of live wires.

His words are forceful, if crude, but it is his acting and eloquence that carry every word that the man has to say to each individual in the audience. I am not sure even yet that his is a dominating personality. I first think it is his eloquence, seconded by as fine acting as is seen on any stage. He races up and down the platform, and when it grows too small he capers over the reporters' desks with such force that one wonders if he will put on the shortstop in time to save the people crouching on the sawdust below.

He is like Peter Pan in one way only—he has not grown up, for he is still a boy in many respects and, like a boy, takes a deal of pride in his own achievements. After he has told a particularly funny story he awaits the applause and appreciation that he thinks are due him. He seems pleased with the very fact that he works himself into a perspiration and wipes it from his brow with the old gesture of the ball player, that all may see how hard he is working. And perspire he does! Perspiration rains off his face, drenches his handkerchief and stains his light gray suit in a huge spot between the shoulders. Oh, no, Billy Sunday does not spare himself. He is fussy about many little things—for instance, he always insists on a white reading desk, loathes being interrupted and becomes quite peevish when any one in the audience coughs.

There is no doubt that he is essentially a man's man. His greeting of men is more wholehearted, in fact, than it is with women, with whom he is a bit shy—that is, if one could ever call Billy Sunday shy. He is not a large man as size goes, but his wiry body has enough nervous energy to make up for any lack of height. This man has not the sensitiveness of the thinker; he is a doer of the sledge hammer type, as his handshake would signify.

His devotion to his wife, who watches over him like a mothering hen, is marked. He appeals to her on all occasions for advice, for she is truly his manager.

HARD TO KEEP ROUMANIA OUT OF WAR

THE new king of Roumania couldn't very well have come to the throne at a more difficult time. If Roumania contrives to keep clear of the war it will be something like a miracle as one will see by looking at the map of Europe. Roumania has as neighbors Russia on the east, Austria and Servia on the west and Bulgaria on the south, with Turkey not so far away.

Roumania is a country that always had to fight for its existence, partly because until within the last century the throne did not necessarily pass to the eldest son of a king. All sons were eligible and the country has the right to choose its king from among them. As a result the people quarreled among themselves as to which particular son should be placed upon the throne, and very often neighboring kingdoms were asked to take a hand in the struggle.

The new king and queen what are probably the simplest symbols of monarchy belonging to any civilized kingdom, for the queen's crown is a plain little circlet of gold, while the king's is of iron, having been made by order of the late king from part of the metal of a Turkish gun taken at Plevna. To be a popular king in a country like Roumania one must first of all be democratic.

The present queen is a British princess. Her father, the late Duke of Edinburgh (afterward Duke of Saxo-Coburg-Gotha), was the second son of Queen Victoria, and Princess Marie, as she then was, was only seventeen when Prince Ferdinand came a-wooing.

A good many English folk disapproved strongly of the idea of such a "mere child" being allowed to wed. Even Queen Victoria, it is said, protested, but the duke answered all protests by saying, "She will marry the man I choose now; later on she might expect to choose for herself."

High up in the Carpathian mountains Queen Marie has a beautiful highland home at Sinaia, and she is never so happy as when entertaining her friends there. All sorts of outdoor sports are the order of the day, and in the house the queen nearly always appears dressed in the quaint national costume that so well becomes her. This has naturally enough caused a great revival in peasant industries throughout the country.

The national dress is probably more worn in Roumania than in any other country in the world. Even many of the quiet poor peasants possess most beautifully embroidered hand worked robes, which have been handed down as heirlooms and are worn on special occasions.

Every one, from the highest to the lowest, seems to have a good word to say for Queen Marie, who certainly works hard for the people whose country she has adopted and does much for the peasants, whom she is always trying to help in some way or another.

On her marriage she was presented with a large sum of money by the women of Roumania. The money was to be used to buy herself a wedding gift. But in acknowledging it she said that, with the permission of the donors, she would put it aside and, when she had discovered the needs of her adopted country, use it for the good of the Roumanian women.

The money was duly invested and ten years later was used to found a school of household economy, which has ever since been doing most excellent work.

At this school girls learn to house-keep, to wait at table, do cooking and accounts. Marketing, laundry work, the making and mending of linen and the making of their own clothes are also taught, and they are turned out really capable women.

The king and queen have six children. The eldest son, Prince Carol, is now twenty-one. Next comes Princess Elizabeth, who is said to be the prettiest princess in Europe, and two other girls and two more boys complete the family.

A hustling automobile salesman has a fine chance to take over the agency of the well known car, the Paige-Detroit. This company is looking for a live representative for Lowell and vicinity and is prepared to make the right man an interesting proposition. The auto editor will assist in every way possible anyone who would like to examine into the matter.

It seems that the prices of tires are on the downward slide according to the interesting announcement made in "The Sun" a few days ago by the Fisk Rubber company. This considerable reduction in prices on both casings and tubes has been made possible by the lower cost of crude rubber, resulting from increased supplies from the Far East, assured since the raising of the embargo, and by the greatly increased Fisk production.

Mr. Beharrell, local manager of the Fisk, says: "In accordance with our protective policy, we will rebate the difference in your cost on any Fisk casings or tubes (brists) on hand purchased from us within sixty days prior to February 1st, serial number inventory to accompany claims which should be sent to our branch."

days. The inclement weather has brought his cars into great demand. Henry Pitts has had his Oakland touring car overhauled by the clerks in his employ, thus giving them practical experience of the inner working of an automobile.

Today the Donovan Harness Co. reminds the autoist that he should remember a reliable house when looking for one. This company has established more than a local name in the upholstery line.

With the coming of an early spring the local auto livery men are happy with the expectation of a big increase of business from the public who will be calling on them to furnish their cars for pleasure trips. Lowell has some very up-to-date auto liveries, each of which have a number of cars of different styles with careful drivers ever alert and prompt.

THE AMERICAN AUTO ABROAD
The remarkable increase in popularity of the medium-priced American car abroad is especially marked in localities which, until a year or two ago, had been supplied almost entirely with cars of foreign manufacture. Although the outbreak of war in Europe has brought this fact into particular prominence by developing the foreign market for America even more rapidly, the general excellence of the American car was already making itself felt long before hostilities started.

The realization of the full extent to which the English car has been ousted from South Africa had come to John Bull before this year. Since the start of war, practically all of the cars sold in South America have been of American construction. It is declared that although the closing of the English factories, brought about by the war, forced the South Africans to call on America for their cars, the same ultimate result was simply a matter of comparatively few years.

MANY PAIGE MOTOR CARS SOLD

More than a half million dollars worth of Paige motor cars were sold at the recent Chicago Automobile Show. This is not only far in excess of the record made by the Paige at the New York Show, but, Paige officials believe, it is the best record yet made by any company in bona fide sales at any motor car show.

One of the astonishing features of this significant recognition of Paige quality and value is the fact that 263 Paige cars were sold at the Chicago Show exclusively by the Bird-Sykes company, Paige distributors for Chicago, and of these 263 cars 93 were sold at retail directly from the floor. Added to the sales by the Bird-Sykes company were large orders taken in Chicago by other Paige dealers and distributors who were present and the total value of all orders was thus well over a half million dollars for the week's business.

While the new Paige "Six-16" was a hot favorite and its quality and distinction won for it wide popularity

AUTO INCREASES LAND VALUES
An angle of the automobile business which a great majority of the people of this country have failed to take into consideration is that of the increase in real estate values since the horse was relegated to the background by the motor car. There is no way of estimating this increase in dollars and cents, but it has been country-wide—from the congested city districts to the most remote farming territory.

In the cities the elimination of the horse barn has added millions of dollars to the value of downtown real estate. For years past we have seen desirable manufacturing enterprises driven away from areas where horses were housed. It has been out of the question to attempt to build residences anywhere near territories where there are a number of stables. With the substitution of the automobile garage for the horse barn, real estate values have increased by leaps and bounds, the added worth in some cases being as much as 100 per cent.

Another celebrated novel has been transferred to the screen with success. "Life's Shop Window" the great story by Victoria Cross is this latest addition to the list of films shown at the Lowell theatre today, besides the regular run of pictures.

Holmes and Claire Whitney, two of America's best known motion picture stars are seen to advantage in this production, which surpasses the average in beauty of scenery and good acting. The story is ordinary in parts, but the handling of it is what makes its appeal to the heart and mind. The characters depicted are real, folks that we see about us, with their aspirations, their faults, their villainy—and their weakness.

With such people, Victoria Cross has woven a great drama of heart-interest, one that lingers in the memory, and leaves a moral to chew over. It is truly a clever play. A great many other feature that merits all that has been said about it. Five other fine photographs, including "The Farewell Dinner," specially good two-act drama, complete the program. Coming tomorrow for two days, "The Double Trap," the film of "The Exploits of Elaine," Craig Kennedy has fallen in love—she kisses the girl, who do you think it is?

WOLF'S THEATRE
After two months of remodeling the Wolf theatre will re-open its doors Wednesday evening, Feb. 10th. The management has looked out well for the convenience of its patrons. A new heating system has been installed where comfort will be a real issue. One passing this theatre will be awed at the transformation and many pleased faces now are seen who appreciate the endeavor that have been put forth to add another desirable theatre to the city. The "Solid Name" spirit has certainly hit this spot. The progress historical piece, "Mistress Nell," Mary Pickford will be seen in the role of Nell Gwyn. This play was for a number of years a starting vehicle for the renowned Henrietta Crossman. To the ladies attending Thursday's matinee will be given a beautiful large color portrait of Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart." No one should miss these great offerings at the Academy for they present a rare opportunity to theatregoers. The theatre is now well established as a recognized high standard in the city.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"The Reformer" is the attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. It is the well known play by Ben Fegredo and is of scintillating interest. Although it has a slight objectionable, the basic principle of the drama is freedom. This of course necessitates a reformer and Tom Rawson is the dramatic personage in this role.

The complete cast of characters is as follows:
Stanhil Rawson.....Joseph Thayer
Mrs. Rawson.....Miss Sadie Gallopie
Dick.....Stewart E. Wilson
Evelyn.....Frances Shannon
Tom Rawson.....Sam A. McHarry
Dr. James Lynch.....Wm. H. Dimock
Rev. Wallace Fallon.....Thomas Carroll
Mr. Kerwin.....Frank McDonald
Edward J. Carey.....Clifford Hastings
Lord Gerald Cavendish.....Alfred Renaud
Lady Cavendish.....Marion Chester
Helen King.....Nathalie Rounds
Perkins.....Dorothy Ardle

Tom Rawson, the son of a poor man, decided to make a trip to Europe for the purpose of studying life and its aspects. When he returns he finds his father a multi-millionaire. Being imbued with positive ideas as to the unjust methods by which money is accumulated are accumulated, he questions the honesty of his father's methods. He started a reform movement which finally won over his father and other members of his family. A love affair adds interest to the plot, the characters being one of Rawson's sisters and a young man preparing for the ministry. The reformer prevents the separation of the young couple following a scandal and forces their marriage. Next comes a general clean-up of the political situation in the city and a triumph in reform.

Sam A. McHarry makes an able Tom Rawson while Miss Sadie Gallopie plays Mrs. Rawson. The role of the becoming grace and skill. Thomas Thayer gives a good impersonation of Dick Rawson. Stewart E. Wilson and Miss Frances Shannon played their respective parts in a highly acceptable manner. Miss Nathalie Rounds and Dorothy Ardle made the most of minor parts. The play will be repeated every afternoon and evening this week.

EXPORTS MADE BIG GAINS
IN CERTAIN LINES OF MANUFACTURES U. S. EXPORTS MADE PHENOMENAL GAINS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Exports of American manufactures in December last registered the level shown in the same month in 1913, a decrease of ten per cent in finished manufactures being more than offset by gains in manufactured feedstuffs.

A statement by the department of commerce today shows that in certain lines of manufactures, however, export made phenomenal gains compared with December a year ago. Among the more notable increases were:

Commercial autos from $101,000 to $3,335,000; cotton knit goods, $225,000 to over $2,000,000; woolen clothing, $151,000 to $1,337,000; other woolen goods including blankets $103,000 to $2,723,000; sole leather $268,000 to $3,600,000; upper leather $1,500,000.

An unusually large proportion of the exports are now going to Europe.

For the opening night a new special feature, "The Warning," will be given. A story surrounding a young man who has not followed the ethical code and in the end awakes to a realization. A strong play that everyone should see. Royalties will be shown and everybody enjoys these clever plays. A great many other interesting photo-plays will be seen. All the newest features that are in demand by the leading managers of the country will be shown each week.

NORTH BILLERICA
The Parent-Teachers' association will hold a meeting in the Talbot school Thursday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. It is expected that there will be a lecture on dentistry.

Lincoln's birthday will be appropriately observed by the parishioners of St. Anne's church Friday evening with a patriotic concert in the parish house. Mr. A. C. Spaulding, president of the Lowell Choral society, and Mrs. Spaulding as well as several others, will contribute. Music will be furnished by an orchestra from St. Anne's church of this city.

Plans are completed for the annual reunion to be held Thursday evening in Talbot hall by the members of St. Anne's church. A splendid program will be given and a good time is assured all who attend.

REPORTED OVERCOAT STOLEN
George A. Miletto of 20 Tyler street reported to the police yesterday that an overcoat had been stolen from his home. Last night, Inspector Walsh spotted Henry Farland of Berlin N. H., walking down Middlesex street wearing an overcoat that answered the description, given by Miletto and promptly placed him under arrest. When arrested Farland had in his possession a pair of new shoes. Farland claims that he bought both shoes and overcoat.

Attorney James M. Swift, counsel for the Bay State road, interrupted here that it could not be a great deal of strain to operate on that line except a continual fear that the car would stop to within the wire which reported the school children got in the way and the motorman have to stop their cars and ask the children to give them the right of way.

"DEEP SEA GOING" CARS
MOTORMAN TELLS OF SEA TRIP TO TROLLEY "ON THE OLD BILLERICA LINE"

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—"Deep sea going" cars that rock and pitch like a vessel in a storm were described to the Bay State railway arbitration board yesterday by Motorman Morris Power of Woburn. He told of his daily "voyage" over the Billerica line, and said that he was pretty well shaken, but never seasick. He is an ex-sailor and believes that his sea legs are still standing by him when it comes to operating a single track deep sea going car from Woburn to Billerica.

He told of many experiences on the old Billerica line, which proved highly amusing even to the officials of the road. During a snow storm a snow plow was sent out to bring a car back to the barn. After several hours it was necessary to send a wrecker out to bring the plow back and before the day was over a water car was hustled out to rescue the wrecker, plow and all in the meantime 12 men shoveled snow in front of the whole outfit.

On one stretch, the witness testified, the cars go so slow that it is possible for passengers to get out, stretch their legs and then catch up with the car by a brisk walk.

Attorney James M. Swift, counsel for the Bay State road, interrupted here that it could not be a great deal of strain to operate on that line except a continual fear that the car would stop to within the wire which reported the school children got in the way and the motorman have to stop their cars and ask the children to give them the right of way.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

KEITH'S THEATRE
Ed. Morton, a former Philadelphia policeman, heads an excellent bill at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, and though he appeared in this city last year his songs are all new and catchy and he was forced to respond to several encores at last evening's performance. Morton's songs are all original and different from any that have been heard at Keith's this year. The excelsior was obliged to appear on the stage last evening in his street clothes but he provided the entertainment and his act made a great impression on the audience. Morton is tall, broad shouldered and straight and his alertness on the stage increases the success of his act.

The first class variety, Hattie and Harriet Rempel and company in "A Playlet of Youth" in two scenes present a delightful little melodrama that is different from anything seen here this year. The Rempel sisters are ably assisted in the presentation by Aubrey Elton Raymond, who supplies plenty of comedy.

Love, romance, disappointment and final triumph of love are combined in the lot to round out a really enjoyable presentation.

The melodrama is very well presented. Miss Harriet Rempel, as well as her sister, Hattie, handling their part in a pleasing manner. Mr. Raymond also did excellent.

The Six Military Dancers, three boys and three girls, are an act that is sure to please. All are very good dancers while a military aspect is brought into action. The first scene is at a station at West Point and the

FIRE ON GARNET STREET

BOY SET FIRE TO CLOTHING IN BATHROOM AND HAD NARROW ESCAPE

A small boy playing with matches on the second floor of a three tenement house at 12 Garnet street started a fire about 10:45 o'clock this forenoon which gutted the bathroom and damaged considerable clothing that was hanging on the walls and packed in a trunk. The building is owned by Albert Hannel, Esq., and the tenement occupied by the family of Marie Marcel.

The boy, who is about four years old, had a narrow escape from being suffocated or burned to death. While his mother was busy engaged in the kitchen he went into the bathroom to play and locked the door. It is believed that he secured matches from a shelf and lighted the clothing. The smoke pouring through the cracks of the door attracted the attention of Mrs. Marcel and she ordered the boy to come out. The room was then filled with thick smoke and the walls and floor of the bath room were ablaze. An alarm from box 24 was sounded and the prompt response of the fire apparatus prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining rooms. The contents of the tenement were not insured.

TRAINS IN COLLISION

PASSENGER TRAIN IN HEAD-ON COLLISION WITH FREIGHT AT CAYUGA, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 9.—An accommodation passenger train on the New York Central railroad early today was in a head-on collision with a freight train at Cayuga. The freight was standing on a siding and the accommodation running slow jumped the rails, coming in contact with the other. Several passengers suffered slight injuries and the engine of the accommodation train was bruised about the head and had an arm broken, according to a statement given out by railroad officials here.

MINISTERS ASSOCIATION

The North Middlesex Ministers association held its mid-winter meeting yesterday afternoon in the Unitarian vestry. Rev. Oliver J. Fairfield of Littleton preached the sermon, his subject being "German Ideals." A paper on the topic "After the War," written by Dr. Dole of Jamaica Plain, was read by Rev. E. P. Daniels of Wilton, N. H., and Rev. J. R. Pennington of Westford read his paper on a similar topic, treating the subject of settlement between the nations from the humanitarian viewpoint. The general discussion was of the ultimate settlement of war difficulties.

One of the members of the association present, Rev. Richmond Fisk, D. D., of Ayer, will be 80 years of age next May.

The North Middlesex Ministers association was founded in Lowell in May, 1881. It meets three times a year.

DOES RHEUMATISM BOTHER YOU?

The Doctors Say "Use Musterole"

So many sufferers have found relief in MUSTEROLE that you ought to buy a small jar and try it. Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. MUSTEROLE relieves the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin.

It takes the place of the mussy, old fashioned mustard plaster.

MUSTEROLE is recommended for Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Sprains, Bruises, Shingles, Headache and Colic of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

DAINTIEST COSTUME OF THE SEASON

Will Lose Its Effect Unless the Hair is Pretty and Properly Dressed

The woman who looks to clothes for her charm and attractiveness is likely to find her most expensive outfit a failure if she has thin, faded or lifeless hair. The most beautiful evening gown will appear dowdy and out of style unless crowned with a head of pretty hair, soft, fluffy and lustrous.

Beautiful hair does not just happen to be so, but is always a matter of care and proper nourishment of the hair roots. No matter how unsightly the hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage, an inexpensive tonic, well rubbed into the scalp, is all that is ever needed. The hair roots are nourished and stimulated to grow new hair. Even dandruff is entirely removed with one application, and itching scalp and falling hair cease; the hair will be bright, vigorous, soft and fluffy.

If the hair is oily, dry, brittle, or you have dandruff, Parisian Sage immediately removes the cause, and by toning up the scalp quickly restores the hair to its original brilliancy and vigor.

Parisian Sage can be had from any drug or toilet counter. It is a delightful and harmless treatment that never fails to act as a real and lasting benefit to the hair and scalp.

TO GREET ADMIRAL DEWA

ELABORATE ENTERTAINMENT PLANNED FOR JAPAN'S REPRESENTATIVE TO EXPOSITION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—In honor of Baron Shigeo Dewa, Japan's representative to the opening of the Panama-Pacific exposition who was due here today, an elaborate round of entertainment has been planned by the state department. He is accompanied by Commander S. Kobayashi and Lieut. Commander Uyeda. Lieut. Commander Earle of the Dolphin will act as escort for Admiral Dewa during his stay here.

Admiral Dewa will call on President Wilson, the secretaries of state, navy and war, and Admiral Dewey. Secretary Daniels will give a dinner in his honor tomorrow night and Secretary Bryan will entertain him at luncheon. Visits to Annapolis, the navy yard, the wireless station at Arlington, Mount Vernon are on the program of entertainment.

BIRD FLIES ACROSS OCEAN

Pigeon Found at Wilkesbarre, Penn., Had Message from a German Soldier in Belgium

WILKESBARRE, Penn., Feb. 8.—A carrier pigeon dropped from the roof of a building here, and Fred Jacobs, who found it, discovered a message tied about the bird's neck, which evidently was the message of a German soldier in the Belgium trenches to his wife. The message read as follows:

"Dear Wife—I am alive and well in the trenches in Belgium, but your brother has been killed."

That was all there was, not even a signature to denote the identity of the man who wrote this little tragedy of war. The pigeon showed evidences of long flight and the injury to the wing seemed to have been received shortly before the bird was picked up.

The message was written in English and wrapped in the heading of a German newspaper and the date mark of the paper was Saxony, Dec. — the day of the month missing.

NONPAREIL CLUB

The annual election of officers of the Nonpareil club was held at their rooms this week, the following officers being chosen to serve this year: President, Andrew A. Goggin, vice-president, Linwood C. Knapp, treasurer, F. Percy Warren, recording secretary, Richard D. Donoghue, financial secretary, Geo. F. Haggerty.

The report of the treasurer showed the club to be in excellent financial condition and it was voted to make several improvements at "Tak-it-e-z," their spacious camp at Nabnesset. Preliminary arrangements were made for a grand minstrel overture and dance at the club on the near future. Richard Donoghue being chosen as general manager of the affair.

The members were very enthusiastic in making the arrangements for the minstrel show and the public will certainly hear some sweet singing, as every member of the club possesses a good voice.

THE TRIPLE OTT CLUB

The Triple Ott club, composed of young men from the upper Gorham street district held its quarterly meeting in its rooms in Gorham street last night and after transacting considerable business elected the following officers: President, Victor Peterson; vice-president, Frank Hendricks; secretary, Patrick Healand; treasurer, Patrick Gill.

After the election of the club officers the members went to hold a farmers' ball at North Billerica in May, and the following officers were chosen to have charge of the affair: General manager, Victor Peterson; assistant general manager, Patrick Healand; floor director, Thomas Healand; assistant floor director, James Hendricks; treasurer, Patrick Gill.

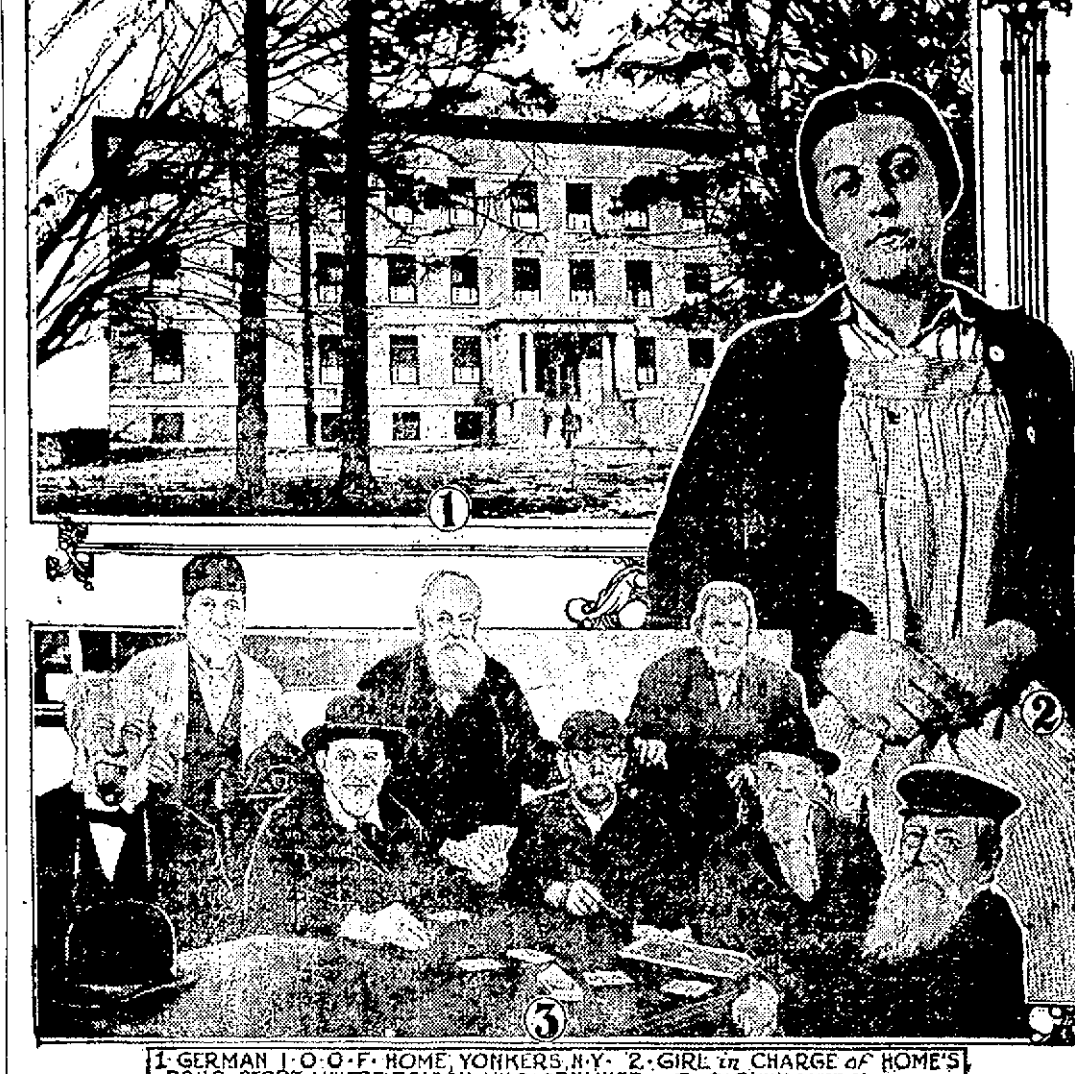

When the election was finished the members talked at length on the coming season and appointed John McGlinchey, the catcher of last season's team, to captain the pine this coming season. All hoped that the team would meet with as much success this year as it did last year when they won twelve out of fifteen games.

How Any Woman Can Remove Hairy Growth

(Beauty Culture)

It is no longer necessary for a woman to visit beauty specialist to have superfluous hairs removed, for with the aid of a plain delatone paste, she can, in the privacy of her own home, remove even a stubborn growth in a very few minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs and after two or three minutes removed and the skin washed. When it is left clean and hairless. Be sure you buy real delatone.

NEW STARTLING REVELATIONS PROMISED IN CASE OF MURDERS AT HOME FOR AGED

1. GERMAN I. O. O. F. HOME, YONKERS, N. Y. 2. GIRL IN CHARGE OF HOME'S DRUG STORE, WHERE POISON WAS OBTAINED. 3. OLD INMATES.

YONKERS, Feb. 9.—The investigation into the confession of Frederick Mors that he killed eight inmates of the German Odd Fellows' home, where he was employed as nurse, entered today in efforts of the authorities to obtain sufficient corroboration to justify exhumation of the bodies of three of the victims. These died from poison before the institution moved here from Unionport, according to Mors but the authorities said today they would not act upon this statement until it was supported by other evidence. If this is forthcoming, the bodies will be exhumed for traces of the poison. The other five alleged victims were put to death with an anesthetic, Mors says, and exhumation of their bodies would be of no value. Light on the question as to whether Mors is mentally unbalanced was expected today from Dr. Gregory, who has had the nurse under observation at Bellevue hospital, New York. Dr. Gregory was looked for here today to make a report to Coroner Dunn as to whether he believed Mors' story was credible.

LADY LOOKABOUT

In November of this year the question of equal suffrage will be placed before the voters for the first time in the history of the state. The electorate of Massachusetts, made up in part of native born citizens and in part of foreign born men who have been naturalized since the question is put off, a large proportion of the voters I fear are not prepared to act intelligently on this question and it may require a long time to educate them. Still the cause is making progress and this will continue until success is attained.

I am afraid for the suffragists in Massachusetts next fall. The women of Massachusetts have a well-nigh hopeless task before them to educate the voters in favor of suffrage, and I still believe that our only hope is through constitutional amendment. I believe it is not a local issue. Suffrage was granted to the negro by constitutional amendment. Why not to women by the same means?

WITH THE FRENCH WOUNDED

The Woman's Sacrifice.

Paris, Feb. 9th, 8:30 p. m. Away from the battlefield one sees war stripped of its glamor. We see the heroic work of nurses who are on duty day and night. There is devotion, self-sacrifice, suffering patriotism—qualities which only a great war and its terrible consequences can inspire to the highest development. The women everywhere are helping and everywhere one sees self-sacrifice and devotion to country.

The women of the United States do not know how fortunate they are. Here there are plenty of women who suffer in silence, whose strength is out of proportion to their ambition. Their hands are tied by some chronic disease common to womanhood; that weak back, accompanied by pain here or there, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, maybe fainting spells or spasms, are all signs of distress for women. She may be growing from girlhood into womanhood, passing from womanhood to motherhood, and later suffering from that change which leaves so many wrecks of women. At any or all of these periods of a woman's life she should take a tonic and nerve, prescribed for just such cases by a physician of vast experience in the diseases of women. Dr. Florence's Favorite Prescription has successfully treated more than one known remedy. When you feel dull, bradely, backache, dizzy, or perhaps hot flashes, there is nothing you can accomplish, nothing you can enjoy. You can find permanent relief in Dr. Florence's Favorite Prescription. It is sold by medicine dealers, or trial box by mail from Dr. Pierce, Invalids Relief Co., Buffalo, N. Y., on receipt of 50 cents, or one dollar for large box.

Feeding the Birds

In some cities, since the ground has been covered with snow, the municipal governments, through their park departments, have been feeding the wild birds. It is an act of kindness to do this, as their food supply is cut off by the snow and unless something is done for them they will perish. Mr. Kernan, superintendent of parks, always quick to think of little acts of kindness, may already have taken steps to relieve the distress among the birds. Parents and teachers should encourage children to place food where the birds can find it.

Snowballing Abuse

In a nearby city, snowballing by boys has become such a nuisance that the police have been given strict orders to apprehend any one caught doing it. A few days ago, the members of the city government were assaulted as they passed along the streets of that city. The boys of Lowell are not among the absent when it comes to throwing snowballs, and they seem to take childish delight in choosing their victims from the old and infirm. Flowers also are a favorite target with them, and often, not snowballs alone, but pieces of ice are hurled at them. It is a wonder that so many can indulge in this cruel pastime and escape arrest. I am afraid a day of reckoning is in store for many of them.

Heed Exposed to Dust

It was a windy day just before the snow storm of the past week. As I hurried along one of our main thoroughfares blinded by the clouds of dust that rose from the dry street, I passed a market outside which lay some dressed hogs. One had a sign on it which read, "438 pounds." All were covered with thick road dust. Some real carcasses also were there. They, too, were thickly coated with dust. It seems to me that it is not so very long ago since there was passed a law which compels wholesale firms to cover with canvas the carcasses they carry through the city. It would seem that the purpose of the law is evaded if markets can expose those carcasses outside their doors without covering of any kind. It surely is not carrying out the spirit of the law.

LADY LOOKABOUT

Best girl I had ever seen. She was so thin she was scrawny; she was round shouldered; her head came forward at right angles to her body; her thin light hair was drawn tightly back; her eyes were waveling and uncertain; her lips—how shall I describe them? Full and thick as an Ethiopian's, they added the one touch to her plainness that gave her the appearance of a caricature.

One Friday it was Ethel's turn to speak. She began:

"Lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine."

A pin-fall could have been heard in the room. It was the calm before the storm. In a moment pandemonium would have been let loose, had not the door opened and the principal entered. In an instant he understood that his eyes positively shot fire as his glance leaped from one to another of us, while Ethel asserted time after time that lips that touched liquor should never touch hers.

Happy Hooligan Hat

In Boston a couple of weeks ago, I saw a group of women standing about a store window. They were very much excited and twittered like birds. I could not catch what they were saying, but I gathered from their looks that there was a note, a hint, a suggestion of happiness. I joined them, but I could not get even a glimpse of the window. Patiently I worked my way through the ranks to the front row. Then I saw the object of their interest: a tiny scarf hat no larger than a ten-cup, perched on one ear of a life-size figure. As I moved away, the sounds of happy twittering interspersed with the remarks, "Isn't it a dandy? Too sweet for anything!" and little joyful cries followed me for a block. Foolish, it may seem to you, but I could not help thinking what perfectly rare a hat like that would be to me, and I liked them all the more for their happy merriment over a bit of millinery.

The Anti-Suffragist

Appropos of suffrage, here is one from the "Anti-Suffragist" who keeps from a wider circulation. The Anti-Suffragist is a woman who comes out in public to fight for keeping women from coming out in public. A few more like that would help the cause. "Life" should take notice.

MATRIMONIAL

Ludger Coriveau and Miss Marie Evelyn Blanchette were married yesterday morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock at St. Joseph's church by Rev. C. A. Paquette, O. M. I. The witnesses were Nazaire Coriveau and Amedee Blanchette. At the close of the ceremony the couple left on a wedding tour to Milton, N. H. They will reside in this city.

LEQUIN-LAVALLÉE

Achille Lequin and Miss Helene Lavallee were married yesterday at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Louis church at 7 o'clock by Rev. L. C. Bard. The couple were attended by their respective fathers, Caliste Lequin and Ferdinand Lavallee. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bridegroom, 124 Dalton street, where a wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Lequin, who were the residents of numerous gifts left at noon for Holyoke, Worcester and Southbridge, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will return in two weeks and will make their home at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Fairland road. Present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lequin of Marlboro.

ROANE-McCARRON

With the celebration of a nuptial mass Mr. Frank Roane and Miss Anna McCarron were united in the bonds of wedlock at the Immaculate Conception church at 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

The popularity of the young couple made the event one of unusual interest. Mr. Roane is the son of Mr. John Roane of Chapel street, the prominent letter carrier, while the bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony McCarron of Concord street, Belvidere, and for the last two years a teacher in the Coburn evening school. The nuptial mass was celebrated at 2 o'clock by Rev. James P. McMartin, O. M. I.

The happy couple were attended by Mr. John V. Roane, Jr., a brother of the groom and Miss Catherine McCarron, a close friend of the bride.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white princess satin embroidered with delicate lace and wore a white picture hat. She carried a large bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a gown of blue charmeuse with lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. She also wore a picture hat.

Following the ceremony Mr. Roane and his wife left on an extended wedding trip to Boston, New York and Providence, and upon their return in

WITH NAP-A-MINIT

USED BY DR. GAGNON

A broad statement, but a true one, and one which I am prepared to prove.

The average person is rather skeptical in regard to painless dentistry, as experience has taught him that in most cases the work done in a painless manner simply meant that the teeth were not prepared properly and the result was that trouble arrived sooner or later.

With Nap-a-Minit you can have teeth and roots extracted, nerves removed, cavities thoroughly prepared for fillings, bridge work inserted, pyorrhea treated, in fact every branch of dental work done absolutely without pain.

Do not confound Nap-a-Minit with the ordinary anesthetics, as ether, gas, or any of the anesthetics. It is a combination of nitrous-oxide producing the state of analgesia in which you can talk, hear, watch the dentist at work, every faculty unimpaired, save that you can not feel pain.

Don't let fear keep you from your rightful inheritance—good teeth—but come to either of my offices and let me explain in detail the wonderful merits of that great boon to teeth-suffering humanity—Nap-a-Minit.

SLEEP FOR BEAUTY

Night is the psychological time for beauty culture. It is the time for erasing the care-lines of the day, and making ready for rebuilding. It is a time of recuperation, of gaining strength, of repairing nerves.

If you want to rise with a sunny face, go to sleep with a mind freed from "inharmonies." Put away all "envy, hatred and malice." Set yourself at peace with the world, yourself and your fellow man.

Take some simple exercises for the relaxation of tense muscles. Don't say you are too tired, and tumble into bed with the "tired" thought. You have to breathe, whether you are tired or not. Twenty-five deep breaths will quiet nerves, start the circulation, loosen the tension of body and mind. A warm bath will do as much good as an hour's beauty culture. It is the time for brushing your hair with long, even strokes, breathing rhythmically meanwhile. Massage the scalp. It will clear your head, and take away the feeling of being "bound with bands," which is the sign of a tired brain.

Sit before your mirror in a strong light and carefully smooth out all lines of worry, of perturbation, of unhappiness. I have given dozens of recipes. If, however, you want a specific for wrinkles, try this:

Half an ounce each of lanolin and coconut oil, a quarter of an ounce each of white wax and spermaceti, one ounce of oil of sweet almonds, melt together and while stirring add half an ounce of orange flower water and a few drops of benzoin.

two weeks' time, they will take up their residence in Boston where the groom has accepted a position. The couple received many beautiful gifts.

MRS. HALE GIFFORD DEAD

WAS WIFE OF U. S. CONSUL AT BASLE AND SISTER OF FEDERAL JUDGE HALE

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 2.—Mrs. Augusta Hale Gifford, author and historian and wife of George Gifford, United States consul at Basle, Switzerland, from 1884 until 1913, died in this city yesterday from the effects of an accident. She was 73 years old.

Mr. Gifford, who 45 years ago was editor in chief of the Portland Daily Press, is still in Switzerland. Mrs. Gifford returned to her home just before the European war broke out, a sufferer from a broken hip, which caused complications to set in. She was a sister of former Senator Hale and this city.

SOUTH END MINSTRELS

WILL PRESENT THEIR SHOW FOR BENEFIT OF INMATES OF CHELMSFORD ST. HOSPITAL

The 300 or more inmates of the Chelmsford St. hospital will be treated to a minstrel show Wednesday night when the members of the South End club will assemble at the hospital and present their show which made such a hit at Associate hall a short time ago. The inmates are looking forward to this evening with pleasurable anticipation.

VERY GRAVE MATTER

ALLENSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 9.—Despondent because work was slack, Francis D. Laer, a grave digger, 46, committed suicide while his wife and daughter were in church.

He pulled the hose from a gas heater and stuck the end in his mouth, with the cock turned on full force.

He had been complaining that Allenstown was so healthy that a grave digger could not make a living.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Nine-tenths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure

A famous physician whose successful researches into the cause and cure of stomach and intestinal disorders have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the vital organs, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach, which in turn was due nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the delicate lining of the stomach, but also set in gastritis and stomach ulcers. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines as well as of medical treatment for the stomach, stating that he and his colleagues have secured remarkable results by the use of ordinary bluerated magnesia, which, by neutralizing the acidity of the food, removes the source of the trouble. He contends that it is as foolish to treat the stomach itself as it would be for a man who had stepped on a tack to rub liniment on the foot without first removing the tack. Remove the tack and the foot will heal itself—neutralize the acid and the stomach troubles will disappear. Irritating medicines and medical treatments are useless, so long as the contents of the stomach remain acid; remove the acidity, and there will be no need for medicine—the inherent healing of the stomach will then heal itself.

Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach or heartburn should get a small bottle of bluerated magnesia from their druggist, and take a teaspoonful in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after meals, repeating in fifteen minutes, if necessary, this before the dose which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases.

CHARGE OF SEDITION CONSPIRACY AGAINST U.S.

Plot to Seize States of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California for Independent Republic

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 9.—After the private examining trial here yesterday of Alvaro Gutierrez, one of two men arrested by United States officers on a charge of seditious conspiracy against the United States, federal officials said they were in possession of documentary evidence which they alleged revealed further details of a plot to seize the states of Texas, Arizona,

New Mexico, Colorado and the lower half of California for the formation of an independent republic. Ultimate annexation to Mexico was contemplated, it is said, the document declaring that Mexico had been robbed of this territory. Gutierrez was held in $5,000 bond for trial. Basilio Ramos was held under the same bond after preliminary hearings. Other arrests are expected.

A "FAT OLD SLOB" FIRE IN SALEM

Conflagration is Barely Averted in Congested District

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—"When some one inquired of Miss Ryan why there, Mansfield, who was at the desk, said, 'Yes, and she's going to be here all night.'"

This was the testimony of Edward G. Scamptom, the last witness yesterday in the Ryan-Mansfield breach of promise case in the superior court.

He had testified that he had been employed as a chauffeur for Mansfield in 1910—from May till August 23. This was at Farnborough.

At the morning session several employees at Farnborough testified that they had seen Miss Ryan on occasions drinking wine and had also seen her talking with Guy Morrill.

It was also testified by two witnesses that Miss Ryan had called Mansfield a "fat old slob" and had said she wouldn't marry him anyway.

SALEM, Feb. 9.—Fire in the three-story Locke factory on Franklin street last evening caused a loss on structure and contents estimated at $55,000. The fire appears to have originated on the third floor, occupied by the Naumkeag Shoe Stock company, and worked downward. When discovered it was spreading in the stairway on the east side of the building.

A general alarm from box 62 called the entire department to the scene. The factory is in a very congested district, composed entirely of wooden buildings. Only quick work by the firemen averted what threatened to be a conflagration. In a short time the factory was flooded.

The first floor and a large section of the second floor were occupied by the Naumkeag Shoe Stock company. The plant was equipped with expensive machinery, which is said to be damaged at least $6,000. A small section of the second story was rented by John T. Sweeney, dealer in leather remnants. His loss is estimated at $1,500. The entire third floor was occupied by the Naumkeag Shoe Stock company, which employed 60 hands. The firm had 30,000 pairs of footwear, principally boys' shoes, in various stages of manufacture. The loss by fire and water to the firm is estimated at $48,000.

The Locke building, valued at $15,000, is damaged fully $6,000. The large body of water that flooded all the floors caused the beams to sag.

Richard Brabrook Walsh and Harold A. Yarnum have removed their law offices to 410-412 Sun building.

Help the Stomach Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

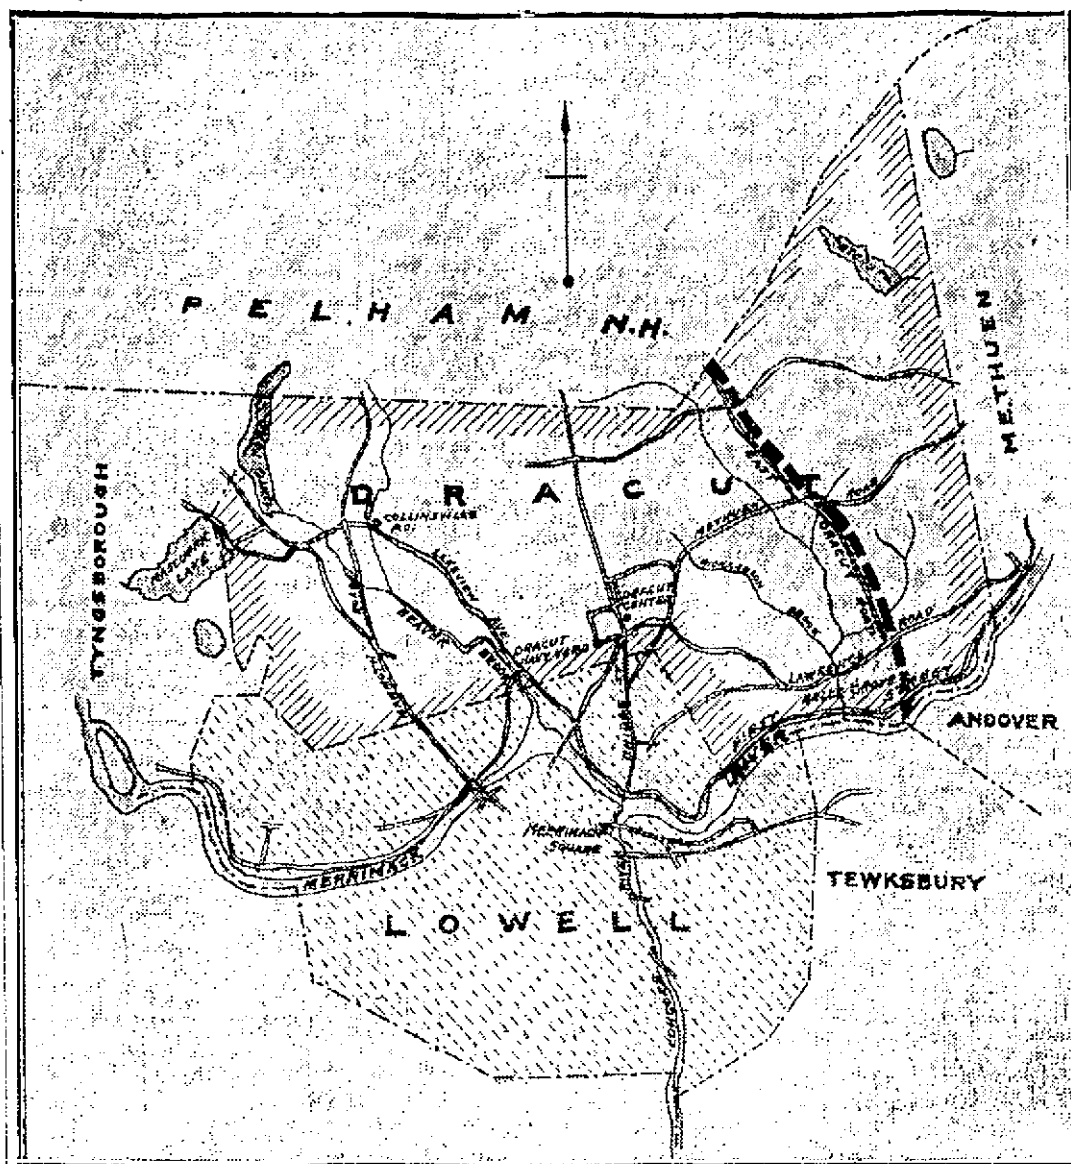

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

Much disease, trouble, suffering, depression and worry, usually blamed to other causes is due to constipation. Even chronic constipation can be corrected by care in the diet and proper treatment with a gentle laxative.

The use of harsh laxatives, unfortunately so common, gives temporary relief but in the end aggravates constipation. Pinkettes are gently successful granules, they act gently, causing no nausea or griping, they clear away the waste and prevent congestion. With a little persistence, which the result is well worth, Pinkettes really correct chronic constipation.

Write Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free sample or get a full-size 25c bottle of Pinkettes from your own druggist.

ANNEX THE GREATER PART OF DRACUT— LET REMAINDER GO TO METHUEN

MAP OF DRACUT IN OUTLINE. CITY OF LOWELL, MARKED IN LIGHT SHADING, HEAVY STROKED LINE SHOWS PROPOSED PARTITION OF TOWN

In the above map of Dracut, the heavy stroke line along the East Dracut Road shows the proposed partition of the town, the eastern portion to go to Methuen and all the rest to Lowell.

It is contended that the Dracut residents east of the separating line are identified with Methuen and Lawrence much more than with Dracut or Lowell. They do not even attend town meetings and so far as can be learned they would rather belong to Methuen than to Dracut. Whether Methuen wants them is another question.

The population of that part of the town is very small and it is not likely that Methuen would offer any great objection to such an addition particularly as this area contains a pond which might be used as a source of water supply.

To the west of the East Dracut Road lies all the best part of Dracut including the Centre Village with its ample areas of high land, the Navy Yard, Collinsville, the Beaver Brook district and Long Pond, suitable as an auxiliary water supply. To annex any small section of Dracut would be unjust to the remainder of the town so that the residents of the Navy Yard and Kenwood districts as well as those of Collinsville, are practically in accord that the best thing to do is to annex the entire town except the portion which naturally is more intimately connected with Methuen and Lawrence.

The arguments in favor of annexing Dracut have repeatedly been given in this paper. There is no denying the fact that the continued growth and prosperity of our city demand the annexation of Dracut in order to afford room for easy expansion. The city has been growing outward in other directions until the boundary line at some points is at least three times as far from the business center as is the border of Dracut. The greater part of Dracut lies within easy reach of Merrimack square and much nearer to the business center than some of the most thickly settled parts of our city such as the Highlands and Middlesex Village. To be exact, the Navy Yard in Dracut is but a mile and one-eighth from Merrimack square and Collinsville three miles, while the city boundary is three miles from the square in the direction of North Chelmsford and three and a half on the opposite side of the river. Out Gorham street also the city line is almost three miles from the square. Thus it appears that Dracut has prevented the symmetrical growth of the city around the center of transportation and business activity. Our city is lopsided; so to speak; annex Dracut and it will then be regular in form and there will be plenty of land on which to build homes. Land in the city limits at present is at a premium. The people want relief and to prevent crowding more territory should be added. The annexation of Dracut will meet present needs.

Lowell Textile Union

The Loomfixers' union held a very largely attended and highly instructive meeting last night in Carpenters' hall and completed final arrangements for the open meeting to be held next Monday evening. Prominent labor advocates have been invited and will speak to the members. Several interesting reports were read and two new members were initiated. The secretary's report showed the union to be in a strong financial condition. President Peter Courtin presided.

Municipal Employees Union

The Municipal Employees' union held its regular weekly meeting last night in Trades & Labor hall at which the merits of the civil service was the topic for discussion. Eight new members were initiated and several applications were turned over to the investigating committee. A list of routine business was also transacted.

Protest Denied

The protest of the Abbott Woolen Co., of Graniteville, Mass., which contended that a shipment of Cardova wool was in bond before Oct. 3, 1912 and withdrawn between that date and Dec. 1, 1913, and was entitled to the provisions of the new tariff was overruled by the Board of United States General Appraisers.

Carpenters' Union

The Carpenters' union, local 45, will hold a very important business meeting in the union quarters tonight and matters of considerable interest will be brought to the attention of the members. President Benjamin B. Golden will preside.

Boot & Shoe Workers' Open Meeting

The Boot & Shoe Workers' union held the second in a series of open meetings in Harrington hall last evening and long before the start of the program the hall was taxed to capacity by the large attendance of operatives of the local shops, prominent labor men and friends of the organization. The affair was carried out under the personal supervision of Organizer Daniel E. Whalen and every detail was run off without the slightest hitch.

The principal speaker of the evening was Collis Lovely, general vice-president of the Boot & Shoe Workers' union of St. Louis, Mo., who gave a very interesting talk on unionism and the benefits to be derived by the workers joining a strong financial labor organization. The speaker quoted figures showing that among shoe workers the highest wage was paid in the city of Brockton where a return of 100 cents for every dollar invested by capital was recorded. Lynn came next with a return of 85 cents for every dollar invested by capital. Lowell with a return of 42 cents on the dollar invested had the lowest wage of all the shoe centers, he said. He also spoke of the young men, many of whom were at the meeting and congratulated them on their courage and display of interest in the proceedings.

Lowell Textile Alumni Banquet

Extensive preparations are being made for the sixteenth annual banquet of the Alumni Association of the Lowell Textile school, which will be held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, Saturday evening, February 20. Arrangements were completed at a recent meeting of the entertainment committee at Boston. The committee is comprised of Robert R. Sleeper, '00, chairman; Royal P. White, '01 and George L. Gahm, '05.

TO DEMAND SAFETY FOR AMERICANS IN WAR ZONE

German Declaration and Lusitania Incident Discussed by Pres. Wilson and Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The German declaration of a war zone around the British Isles and the holding of the American flag on the British liner Lusitania continue to be topics of widespread comment in official and diplomatic quarters and the receipt of the German war office memorandum from Ambassador Gerard and a report on the Lusitania incident from Ambassador Page are eagerly awaited here. Until these are received the Washington government will take no action in the matter.

The situation which has arisen as a result of the German declaration and the Lusitania incident was up for discussion today between President Wilson and his cabinet. It was understood that following the conference formal inquiries would be instituted concerning what step the German naval commanders will make to protect neutrals traveling on merchant ships and for information as to the use of American flags by British ships generally.

Officials are said to be much concerned over prospects that the prescription of the war zone and the use of a neutral flag by war vessels as a stratagem of war may endanger lives of Americans whose right to travel on neutral ships in war times, it is understood, will be vigorously upheld by the Washington government.

U. S. TO SEND NOTE TO ENGLAND POINTING OUT DANGERS OF HOSTING FLAG

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The administration

view of the holding of the American flag on the steamer Lusitania, as stated today on the highest authority is that the use of other flags by ships of nations at war is such a customary practice that no formal protest can be made but that it will be proper to send to Great Britain a note pointing out the dangers to neutral shipping which may follow if such a practice is continued.

SAYS LUSITANIA ADOPTED PERMISSIBLE STRATEGEM IN HOISTING U. S. FLAG

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Asserting that the Lusitania adopted a permissible stratagem in hoisting the Stars and Stripes to avoid danger in her final dash for Liverpool, the Manchester Guardian declares that "an act may be perfectly lawful without being expedient or altogether fair."

The paper says: "The fact that our fastest liner had to change her flag has shocked our pride as much as the loss would have shocked our humanity. If all or many of our merchant liners were to do the same the result would be as American papers are pointing out to diminish the value of protection given by the American flag. Not only would that be indignified in us and unworthy the nation which rules the seas but it also would be unfair to the United States and it would reflect on us the same indignation as was aroused by Germany's threat to disregard neutral flags."

and many nice things were said about the standing of the local organization by the visitors.

The menu was excellent and much enjoyed by all present. The post prandial exercises were presided over by President Samuel Marshall. The entertainment program was exceptionally good and consisted of piano solos by Joseph McCardle; whistling selections, James Carr; recitations, Thomas Bickley, lecturing, South End Gleec club. The speakers of the occasion were B. J. Mahoney, district plant chief of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.; Daniel Bushbee, John Cunningham and Thomas Delaney. The committee responsible for the success of the event were: Edward Stanley, Thomas Collins and Thomas B. Delaney, chairman.

TOUR OF FIRE HOUSES
BY MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

In order to acquaint themselves with firehouses and their paraphernalia, the municipal council, accompanied by Fire Chief Saunders, District Chief Sullivan and press representatives made a tour of the houses this afternoon, leaving city hall at about 1.30 o'clock.

The council decided some time ago to look the firehouses over before taking final action on the estimates for the year and whatever effect their visit will have on the matter of more motor apparatus they are satisfied that new horses and new harnesses are required in pretty nearly every firehouse. The old nags that responded to the bell this afternoon were sorry sights indeed. All the infirmities of old age were apparent and one could almost read the look of delight in the faces of the poor old "has-beens" when they discovered that the bell which called them out was not a bona fide fire bell; not that they felt proud of their appearance as show horses, but because they were not being called upon to undergo that which in their earlier days was a pleasure but which fills them now with nothing save discomfort, hardship and mistaking.

This could be made to fit the case a little better, perhaps, by slight paraphrasing. That all of the men were sufficiently on their "tips" to satisfy the council members that they are yet full of "gimp" was evidenced by pole sliding, which is almost a work of art. Some people say it is a gift. After the first look had been visited by the commissioners and others decided that to stand very near the brass pole where the firemen slide down in response to alarms was absolute carelessness. Commissioner Carmichael was the first to get an object lesson along this line. The colonel was sitting with a gray horse, about 50 years old, when a fireman landed on his shoulders. The colonel was too near the pole for comfort.

The whole affair was near vaudeville as one could imagine. The tap of the bell, the firemen shooting down the brass pole, the horses rushing from their stalls, the harness hitching and general commands was the real thing and the reason that more of it isn't displayed in moving pictures is because the movie promoters are not on their jobs.

The fourth street house was the first one visited and there were at least two horses there that are a little worse for wear. Charlie Morse was looking for horses and he said he would just as soon buy from the fire department as from a dealer, but he didn't see anything that suited him very well. Some of the horses were colicky, others were troubled with indigestion, while numerous others were either spavined, broken winded, balky or something else. There were four horses on hand but none were for sale.

The council members agreed that most of the old nags belonged at Red Acre farm. There was a gray horse at the fourth street house that for several years had stood standing, apparently afraid to lie down. Within the last few months he has acquired the habit, and now, it is believed, he is not for sale.

From fourth street the inspectors went to West Sixth street, where the Race street house, then Fletcher, Pawtucketville, Branch street, Lawrence street, and so on until all of the houses had been visited.

Even though the council should vote to purchase more motor apparatus it will still be necessary to buy new horses and, as Commissioner Morse put it, to sell the old horses, that have seen years of faithful service, to outside parties of whom little was known, and that despite the best care possible, the reins in some cases were worn so thin as to be almost transparent and at one house the visitors were told that the harnesses, then on the horses, were 23 years old. And so it would seem that unless all the horses and harnesses in the country are grabbed up by the allies and the Germans, new horses will be installed at some of the firehouses before the war is over.

BOMBARDMENT OF
BLACK SEA PORTS3500 Germans Captured by Russians —Fierce Fighting in East Prussia and the Carpathians—Germans Gain in Argonne Region

Turkish army headquarters at Constantinople has issued an official announcement which refers to the successful reconnoitering march of the Turkish forces on Egypt. It says that some companies of Turkish infantry crossed the Suez canal.

"Our vanguard will keep in touch with the enemy and continue reconnoitering the east bank of the canal," the announcement continues, "until our main force can proceed to the attack. Part of the Turkish fleet has heavily bombarded Yalta, the Russian Black Sea port in the Crimea. At another point our ships sank a Russian vessel."

Bombardment Conference
Petrograd reports that the Turkish cruiser Hiddir, formerly the German cruiser Breslau has bombarded Yalta, a port on the Black sea in the Crimea. No damage was done. In response to this attack Russian cruisers went to the Turkish side of the Black Sea and bombarded Trebizond.

The German army in East Prussia reinforced with troops sent to help stay the Russian advance into Germany has undertaken the offensive. The Russians also are believed to have a large army in this region, where a great battle apparently is developing. The outcome of this struggle is expected to have an important bearing upon the entire campaign in the east.

Russo-Germans Capture 3500

At the other end of the eastern front, in the Carpathians, neither side has been able to gain a definite victory. The Austro-German troops have made progress in some places but elsewhere apparently have suffered reverses. In one engagement, the Petrograd war office reports, 3500 prisoners were captured by the Russians.

Turks Have Fallen Back

The Turkish invasion of Egypt, one of the most daring and picturesque incidents of the war, seems to have come to naught. After their recent defeat in the fighting near the Suez canal, the Turks are said to have fallen back, according to an official announcement, are in full retreat.

CONSTABLE NOT CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES

The question of the right of one not an American citizen to act in the capacity of constable was brought up at the regular meeting of the municipal council this forenoon. It was brought to light in the case of Thomas Noyes who was called before the council to show reason why his license as constable should not be revoked. The council had already granted Mr. Noyes a license and had accepted his bond. There was no other charge against him except that of being a non-citizen. H. V. Charbonneau appeared as

SAND BANK CAVED-IN

John McGuinness of Summer
St. Killed at Chelmsford Centre
This Morning

A workman named John McGuinness, residing at 11 rear of 39 Summer street, employed by Contractor Dix of Chelmsford Centre, while at work on a sand pit in that town this morning was caught in a cave-in of sand and suffocated.

While fellow-workmen were attempting to rescue him a call was sent for the ambulance and the private ambulance responded in all haste, but upon its arrival the unfortunate man had been taken from underneath the pile, dead. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertakers McDonough Sons to await a view by Medical Examiner Meigs.

He is survived by a wife, Theresa, and three children.

SHOT TO DEATH THE AYER HOME

Pastor of New Britain,
Ct. Church and Housekeeper Found Dead

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Feb. 9.—Rev. Joseph Zebray, pastor of St. Andrew's Lithuanian Catholic church, and his housekeeper, Miss Eva Gillman, were found dead in the rectory today. The priest had been shot to death, a preliminary examination showing two bullet wounds. The woman had been strangled with a clothesline and also had a bullet wound in the wrist. The body of the priest was found on the parlor floor and that of Miss Gillman in her room in the attic. Father Zebray was 40 years old and had been here 15 years. Miss Gillman was 52 years old.

The crime was discovered when on the failure of the priest to appear for mass, parishioners investigated. The house was found to be locked and entrance was gained only after a small boy had been sent through a cellar window to unlock one of the doors.

There was some trouble in the parish not long ago and the police think that the crime may have been one of revenge.

Last season he was the leading second baseman in fielding in the International circuit in addition to ranking among the league's best batters.

TRIAL OF OSCAR J. COMERY

MANCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 9.—The second day of the trial by jury to determine the degree of punishment for Oscar J. Comery, who has pleaded to the charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of his wife in this city last November, was devoted chiefly to the taking of the testimony of the mother of the girl whose relations with respondent bore directly upon the committing of the crime, of the attending physician who was called when Mrs. Comery was dying.

Allard, a neighbor who witnessed the death scene and of the police and medical authorities.

At one time in the proceedings the jury was excused from the courtroom while Police Inspector Callaghan told of Comery's arrest and of the events leading up to his confession to the police.

TO VISIT G. A. R. LADIES

Mrs. J. M. Brooks of Barré, Mass., department president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., will be the guest of Ladd and Whitney corps tomorrow evening.

The trustees of the Ayer Home held their annual meeting today at the Union National bank, 61 Merrimack street. The old board was re-elected, consisting of Moses G. Parker, M. D., president; Charles P. Young, treasurer; Frank E. Dunbar, Arthur G. Pollard, Paul Butler and John E. Sawyer, trustees.

The report of the president for the past year was read by Dr. M. G. Parker, and was approved by the trustees. It mentioned a long list of people to whom thanks were extended for the favor during the past year. It had the following:

One hundred seventy-seven have been benefited by the home this year and during the warm weather they enjoyed the swimming pool and for five months were free from sickness.

During the other months the usual children's diseases appeared and on December 14th a quarantine was ordered, because of seven cases of chicken-pox. This deprived the other nine two children of their schooling for over a month. On January 1st, 1915, one hundred children were at the home and twenty-three were on the waiting list.

We are indebted to Frederick Fanning Ayer for his continued generosity, having given this year a new safe, a new boiler, new piping, new radiators and other improvements amounting in all to about $1600.

Children at the Home

The attendance at present is 100 of whom 61 are girls.

Calls

The number of calls on children by parents and others was 1167. The average daily attendance at the school was 26 and the average attendance at church was 55.

On Children's Sunday, every child (100) attended the services at the Pawtucket Congregational church.

Health

The health of the children has been good. We have had one case of croup, two of adenoids, three of tonsillitis, five of bronchitis, five of whooping cough, three of pneumonia, five of measles, eight of chicken-pox, five of scarlet fever and three of convulsions. Of these cases nine were sent to the Lowell General hospital, eight to the Corporation hospital, seven to the outpatient department and ten to the dentist.

One, Miss Olive MacGregor, was taken to the Massachusetts General hospital for treatment of curvature of the spine. Every child is provided with a comb, a napkin-ring, a tooth brush and the older girls with manicure sets. All are proud of their own articles and know how to use them.

Clothing

Parents are expected to clothe their children while at the home and many have done well this year, while others seem to forget that their children need clothing. There are at home 11 who have neither father nor mother living, 35 whose fathers are not living, 27 whose mothers are not living and 25 who have both fathers and mothers living. We wish to thank Frederick Fanning Ayer, A. D. Carter and A. G. Cunnock for the materials they have so generously sent to the home. This has helped out the clothing department and greatly improved the appearance of the children.

The trustees wish to thank and express their appreciation for the skill and kindness of the physicians and others who have so generously given their services to the home and especially to Boyden H. Pillsbury, M. D., physician in charge, Ralph C. Stewart, M. D., assistant physician, Lowell General hospital, Lowell corporation hospital, Daniel Gage Ice company, Dr. Edwin F. Lamson, dentist, and our efficient matron, Mrs. E. J. Tarr.

PACKING FIRMS GUILTY

Four Companies Fined $25,000 Each for Violating State Anti-Trust Law in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 8.—The packing firms of Armour & Co., Swift & Co., St. Louis Dressing Beef & Provision Co., the Hammond Packing Co. and Morris & Co. were found guilty of violating the state anti-trust law by the Missouri supreme court today. An order of ouster was issued but the companies are allowed to remain in the state on payment of fines.

Each company was fined $25,000. To stay in the state each company must pay its fine by March 11.

The ouster suit against the so-called beef trust was filed by Governor Major when he was attorney general. Daniel Dillon of St. Louis was appointed commissioner to take testimony in the case and he reported to the supreme court that the companies had violated the anti-trust law. The case was argued in the supreme court more than a year ago.

The supreme court ruled that the anti-trust law was violated by the acquisition by the National Packing Co. of the Hammond Packing Co. and the St. Louis Dressing Beef and Provision company. The National Packing Co. was organized by the Armour, Swift and Morris companies.

The opinion says the National company became a holding concern for and directed the five packing companies named thereby destroying competition and fixing the price for dressed meats.

again at a standstill, according to reports received from both Berlin and Petrograd; on the other hand the Russian capital reports that on each wing of the eastern battlefield the Russian offensive has been resumed.

An official Russian communication claims progress on the Hungarian side of the western Carpathian ranges as well as success in the direction of Mezohorcz in driving back the enemy with considerable losses in guns and soldiers. The Austro-German army is said to have met reverses on the Galician side of the Ussak and Beskid passes. Balancing these Russian successes are the Russian admission of their retirement before strong forces in Bukovina and the Austrian claims having entered the town of Kimpolung in the crownland.

In East Prussia, where matters have been at a standstill for some time the fighting apparently is assuming a more desperate character. This may account for the hull on the Warsaw front, as the East Prussian forces may have been reinforced by some of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's veterans.

The full text of the German blockade proclamation published in London served as a theme for much comment in which the Lusitania flag incident figures largely. Most of the British press defended the use of the American flag in this emergency but some of them express misgivings as to the effect of this course of action.

GERMAN WIRELESS NOT FOR TRANSMISSION OF PRIVATE MESSAGES

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 8.—The German postal authorities have announced that the German wireless system may no longer be used for the transmission of private messages. This interdiction applies even to private messages intended for warships and other vessels at sea.

PARIS EXPECTS WASHINGTON TO SEND PROTEST TO BERLIN

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The paragraph in the German memorandum sent to the United States government declaring Germany's naval forces have been instructed to obtain as far as possible from damaging neutral ships, the French press declares did not appear in the original text published in the Reichstags Anzeiger of Berlin. It is considered by the papers here that no matter what apparent restrictions may be added to the operations of the navy the document constitutes an intolerable menace to neutrals on the part of Germany. The opinion is expressed that the Washington administration will protest to Berlin.

THIRTY YEARS WED
Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Donohoe of 408 High street, informally observed the 30th anniversary of their marriage yesterday. During the day many of their friends called at their home and congratulated them on the event. Very few couples have more sincere friends than Mr. and Mrs. Donohoe. They had ample evidence of this yesterday from those who knew that they were closing in their thirtieth year of married life.

counsel for Mr. Noucas and stated that according to the statutes it was not necessary for a man to be a citizen of the United States in order to hold a constable's license. He said that the statutes provide that residents may be made to act as constables even against their will. He said that the word "resident" not "citizen" appears in the statute, having to do with Mr. Noucas' case.

"All you have to say against him," said Mr. Charbonneau, "is that he is not a citizen. He has performed his duties faithfully and well and I think it would be very unfair to take away his license. He has a lot of unfinished business on hand. As a constable and an interpreter in your evening schools he has always been sound and upright in the performance of his duty, and as the law does not provide that he should be a citizen, I hope the council will allow him to go along in the performance of his duties as constable. I know that even though the statutes do not say that it is necessary for a constable to be a citizen you have the power to strip him of his authority as constable, but I feel that you will deal with this matter on broader lines."

Mayor Murphy said the council did not know at the time of the appointment that Mr. Noucas was not a citizen of the United States and he said that with the council it was a matter of policy rather than of law. There was some objection to a man not a citizen being placed in a position to arrest a man who is a citizen. In other words, said the mayor, the council thinks that a man ought not to be a constable until he is a citizen.

Commissioner Carmichael believed that the council should go slow in the matter. He recalled that the board of health had granted a man a license to build a stable and then objected to it. The matter found its way to the courts and the supreme court ruled that inasmuch as the board had granted a license and the grantee had gone to a considerable expense in preparation of the stable that the license could not be revoked unless the licensee had done something to warrant the revocation. The mayor allowed that the cases were dissimilar. He also allowed that the statutes do not require that a man shall be a citizen in order to be a constable or even notary public. He believed, however, that it should be the policy of the council not to grant a constable license to any but a citizen.

HERE ARE MOST OF THE MEN WHO DIRECT THE DESTINIES OF THE AMERICAN BASEBALL LEAGUE

BIG MEN OF THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

Mr. Carmichael disposed of the matter for the time being at least, by moving that the question be referred to the mayor and the city solicitor, and that hereafter none but citizens be made constables. It was so voted.

WEIGHERS OF COAL
The petitions of two applicants for appointment as weighers of coal were also held up, it being discovered by the mayor that one of the petitioners could not write, at least not sufficiently plain as to be understood with any degree of satisfaction. The mayor thought the man who weighs coal and other articles ought to be able to write intelligibly.

A big raft of petitions having to do with pole locations, wire attachments, etc., were either voted or referred. There was some slight opposition to the petition of the Bay State Street Railway company and the New England Telephone and Telegraph company for the joint use of 52 poles in Middlesex street. It was explained that the joint use of the poles would improve the construction and eliminate old poles. The matter was referred to Commissioners Morse and Putnam.

Claims for personal injuries were presented by James A. Donnelly and Thomas Donohoe and were referred to the city solicitor. A garage and gasoline license was granted Stephen L. Enchette and Grace R. Saunders. Donnelly was granted a license to operate a garage and was granted the authority to purchase, through the purchasing agent's office, 20 tons of English hay at an expense of about $500. The council adjourned shortly after the noon hour and at 1 o'clock went out to take a view of the firehouses for the purpose of acquainting themselves with the needs and requirements of the different houses in order that intelligent action may be taken on the fire department estimates.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are derived from the bowels and positively do the work. People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels, liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, stopping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

CURLING, THE GREAT SCOTTISH WINTER SPORT.

Wherever you find the Scot and cold weather there you find curling. Ice is essential, and the real players prefer that it be outdoors, though in most Canadian and northern American cities the big bonspiels are held in rinks. The game is a combination of quoits, shuffleboard and bowling. The stones are sent over the ice toward a goal and snow is swept in front of them to retard their progress or the ice is cleared to let them go farther. Each side takes turns, and the object is to drive an opponent's stone away from the goal and let your own take its place.

The Lowell board of trade celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary last evening by a great banquet in Associate Hall attended by 500 members representing the best in the public life of the city. In every manner from the slightest to the greatest it was a memorable occasion and it establishes a new record for the quarter-century organization. In its blending of the enjoyable and the educational it was unique and the spirit of cordial hospitality and brotherhood created a club atmosphere which one does not often find in such large gatherings. Anyone who could have seen the banquet hall last evening when the program was in full swing or who could have heard the great burst of melody when 500 voices were raised in chorus would not doubt that Lowell has a lively and up-to-date board of trade managed by practical and resourceful officers. The smoothness with which the successful affair was conducted was largely due to the personal supervision of President Marden, Secretary Murphy and the energetic committee on arrangements.

The hall was unusually beautiful in an Oriental setting full of suggestions of Japan. All the colors of the rainbow were blended in a riot of richness and the eye was dazzled by the lanterns, parasols, wall bannerets, flower clusters and all the other bizarre effects that we associate with the land of the Mikado. Streamers of all colors were hung from the centre of the hall to the sides and special lights of great brilliancy had been arranged, shaded by soft transparencies. The entire effect was so arranged as to carry the eye naturally to the stage where on a background of brilliant scarlet shone the golden motto: "Welcome to Our Twenty-fifth Anniversary." The stage was surrounded with a trellis covered with flowers and greenery and in the foreground was a flower hedge of fairy lightness. C. F. Young was the decorator.

The musical program was of a high order throughout. Avoiding the merely popular and transitory, it included songs that while they had the spirit of the occasion, had permanent musical value. If hearty cooperation and frequent applause go for anything, those present appreciated the change, for there were moments when all joined in the chorus and the encores were demanded in terms that could not be refused. At each place was a horn with the motto: "Blow your horn for Lowell," and these were used often and effectively in the demand for more music. The musical surprise of the evening was the Lowell Vocal Club, a new organization under the direction of Mr. Albert Edmund Brown which gives great promise of future achievement. There is splendid material in the body and with such competent management Lowell may expect much from it. The Mendelssohn male quartet was also heard in many fine selections, and there were solos by Mr. Brown and Mr. Charles H. Howard.

A feature that created a great deal of amusement and stirred up considerable enthusiasm was the singing of a topical song by Mr. Howard, to the tune of "Tipperary." All present joined in the chorus. Following is the musical program in full:

Uncle Sam's Song. Vocal Club.
Westman Mendelssohn Male Quartet.
The Sheriff's Song from Robin Hood.
Mr. Albert Edmund Brown.
So Do I.
Mendelssohn Male Quartet.
O Blessed Land. Vocal Club.
Boys of the Old Brigade. Vocal Club.
Mendelssohn Male Quartet.
Tempted. Vocal Club.
Sitting Round the Fire. Vocal Club.
A Stein Song. Vocal Club.
Lowell Vocal Club, Mendelssohn Male Quartet and the Board of Trade.
Mr. Wilfred Kershaw, Accompanist.

President Marden
At the conclusion of the singing which had left everybody in a most enthusiastic state of mind, President Marden introduced the introductory speech of the evening. He spoke briefly but pertinently referring to the very special importance of the occasion and touching lightly on side lights of the board of trade since its organization. He said that 25 years ago it was a thriving body and announced that two of the charter members, Mr. A. G. Pollard and Mr. Patrick O'Brien, sat at the head table. He also expressed his satisfaction at the great attendance and the spirit that prevailed, making the celebration the largest of its kind and one of the best in the history of the board of trade.

Mr. Marden introduced as the first speaker of the evening Mr. Hamilton Holt, of New York, editor of the Independent, a noted scholar and orator and one of the most ardent workers in the country for universal peace. Mr. Holt was once decorated by the emperor of Japan for his work in bringing about better international relations.

Mr. Holt's Speech
I am very glad that your president in his kind introduction was kind enough to remember that I am the editor of the Independent. I have a journal to attack my enemies. I can

Physician's Prescription
For Indigestion

Important for All Those Who Suffer
After Eating

If you suffer from indigestion after eating and find that instead of the one little person you need you have three to stop it, it's time you called a halt and did some hard thinking.

The plain truth is that there are thousands of men and women in this country whose stomachs are dead or dying from lack of exercise while they themselves still live. They can't go on eating much longer. It's wonderful to think that the powerful drug compressed in a pill will even for a little while do the work of a human stomach. But no pill was ever made that could do it for long.

A dead stomach can be brought to life but a slowly dying stomach can and must or its owner must soon follow. Years ago a famous physician wrote the prescription for Mi-na-na Stomach Tablets and thousands owe their very life to them today. Most stomach remedies work on the food and digest it. Mi-na-na works on the stomach and digests nothing. Mi-na-na Tablets strengthen the stomach walls, stimulate the stomach muscles and vitally the stomach machinery into full and normal action. The stomach starts at once to churn its food and normal, painless digestion follows. All leading druggists in Lowell and throughout New England are selling Mi-na-na Tablets, agreeing to refund money in any case where it does not do these two things. First, in ten minutes give relief from heartburn, gas, belching, acidity, sour flatulence. Second, in thirty days completely renovate, cleanse and strengthen the stomach so it can do its own work without aid of any kind. Buy your own druggist. Buy a bottle today. combat my traducers, but Heaven preserve me from my traducers. You all know about Theodore Roosevelt and his return from the jungle, his visit to Norway, his capture of the Nobel peace prize, and his subsequent visit to Germany, where a sham-battle was fought for his decoration. Later, he said to a friend of mine that he wanted a senate at Washington to make arbitration treaties and a house to build battleships.

Some of the great souls of the world have believed war to be a necessity. Professor James said war was the shame of history. Our only living Shakespeare—Geo. Bernard Shaw—says nothing is ever done unless men are prepared to kill each other if it isn't done.

I know of only three valid arguments in favor of peace. The first is that familiar and fallacious old notion that the engines of war have lately become so terrible that man cannot stand against them. This war has evidently nullified that argument, for man has stood the test of Zepplins and of the submarines, the great howitzers and all. The idea that war has been abolished by fear is shown to be wholly untrue, and that we can ever influence men against war by fear I do not believe. If we really need more engines of war I believe we should build them, but I do not believe this work should proceed in hysterical fashion.

All nations are friendly to us at the present time. Possibly Japan may be in your thoughts as potentially hostile, but I am convinced that Japan will do anything we ask her to, provided she can do so with dignity. Moreover, even assuming that any nations are inclined to be hostile, the present war will leave them so exhausted that they could never keep pace with our own preparation for battle.

As to battleships, there is some evidence that they are things of the past. Forts now require defending instead of being a defense, submarines and airplanes perhaps are more in line with the future. The great nations are inclined to be hostile, the present war will leave them so exhausted that they could never keep pace with our own preparation for battle.

The first great real argument for peace is the old one—"Thou shalt not kill." Lowell was right when he said, "As for war, I call it murder." That truly is the unanswerable argument. Further, it is calculated that ten thousand millions of dollars will be spent on this war—perhaps even more. It takes $2000 to kill a man in this war, and civilization cannot stand that. Norman Angell has shown that the loser in any war of the kind is the loser in any war of the kind. Suppose you conquer people and wish to trade with the conquered state. Benjamin Franklin showed us years ago that the poorest way to get a customer was to hit him on the head. We cannot grasp the meaning of this war. Nor is it a matter of men alone. All wars are primarily waged against women and children, who cannot fight. If there are 500,000 men killed, there are as many women who will match them. They are thrown into the street as the natural consequence, and they die a living death. For the men not married who are killed there are women who must marry inferiors if they marry at all.

The peace movement must not hereafter be an anti-war movement—it must be a pro-peace movement. It must aim at the substitution of law for war. Before we can have anything like a real code of international law making for peace, we must have a conscience built up in the nations concerned to guarantee universal respect for that law, and we must organize, politically, the world itself. The world has been able to substitute law for war within the nations, in domestic and police, but as yet it is done between the nations in their international relations. Not until the people rule, with kings pushed into the background, will eternal peace prevail.

The extension of democracy must be done by the several parties in the various countries. The United States today is the greatest league for peace known to history. The Hague court has been used 16 times to prevent war, which is a real accomplishment. We cannot hope to do it all at once. How can we stop this war, and how prevent its recurrence? Mr. Bryan wisely says if the United States calls a congress of the various neutral nations, the caucus of that congress would have to be respected; and with the prejudices of the nations existing, this may not be the practical way to work at this time. But the time will come when something of this kind may develop, and we shall be the nation to take the lead. Indeed the time is already come to organize a peace movement by co-operation. It is our duty to talk down war, discourage it. The militarists and pacifists often forget that force is to be used in three ways—either the force of the police, which is a necessary force, or the force of aggression which is not necessary; or as of defense, which is necessary only when aggression first exists. I can see no objection to a league of force as a police—and we should accustom ourselves to think of it in that way alone.

I believe a league of peace should be formed with the disarmament plan of the United States on the one hand and the armament plan of England on the other; by which I mean that we should agree to a disarmament among the nations, but still keep force enough to oppose any combination that might be brought against the disarmed league. Let the league of peace disarm down to the point where its remaining engines of destruction are just enough to meet possible all-instances of those nations that remain medievalized. This might be started by the United States, France, Italy and England. The others would sooner or later have to come to it, because their own people would force them to. The leading thinkers in this country have endorsed some such idea; and if we think it and talk it long enough it will come. Already the United States has done more than any other nation to establish an arbitration system for the future of permanent peace, and more will yet be done.

We ought to be thankful that we have a president here who will meet our great international questions in the right spirit. Mr. Wilson has prevented war with Mexico and he may yet be the means of doing far more. He may do for the world what Washington did for the United States, adding to our Declaration of Independence a world-wide Declaration of Interdependence.

The address of Mr. Holt was followed with the closest attention and at the close the applause was prolonged and hearty.

A. W. Douglas
Mr. A. W. Douglas, of St. Louis, Missouri, was the next speaker, his subject being: "Fundamental conditions and the spirit of the people in the west and south as affecting the business outlook." His speech was mostly a message of business optimism and the need for the cultivation of resources, backed up with facts gleaned personally from all sections of the country. Mr. Douglas has about 700 agents whose chief concern is to keep him in touch with business affairs in all sections and, as he remarked last evening at the close of his address, he is ready at all times to support by positive proof any facts he states.

Last evening he touched specifically on the railroad situation and declared that a better public spirit towards them is growing. He also said that coal mining is improving and that the Colorado feuds are a thing of the past.

Hon. John N. Cole
Hon. John N. Cole of Andover and Boston was the next speaker. Before coming to the subject of his address he spoke in most complimentary terms of the anniversary program, referring to the speakers and the splendid music under the direction of Mr. Brown. He told of the time when the entire Merrimack valley was thrilled by the music of J. A. Baker and hoped that a like condition would prevail under Mr. Brown's leadership. Mr. Cole's subject was: "Tying New England to the World," and he dealt with it in the foreword and convincing manner which served him so well as speaker of the house in the Massachusetts legislature. He said, in part:

"In New England, taxation, transportation and legislation, are obstacles. Legislation in Massachusetts has gone farther than in any other state, and too frequently it has become a handicap. I believe there is a great call for courage at the state house. You can't help these wheels turning in Lowell unless you watch other cities with laws just as equitable as those applying here. In my opinion we won't get the right level of the taxation problem until we come to taxation of land value, because it produces."

"Boston is the market place of New England. Massachusetts has spent $1,000,000 for water transportation to aid Boston, which with other appropriations aggregates $17,000,000, but there has been no development in the matter of marine facilities commensurate with the enormous expenditure. Two millions were expended on the fishery but with results there was no accommodation to ship fish, and you people of Lowell paid the extra cost."

"Today there is no adequate tying link between Lowell and the ports of South America. From the North station to the South station you can find little accommodation. It will take you five days to get across Boston if you have a pull, and if you haven't, it will take you a week to make connections. You have got to see a link built between North and South stations before you can hope to make any progress in exportation."

"We must impart courage to our legislators that they may stand in the shoes and be counted for measures that will give relief to the people who so much need it. I feel that the Lowell board of trade is doing a great work, and I want to say that its efforts to improve traffic by the opening of the Merrimack river, are helpful in many ways. This move speaks a lively organization—a type that can do much to promote prosperity and improve conditions generally in New England."

ANOTHER ALL NIGHT SESSION ON SHIP BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Another all night session of the senate left President Wilson's ship bill being tossed about in a sea of debate with the republican filibuster again in full blast.

The president at a White House conference today said he had no intention of dropping the bill and intimated that he would call a special session if it was filibustered to death at the present one. The senate republicans declared again they were opposed to talk indefinitely until March 4. Some indications of the wearing effects of the long, hard fight were coming out in the senate, however, and Senator Reed, one of the administration democrats proposed an amendment in short to be proposed to bring every one of the 55 senators into the chamber and keep them there until the bill is disposed of. His proposal drew a roaring attack and gave prospect of furnishing material for an all night debate. Meanwhile the ship bill itself was waiting, virtually where it has been for the last two weeks.

At noon the senate had been in session 24 hours and Senator Kern, the democratic leader, was declaring any motion to adjourn would be stoutly deflected. He said there would be no more breathing spells and no let-up until the deadlock was broken.

At that hour every member of the body was on the floor. It was the first time in years that all the seats had been filled. Debate and Senator Reed's proposal was being thrashed with indications of some sort of closure if the deadlock continued.

Sen. Lodge Appeared
Vice President Marshall finally, interrupting debate, asked that inasmuch as Senator Reed's original proposal was not debatable the appeal was not debatable. From that ruling Senator Lodge appeared and the senate by a vote of 46 to 38 refused to sustain the chair. The insurance democrats voted with the republicans as did Senator Bryan, democrat, of Florida. Senator Norris, republican, voted with his party but Senator La Follette, republican, stood by the democrats.

Following that vote the vice president with unanimous consent decreed that all intervening motions had been decided and the question before the senate was Senator Reed's order to compel continuous attendance and that the motion was debatable.

Senator Hitchcock then took up the debate, speaking on his substitute. He thought democrats who did not believe in a caucus had not been treated fairly.

Proceedings a Bureaucratic Senator O'Gorman in a denunciation of the conduct of the senate's business said:

"The proceedings of this senate within the last week have been a burlesque on constitutional government."

POLICE COURT SESSION NORMAN B. REAM DEAD

Mary A. Fournier, the woman arrested by Inspector Walsh for the larceny of $3 from Mrs. Snowman, pleaded guilty to the charge in police court. The woman broke down and wept when her case was called for trial.

Judge Enright was convinced of the woman's sincerity this morning and felt very badly for her. The defendant was placed on probation for six months and promised that she would pay back her erstwhile landlady.

Henry Farland pleaded guilty to the larceny of an overcoat yesterday from the house at No. 4 Tyler street. The coat belonged to George A. Millette.

At the time of his arrest Farland was also in possession of a pair of shoes. The shoes were new and contained the brand name of the shoes. Farland was paid for the shoes and shoes, but the police were skeptical about it.

Judge Enright continued the case for sentence until Saturday. In the meantime the officers will try to discover who owns the shoes.

For Drunkenness
William Arnault, although only a young chap, appeared this morning as a third timer within a year for drunkenness. Arnault was with a companion last night, it appears, and together the pair made the going pretty lively up around Moody street.

Judge Enright sentenced Arnault to the house of correction for a four months term. His companion, a lad of 18 years, the court severely lectured and then released.

Frank M. Donovan received short shift at the hands of Judge Enright this morning. Donovan was charged with drunkenness and pleaded guilty to the charge. Four months to the house of correction.

To Return to Lakeport
James Fox lives in Lakeport, N. H., but he comes to this city once in awhile and the Lowell atmosphere seems to have a bad effect upon him.

Judge Enright asked him if he thought he could return to Lakeport and stay out of Lowell. There was no hesitation in his manner of reply. He can stay out of Lowell, all right, if he told the truth today. He was placed under a suspended sentence which will go into effect if he returns.

James O'Hearn had a similar experience to that of Fox. O'Hearn has been from Fall River and it was also his second drunken offense in Lowell. He was sentenced to take the home-ward trail and was accordingly released.

Edmund Piche and Alexander Clairmont, both third offenders, were sent to jail for three months. John P. Riley, on a non-support charge, was ordered to pay his wife $5 per week, and placed on probation.

CITIZENS-AMERICANS CLUB
The members of the Citizens-Americans club in Middle street will observe the 17th anniversary of the founding of the organization tomorrow evening. The affair will be held in the well appointed quarters of the club and will be in the form of a complimentary concert and dance.

The affair will be free for all members and their families and friends and it is expected a large gathering will be on hand. The concert and dance will be held in the upper meeting hall, while the other rooms of the club will be reserved for the men.

WESTFORD TOWN MEETING
Westford's annual town meeting was held in the town hall, yesterday. Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher was moderator and about all of the articles on the warrant were adopted. The article providing for the purchase of the Westford Water Co. was dismissed. The sum of $100 was voted for the distribution of library books in Granvilleville, Parkerville and Forge Village. Harry L. Scamlin was elected tree warden. Stephen Garfield was chosen constable over John A. Sullivan. Fred E. Blodgett defeated Joseph Wall for overseer. The other town officials elected were:

Clerk, Charles L. Hildreth; selectman, Frank L. Furusho; assessor, J. Austin Healey; treasurer, Harold L. Wright; overseer of the poor for one year, Charles L. Hildreth. This election was to fill a vacancy; collector of taxes, Leonard W. Wheeler; auditor, Edward C. Pradley; school committee, Charles L. Hildreth, Arthur E. Wilson, trustee of the library, Julian A. Cameron; commissioner of burial grounds, Wesley O. Hawkes.

The appropriations voted were: Public Library, $1000; public burial grounds, $175; roads and bridges, $1000; town debts and charges, $6300; support of poor, $1100; public schools, $10,150; high school, $3100; school district books and supplies, $750; salary of superintendent of schools, $1225; repairs and maintenance of school houses, $1000; food department, $500; fire department, $500; new law and apparatus for fire department, $1000; medical inspection in schools, $100; Memorial day, $100; distribution of library books, $100; electric lights, $2200; hydrants, $1000; new and used, $1500; state and county tax, $4500.

The sum of $2000 was voted for the relocation and repair of the Acton highway, and it was voted to ask the highway commission to make the Acton road a state highway.

The finance committee, George T. Day, Julian A. Cameron, Wesley O. Hawkes, Elbert H. Hays and Herbert L. Hildreth, was re-elected.

The town remained in the no-license column by a vote of 15 to 11.

FAVOR STATE UNIVERSITY
BOSTON, Feb. 9.—The establishment of a state university was favored by representatives of many labor organizations before the legislative committee on education today. The state board of education has reported adversely. The labor men claimed that a state institution would give the poor man an equal opportunity with the rich and place the rap stone on an educational system now left somewhat incomplete by the high schools.

TRY THIS FOR NEURALGIA
Thousands of people keep on suffering with neuralgia because they do not know what to do for it. Neuralgia is a pain in the nerves. What you want to do is to soothe the nerve itself. Apply Sloan's Liniment to the surface over the painful part—do not put it in. Sloan's Liniment penetrates very quickly to the sore irritated nerve and allays the inflammation. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment at 25 cents of Sloan's Liniment and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, lumbago, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief.

EXPOSITION A DREAM CITY COME TRUE

1.—Section of Palace of Horticulture. 2.—Court of Four Seasons. 3.—Colossal statue of Buddha, shown by Japan. 4.—New York state building. 5.—Portals of Education building. 6.—Oregon state building. 7.—Section of Palace of Education. 8.—Rendering of the isthmus. 9.—Tower of Jewels statue.

THIS is not a story of the Panama-Pacific International exposition. It is, at best, a word picture of the setting in which the visitor to the grounds after the formal opening of the fair Feb. 20 will view the collected achievements of the nations.

Nestling against the green background of Presidio hill, with the waters of the bay as its western boundary, the pastel colored buildings lie—parapet and tower and dome, rose and cream and shadowed blue, old gold and bronzed green, reminiscent of Spain at its most beautiful period. To this have been added the charm of Venice, the mirrored reflection in canal, lagoon and lake. Nature and the cunning of those who had the task of construction in hand have combined to cause the grounds to appear century old, with all the softened beauty of permanency and age.

One goes to the fair prepared for the usual glare of unrelieved imitation white marble—a glorified version of Coney Island—and one finds within a few blocks of the business center of San Francisco proper a city of another age in another world—a dream city come true; palaces which might have been built for the kings of Spain in days long past, had their subjects ever attained the appreciation of the Romans for the beautiful in architecture and sought to express it in their own way.

There are hedges, real box hedges, twenty and thirty feet high and of correct proportions in depth, which by the magic of necessity and modern horticultural witchcraft spring up overnight and flourish thereafter. There are flowers and ferns and palms from every corner of the globe about and above one, exotics planted in a rich loam brought from the Sacramento valley to insure their well being. And the pillars of the palely tinted marble are mossy and soft, as are all true pillars of centuries past which touch the waters at their bases. It is as if California foresaw this fair before white men came to our continent and builded that all might be ready when the twentieth century arrived.

Nothing has been overlooked in the determination of those who are in charge to retain this impression of permanency. The Midway (for since the famous avenue of fun at Chicago all others have been called Midways by the public) is situated well on the outskirts of the grounds in order that the more brilliant lighting necessary in this vicinity may not interfere with the carefully subdued effects in the actual grounds. There is no tendency toward "cramping" the buildings; the effect and identity of each are sedulously retained by the broad avenues and courts.

Eleven Main Exhibition Palaces.

There are in all eleven main exhibition palaces grouped about the great courts. In the center lies the Court of Universe, opening to the east into the Court of Abundance and to the west into the Court of the Four Seasons. Famous artists have contributed to the effectiveness of these broad, grassy stretches by providing symbolic statues, which, mounted on the huge arches and about the fountains, make concrete the abstract ideas of the architects. The whole is a memorable achievement, and the opening of the grounds will mark the realization of California's dream, a dream of properly commemorating the importance of America's gift to the world the great canal which today unites the east and the west.

A massive statue of Buddha, a hundred feet high, will stand at the entrance to "Japan Beautiful," a miniature Japan with all the beauty and characteristics of the Country of the Rising Sun. It will be one of the most striking exhibits.

Most interesting of "Japan Beautiful" will be the trip to Japan. In the very body of the huge Buddha the visitors will be taken on a sight seeing trip to the orient. By newly patented electrical and mechanical devices the scenery will be reproduced in detail. As the visitors step out of an eighteen feet escalator they will find themselves on the deck of a trans-Pacific steamer. They will be taken from San Francisco harbor, passing by the exposition grounds out into the Pacific ocean. The magnificent view of the exposition from the sea is exactly reproduced. Touching at Honolulu, visitors will see the tropical life, divers and native youths riding the surf. Arriving at Yokohama a short trip to Tokyo is made. From Yokohama the ship goes to Kobe and through inland sea to Nagasaki, and thence to Shanghai and Hongkong.

Splendid State Buildings.
The New York state building is a mansion. It cost $200,000. It has twelve rooms for servants, is four stories high, has twenty chambers for the state commissioners, a suit for the governor, a meeting room for the board, an oval reception room for women, a ball room, men and women's reception rooms, dining room, private dining rooms and a kitchen equipped with $3,000 worth of the latest appliances.

The Oregon building is in the style of the Parthenon, and the pillars are of Oregon giant logs. All the lumber for this building was sent from Oregon forests and was sawed and planed on the exposition grounds. The tallest flag pole in the world stands on the Oregon site as the gift of the citizens of Astoria, Ore.

All of the state buildings are splendid structures and add to the general attractiveness of the exposition.

SUNDAY LIKE RACE HORSE CHAMPING AT BIT

Photos by American Press Association.

MR. AND MRS. BILLY SUNDAY.

I HONESTLY don't know what to think of Billy Sunday. I am willing to be convinced that he is sincere in his purpose, but he impresses me with the feeling that he is more anxious to have a reputation for sending a long list of recruits to God than honestly to save one soul. For three-quarters of an hour I sat within three feet of him and watched him closely as he greeted some 3,000 persons, and I failed to see the kindness I expected in a man with such a great purpose, says Eva Nagel Wolf in the Philadelphia Press.

His eyes are cold and absolutely impersonal; his mouth is the only part of his face that is alive. He has a curious way of wetting his upper lip with his tongue and at the same time giving a keen, searching glance as if on the lookout for another person who needed to be convinced that his conscience was asleep.

His personality is not pleasing to me. The very fact that he is always on the alert, that his nervous energy is so much in evidence, would make him a trying person to be with any length of time. In his face one does not find the warmth of feeling that radiates from that of Mrs. Sunday, who is of the unselfish, motherly type.

Like a race horse champing at the bit, crazy to be off, is Billy Sunday waiting for the noise to die down before beginning one of his lectures. Each muscle seems to be connected with a cell of live wires.

His words are forceful, if crude, but it is his acting and eloquence that carry every word that the man has to say to each individual in the audience. I am not sure even yet that his is a dominating personality. I first think it is his eloquence, seconded by as fine acting as is seen on any stage. He races up and down the platform, and when it grows too small he capers over the reporters' desks with such force that one wonders if he will put on the shortstop in time to save the people crouching on the sawdust below.

He is like Peter Pan in one way only—he has not grown up, for he is still a boy in many respects and, like a boy, takes a deal of pride in his own achievements. After he has told a particularly funny story he awaits the applause and appreciation that he thinks are due him. He seems pleased with the very fact that he works himself into a perspiration and wipes it from his brow with the old gesture of the ball player, that all may see how hard he is working. And perspire he does! Perspiration rains off his face, drenches his handkerchief and stains his light gray suit in a huge spot between the shoulders. Oh, no, Billy Sunday does not spare himself. He is fussy about many little things—for instance, he always insists on a white reading desk, loathes being interrupted and becomes quite peevish when any one in the audience coughs.

There is no doubt that he is essentially a man's man. His greeting of men is more whole hearted, in fact, than it is with women, with whom he is a bit shy—that is, if one could ever call Billy Sunday shy. He is not a large man as size goes, but his wiry body has enough nervous energy to make up for any lack of height. This man has not the sensitiveness of the thinker; he is a doer of the sledge hammer type, as his handshake would signify.

His devotion to his wife, who watches over him like a mothering hen, is marked. He appeals to her on all occasions for advice, for she is truly his manager.

HARD TO KEEP ROUMANIA OUT OF WAR

THE new king of Roumania couldn't very well have come to the throne at a more difficult time. If Roumania contrives to keep clear of the war it will be something like a miracle as one will see by looking at the map of Europe. Roumania has as neighbors Russia on the east, Austria and Servia on the west and Bulgaria on the south, with Turkey not so far away.

Roumania is a country that always had to fight for its existence, partly because until within the last century the throne did not necessarily pass to the eldest son of a king. All sons were eligible and the country has the right to choose its king from among them. As a result the people quarreled among themselves as to which particular son should be placed upon the throne, and very often neighboring kingdoms were asked to take a hand in the struggle.

The new king and queen own what are probably the simplest symbols of monarchy belonging to any civilized kingdom, for the queen's crown is a plain little circlet of gold, while the king's is of iron, having been made by order of the late king from part of the metal of a Turkish gun taken at Plevna. To be a popular king in a country like Roumania one must first of all be democratic.

The present queen is a British princess. Her father, the late Duke of Edinburgh (afterward Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha), was the second son of Queen Victoria, and Princess Marie, as she then was, was only seventeen when Prince Ferdinand came a-wooing.

A good many English folk disapproved strongly of the idea of such a "mere child" being allowed to wed. Even Queen Victoria, it is said, protested, but the duke answered all protests by saying, "She will marry the man I choose now; later on she might expect to choose for herself."

High up in the Carpathian mountains Queen Marie has a beautiful highland home at Sinaia, and she is never so happy as when entertaining her friends there. All sorts of outdoor sports are the order of the day, and in the house the queen nearly always appears dressed in the quaint national costume that so well becomes her. This has naturally enough caused a great revival in peasant industries through the country.

The national dress is probably more worn in Roumania than in any other country in the world. Even many of the quite poor peasants possess most beautifully embroidered hand worked robes, which have been handed down as heirlooms and are worn on special occasions.

Every one, from the highest to the lowest, seems to have a good word to say for Queen Marie. She certainly works hard for the people whose country she has adopted and does much for the peasants, whom she is always trying to help in some way or another.

On her marriage she was presented with a large sum of money by the women of Roumania. The money was to be used to buy herself a wedding gift. But in acknowledging it she said that, with the permission of the donors, she would put it aside and, when she had discovered the needs of her adopted country, use it for the good of the Roumanian women.

The money was duly invested and ten years later was used to found a school of household economy, which has ever since been doing most excellent work.

At this school girls learn to house-keep, to wait at table, do cookery and accounts. Marketing, laundry work, the making and mending of linen and the making of their own clothes are also taught, and they are turned out really capable women.

The king and queen have six children. The eldest son, Prince Carol, is now twenty-one. Next comes Princess Elizabeth, who is said to be the prettiest princess in Europe, and two other girls and two more boys complete the family. WALTON WILLIAMS.

EXTENSION OF EDUCATION

The principle of the educational extension policy proposed by Governor Walsh, to make the higher education of all who aspire to it possible, has already commended itself to thousands of Massachusetts citizens and as it takes concrete shape it is attracting the favorable attention of most of the leading educators in the state. Last Saturday 25 representative educators, representing the best known colleges and universities of the state, had a conference with Governor Walsh which resulted in their espousal of the movement in the heartiest spirit. The large committee of educators said that they would gladly help the governor by every possible means in getting his ideas before the public and incorporating them into law. Thus the movement becomes practically as well as theoretically advisable.

The university extension plan which Governor Walsh wishes wisely to put in the hands of the state board of education aims at providing educational opportunities for those who are now obliged to leave school for industrial tasks at an early age and also for adults who, at any age, may wish to take up advanced academic or technical branches. However it may work out in practice—and it promises to work out well—its possibilities can be realized readily. As Governor Walsh expressed it to the educators at the recent conference, referring specifically to the correspondence school phase of the question: "The correspondence work should not be merely of university grade; men and boys who have no more than a common school education should be provided with the information and means to rise to higher positions in the shops in which they are employed as mechanics. And these courses should be of such wide range that the office boy, as well as the bank official, would have free instruction."

The advantages of correspondence schools are already apparent in the results accomplished in all parts of the country by privately owned and controlled institutions, founded for selfish, if worthy, ends. These may be situated in the west or some other remote section but they find little difficulty in enrolling thousands of students in all parts of New England, and at a figure that is by no means slight. This of itself would prove that there is a wide field for wise state activity in educational fields, for it is a worthy object to facilitate the spread of higher education among those who aspire to it but who may be barred by poverty or the tasks of a disheartening routine existence.

A college or university extension plan in this state could do far more to raise the general educational standard than any number of privately managed correspondence schools or kindred institutions. First, of all, there would be an incentive to thousands to take advantage of the state offer, and again, the education could be provided free or the cost might be made so slight as to prove no bar to the aspiring. Lecturers could be provided systematically and the correspondence school idea could be avoided to the full. Then free scholarships could be established for worthy pupils of more than ordinary ability or ambition who might not be able to secure advanced education without state aid. The state has every right to aid the worthy and the return to the community would be a hundredfold, in higher standards and in the increased loyalty of its citizens.

Now that the suggestion of Governor Walsh has progressed beyond the theoretical state and has received the unqualified approval of leading educators and the state board of education, it is desirable that it should crystallize in wise and prudent legislation. The governor has selected five of the large committee to aid him in drafting the terms of the bill and he can depend on the earnest support and cooperation of practically all the college heads in the commonwealth. The result should be such that the legislature will place no bars in the way but will open the doors of educational opportunity to all our people, and gladden the hearts of thousands of ambitious boys and girls who would see in the new laws the opportunity to achieve their laudable ambitions and the key that would open the door to future happiness and prosperity.

SHORTAGE OF SHIPS

Assuming that both sides at Washington are acting in good faith in their respective support of and opposition to the shipping bill of the administration, why cannot they agree on some constructive policy that would relieve the situation? Acting in good faith this ought not to be very difficult. That it is proving difficult is an arrangement of the motives of some side, and this side is the side opposed to the president. Meantime, while they argue and make partisan plays before a manacled country, business finds itself confronted with a situation for which as yet there is no promise of relief.

The lack of shipping has been advanced many times recently as the real reason for the partial stagnation of industry and the depression of business generally and it is now held responsible for some of the high prices. Undoubtedly the abnormal freight and ocean transportation rates have caused a general rise in food commodities that are exported and the scarcity of imported products has a like effect. Sugar is going up, with a likelihood of still higher prices and the explanation given is that it is almost impossible to get ships to bring sugar to this country, owing to the tying up of ships in all parts of the world.

The vice-president of the American sugar refining company is reported to have said a few days ago to a representative of a Boston paper: "It is difficult to say just when this tonnage situation will improve, but just as soon as enough ships can be obtained we will get normal shipments and the price will naturally go down again." Though this referred only to one commodity, it holds true of the whole situation. With sufficient ships we could send out our manufactured goods and natural products to all the ports of the world and bring in return all the foreign commodities we need. Yet the government seems powerless to relieve the situation, opposed as it is by selfish capitalists, mistaken patriots and powerful private interests which have good reason to fear the shipping bill of the administration.

THE FLAG INCIDENT

Though it is not as yet certain that the British admiralty ordered the flying of the American flag by the Lusitania as a means of protection against possible German attacks, there is a disposition among those who speak of the matter in England to assert England's right to fly the flag of any neutral power, according to international usage. That this view is upheld by be injured by a policy that has many undesirable phases.

PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITY

From week to week the number of juvenile criminals in this and neighboring cities who are brought before the courts seems to be increasing, and undoubtedly but a fraction of the entire number of offenders gets into the toils of the law. Many suggestions have been made to remedy the situation which as yet remains unchanged. The Lynn News, referring to a bill which has been introduced in the legislature by Senator Bates which will make parents responsible for the acts of wayward and delinquent minors, says:

"The present method of handling juvenile delinquents is not producing the results hoped for, notwithstanding the optimistic opinions of some estimable gentlemen as to its workings. Parental responsibility has been lost, and the moral effect of the police force, which used to be efficient in cases of this sort, has been entirely wiped out, but through no fault of the force itself, for it finds itself debauched from handling cases of this sort with anything like even mild admonition. If penalizing parents in the event of their children turning petty thieves and malicious mischief makers will bring home to them some sense of responsibility for the care of their offspring, then the new law is to be welcomed."

This might eventually be found desirable, but it should be resorted to only when other remedies have failed. A more direct reform would be to do away with the technicalities which now surround the child with an undesirable protection and to let the police department deal with the offender not as a delinquent who must be coddled to and given a mild reproof but a young criminal who must be punished for his offense in proportion to its gravity. Yet, where property has been stolen, destroyed or injured by juveniles, it does not seem proper that the owner should have no redress, if the parents are in a position to make reparation.

AMERICA FIRST

The idea seems to be growing that the federal government should speedily take a hand in the wheat situation to prevent selfish manipulators from inflicting needless suffering on the American public by an embargo on exports or a prohibitive tax. It is undoubtedly the laudable intention of those foreign governments, belligerent and neutral, who can obtain cargoes of wheat, to pile it up against possible future emergencies, but that is no reason why the American public should suffer. Last year saw this country blessed with the greatest crops known in our history and our government did everything possible to help the agricultural interests dispose of their abundant products. Now that heartless speculators seem to have cornered the supply and sent the price soaring, the situation has reached a point where it may bring hunger and suffering to great numbers of our own people. Whether the manipulations of the wheat jugglers be within the law or against the law, there is no good reason why the price of wheat and consequently of flour should go up in this country.

A despatch yesterday told that the British losses in the west have been over 100,000. When the French, Belgian and German losses are considered, the result is appalling. During the time of this slaughter most of the reports from the front told that nothing of any consequence had occurred. The gaining of a trench is a wonderful thing just now, but the killing of a few paltry thousands—pshaw—what does that amount to?

Uncle Sam is confronted with a most peculiar situation. England intimates that he has no right to purchase German ships in order to send his merchandise all over the world and Germany hints that he is taking chances in sending his goods to England. Seems as though he ought to put a little gun cotton in his ears, look over his law books carefully and then attend to his own business in the way that seems best to himself.

Four masked men boarded a train in Florida recently and robbed mail passengers only. In olden days this would be called chivalry, but now it is called discrimination. A protest may be expected from some leading suffrage association. The practice of giving up a seat to a lady in a street car has already come under the ban.

Why is it, pray, that England may fly the Stars and Stripes on an English vessel while America may not fly the Stars and Stripes on a German vessel that she has bought and paid for? It is time there was a proper and definite understanding as to the use of neutral flags in war and especially the American flag.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out of sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look! Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, fretful, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs." and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they thereby lose its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Young men give me the definition of osculation? Bold John raised his hand. "Well, John, you may give it."

Highly delighted at the privilege, John arose, walked over to the teacher, and before she realized it, planted a kiss on her lips.

"What do you mean by doing that?" she demanded indignantly. "Give you what you asked for, didn't I?" responded John triumphantly. "You said you wanted a definition of osculation, and that is a kiss."

A LITTLE MOONSHINE February has no full moon and March will have two full moons. January, too, had two full moons. Also, there is the interesting fact that the first quarter of the year contains four full moons, these appearing in two of the months. If the plan of figuring works out, for according to mathematics, if two months contain four full moons, and there are twelve months in the year, then there must be twenty-four full moons this year. Or if we take it another way, there are four full moons for one quarter of the year, so there must be sixteen for the whole year. But neither of these plans of figuring work out, for according to the almanac, which ought to know, there are but 13 full moons this year, one more than the usual number, of course, and then not as many as one would expect to find from the first figures.

THE SNOW STORMS

A heavy snow storm like the one that we had early in the week must take considerable out of the profits of the local street railway companies. What with the extra men that must be employed, the extra power used, and other incidental expenses, there must be a hole made in the receipts of the day, even if the receipts do happen to be a little larger than on fair days—which they may not be. It also makes a big hole in the town and city appropriations for street departments, and highway surveys and the superintendents of streets who must be looking at their expenditures down to the lowest possible figure do not like to see these storms. However, those who have looked at it in another way and seen in the storm a chance to give some of the unemployed an opportunity to earn something, do not consider it an untimely evil.

A FAIR PROPOSITION

According to the story they are telling in New York, the German Kaiser was complimenting a soldier named Elstein, who had distinguished himself on the field of battle.

"I am told," so the Kaiser is quoted as saying, "that you are a very poor soldier, the only support of your aged parents. Because of your poverty you shall have your choice between taking the Iron Cross or 100 marks."

"Your Majesty," inquired the canny hero, "what is the cross worth in money?"

"Not much," said the emperor; "it is the honor that makes it valuable. It is perhaps worth two marks."

"Very well, then," said Private Elstein, drawing himself up to full height and saluting. "I will take the Iron Cross and 50 marks in cash!"

Saturday Evening Post.

THE SUFFERERS

Out of the smoke of the cannon that rages, out of the hall of the bullets that rise, out of the ashes and dust of the ages, rises the sound of the harsh battle-cry.

Out of the fields with their harvest of dead men, out of the forests made gloomy with the wail of the widow and orphan, asking again for the home made so dear.

Bliss on a throne they have placed Death, the Reaper, in his mailed hand is the sword.

"I am my brother's protector and keeper," glows on a shield that hangs over his head.

Low in the dust at his feet kneel the widows, giving their tribute of sorrow and pain.

Sobbing their prayers o'er the bodies of children—

Not are the tears that are falling like rain.

Heroes are made in a minute when they do brave deeds by the dozen—the score—

But of what help is the courage that, dying, drives the wolf from the lone cottage door?

Where is the comfort that comes from the knowledge That a whole nation will honor the dead?

When women's faces are shrunk and fear-strained.

And baby voices are asking for bread?

REVENUE FROM DIVORCE

Nevada is a state without much pride, we fear, for the news comes that the legislature is favorable to the six months' waiting period for divorce action. Easy money may be made, but Nevada's code, but why? There is money in quick divorce. All over the land are discontented couples who on one pretext or another desire to get rid of uncongenial bonds. Most states are not anxious for divorce business, and this fact is Nevada's opportunity. The demand for her services extends in every direction and who has only to open her doors to let in a rush of suitors that will fill her coffers.—Woonsocket Call.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

Saturday's conference of the governor with representatives of our leading educational institutions of Massachusetts, and with the state board of education, shows that the college presidents of Massachusetts are every whit as enthusiastic over the idea of university extension, as the governor himself is. The plans are to have the hearty support of our colleges, and that means that they are in the land of success. The legislature will do its part, in furnishing the comparatively small amount of money that will be needed for the purpose.—Boston Advertiser.

THE LUSITANIA CASE

The British admiralty, in a statement which we print conspicuously this morning, defends the captain of the Lusitania in sailing under false colors. But how he hoped to deceive anybody by doing so is not clear. His ship is too well-known and commanding a piece of oceanic traffic to be easily mistaken at this time. Especially incredulous would any hostile eye be over the appearance of the American flag on such a cruise in the trans-Atlantic commerce of the world.—Boston Herald.

POLES SUFFER

Poland is suffering quite as severely from the war as Belgium and the Poles are as much in need of assistance as the Belgians. The people of Springfield and surrounding cities should respond generously to the appeal that is being made today for the relief of the Polish war sufferers. Springfield men and women have interested themselves in the Polish flag day arrangements and there is abundant guarantee that all the money contributed will be used to good purpose.—Springfield Union.

INCOME TAX

March 1 is just three weeks ahead. Income tax payers will please take note, since March 1 is the last day for filing income tax returns for the year ending December 31, 1914. The wage man will prepare his schedule early, file it as soon as possible, and so avoid the inevitable last-day rush. And other necessary decisions have been made recently regarding various details of the income tax. Better get acquainted with these before you prepare your statement. The information is obtainable at the office of the collector of internal revenue, where returns must be filed.—Current Affairs.

THE SICKABED LADY

The cause of a fainting fit, says Nurse, may be fright, shock (even of pleasure), pain, or anything else, but the result is interference with the circulation. The blood leaves the brain, and unconsciousness immediately follows.

Obviously the right course is to get the blood back to the brain. The patient should be laid flat, without even a pillow under the head. All clothing should be loosened, especially about the neck and waist.

If the unconsciousness persists for more than a few minutes, heat should be applied to the feet, but care must be taken that the hot water bottle is not against the bare flesh, nor hot enough to cause a burn.

Something the invalid will appreciate—if you like to carry a little gift with you when you make a visit to the sick room—is a bouillon set for the tempting service of broth and beef-tea.

The set includes a low bowl of decorated china, thick enough to protect the heat of the broth on the journey upstairs from the kitchen, and salt and pepper receptacles to match.

The bowl is also provided with a cover which also helps to keep the contents piping hot, and the attractive bouillon set fits into a small tray with a decorative coloring and decorated china bottom, suggests Nurse.

The Nurse prescribes the consumption of as much bread as possible after swallowing a piece of glass. The bread forms a jelly-like shell around the fragment and often allows it to pass harmlessly. The effect is to prevent the fragment from acting as a general irritant and apt to cause cuts.

If the glass fragment is large, she says send for the nearest doctor and continue the bread-eating until his arrival.

In case of a severe burn, she directs to suck the air from the burned part with a thin paste made with water and cooking soda, starch, or flour. Smear on a cloth and cover the injured surface. If these are not at hand, use vaseline, lard, cream, or any clean grease, or olive oil. Do not use old grease or dirty grease.

Nurse has noticed that many persons find that some light fruit taken directly before going to bed induces comfortable and sound sleep. Limes and lemons are stomach sedatives. Apples, either baked or uncooked, are said to promote sleep. A hot bath is good in extreme cases a rubber bag filled with broken ice placed at the back of the neck and a hot-water bag at the feet to equalize the circulation will have almost immediate effect.

Gentle exercise just before going to bed, she says, will often have the desired effect. Bend the head slowly forward as far as possible, then as far back as possible. Count twenty with eyes on the ceiling. Repeat ten times.

Another exercise is to stand erect, raise slowly the right leg, bend the knee slowly. Do this forty or fifty times until you feel the contraction of the muscles of the leg. Sleep will soon come after this.

Sulphur has long been a favorite remedy of Nurse's for skin eruptions, because such eruptions were supposed to be the effect of impure blood and

A hustling automobile salesman has a fine chance to take over the agency of the well known car, the Paige-DeLorean. The company is looking for a live representative for Lowell and vicinity and is prepared to make the right man an interesting proposition. The auto editor will assist in every way possible anyone who would like to examine into the matter.

It seems that the prices of tires are on the downward glide according to the interesting announcement made in The Sun a few days ago by the Fisk Rubber company. This considerable reduction in prices on both casings and tubes has been made possible by the lower cost of crude rubber, resulting from increased supplies from the far East, assured since the raising of Fisk production. Mr. Beharrell, local manager of the Fisk, says: "In accordance with our protective policy, we will rebate the difference in your cost on any Fisk casings or tubes (first) on hand, purchased from us within sixty days prior to February 1st, serial number inventory to accompany claims which should be sent to our branch.

A. B. Hovey, of the Hovey auto livery, has been quite busy serving the people who have had need of his machines during the past few days. The inclement weather has brought his cars into great demand. Harry Pitts has had his Oakland touring car overhauled by the clerks in his employ, thus giving them practical experience of the inner working of an automobile.

Today the Donovan Harness Co. reminds the autoist that he should remember a reliable house when looking for one. This company has established more than a local name in the upholstery line.

With the coming of an early spring the local auto livery men are happy with the expectation of a big increase of business from the public who will be calling on them to furnish their cars for pleasure trips. Lowell has some very up-to-date auto liveries, each of which have a number of cars of different styles with careful drivers ever alert and prompt.

THE AMERICAN AUTO ABROAD

The remarkable increase in popularity of the medium-priced American car abroad is especially marked in localities which, until a year or two ago had been supplied almost entirely with cars of foreign manufacture. Although the outbreak of war in Europe has brought this fact into particular prominence by developing the foreign market for America even more rapidly, the general excellence of the American car was already making itself felt long before hostilities started.

The realization of the full extent to which the English car has been ousted from South Africa had come to John Bull before this year. Since the start of war, practically all of the cars sold in South America have been of American construction. It is declared that although the closing of the English factories, brought about by the war, forced the South Africans to call on America for their cars, the same ultimate result was simply a matter of comparatively few years.

MANY PAIGE MOTOR CARS SOLD

More than a half million dollars worth of Paige motor cars were sold at the recent Chicago Automobile Show. This is not only far in excess of the record made by the Paige at the New York Show, but, Paige officials believe, it is the best record yet made by any company in bona fide sales at any motor car show.

One of the astonishing features of this significant recognition of Paige quality and value is the fact that 263 Paige cars were sold at the Chicago Show exclusively by the Bird-Sykes company, Paige distributors for Chicago, and of these 263 cars 93 were sold at retail directly from the floor. Added to the sales by the Bird-Sykes company were large orders taken in Chicago by other Paige dealers and distributors who were present and the total value of all orders was thus well over a half million dollars for the week's business.

While the new Paige "Six-46" was a hot favorite and its quality and distinction won for it wide popularity

AUTO INCREASES LAND VALUES. An angle of the automobile business which a great majority of the people of this country have failed to take into consideration is that of the increase in real estate values since the horse was relegated to the background by the motor car. There is no way of estimating this increase in dollars and cents, but it has been country-wide, from the congested city districts to the most remote farming territory. In the cities the elimination of the horse barn has added millions of dollars to the value of downtown real estate. For years past we have seen desirable manufacturing enterprises driven away from areas where horses were housed. It has been out of the question to attempt to build residences anywhere near territories where there are a number of stables. With the substitution of the automobile garage for the horse-barn, real estate values have increased by leaps and bounds, the added worth in some cases being as much as 100 per cent.

When arrested Farland had in his possession a pair of new shoes. Farland claims that he bought both shoes and overcoat.

IN CERTAIN LINES OF MANUFACTURES U. S. EXPORTS MADE PREVIOUS GAINS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Exports of American manufactures in December last reached the level shown in the same month in 1914, a decrease of ten per cent in finished manufactures being more than offset by gains in manufactured foodstuffs.

A statement by the department of commerce today shows that in certain lines of manufactures, however, exports made phenomenal gains compared with December a year ago. Among the more notable increases were:

Commercial autos from $101,000 to $2,352,000; cotton knit goods, $295,000 to over $2,000,000; woolen clothing, $153,000 to $1,235,000; other woolen goods including blankets $103,000 to $2,755,000; cent leather $33,000 to $3,800,000; upper leather $1,500,000.

An unusually large proportion of the exports are now going to Europe.

MOTORMAN TELLS OF SEA TRIP TO TROLLEY "ON THE OLD BILLERICA LINE"

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—"Deep sea going" cars that rock and pitch like a vessel in a storm were described to the Bay State railway arbitration board yesterday by Motorman Norris Power of Woburn. He told of his daily "voyages" over the Billerica line, and said that he was pretty well shaken, but never seasick. He is an ex-seller and believes that his sea legs are still standing by him when it comes to operating a single truck, deep sea going car from Woburn to Billerica.

He told of many experiences "on the old Billerica line" which proved highly amusing even to the officials of the road. During a snow storm a snow plow was sent out to bring a car back to the barn. After several hours it was necessary to send a wrecker out to bring the plow back and before the day was over a water car was hauled out to rescue the wrecker, plow and all. In the meantime 12 men shoveled snow in front of the whole outfit.

On one stretch, the witness testified, the cars go so slow that it is possible for passengers to get out, stretch their legs and then catch up with the car by a brisk walk.

Attorney James M. Swift, counsel for the Bay State road, interrupted here that it could not be a great deal of strain to operate on that line except a continual fear that the car would stop, to which the witness retorted that school children got in the way and the motormen have to stop their cars and ask the children to give them the right of way.

TO ADOPT NEW SCHEDULE

NATIONAL LEAGUE MEETING IN NEW YORK TODAY—TALK OF MANY TRADES

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—With the adoption of the 1915 playing schedule as the only stated business on its program, the National league met here today for what promised to develop into a general discussion of all questions affecting the welfare of organized baseball. Outside of the conference room the club managers gave early evidence of much trading in which both players and money were expected to figure.

Proposed changes in the circuit of the international league, one of which would place a club in the Bronx in the territory of the New York major league clubs was the matter that President John Towner indicated might be settled by owners of the local clubs.

Chairman Hermann of the national commission was of the opinion that no action would be taken in the matter of raising the draft rule from Class AA leagues. The proposal to restrict the recently adopted rule to limit each team to 21 players during the playing season finds opposition among second division team owners.

FED OFFICIALS CONFER

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—At a conference here today with officials of the Federal league, D. J. Hall, a director of the Kansas City club which was announced yesterday was to be transferred to Newark, planned to present arguments in favor of the western city retaining the franchise. Telegrams received from Kansas City assuring him that the sufficient funds could be raised there to meet all obligations and place the club on a strong footing for the coming season were to be laid before the Federal league officials.

In the sale of the Kansas City franchise to Patrick T. Powers, former president of the Eastern league, now the International league baseball circles here see a move on the part of the Federal league to have a team in the east for transfer to New York when the time is ripe.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

KEITH'S THEATRE

Ed. Morton, a former Philadelphia policeman, heads an excellent bill at the E. F. Keith theatre this week, and though he appeared in this city last year his songs are all new and catchy and he was forced to respond to several encores at last evening's performance. Morton's songs are all original and different from any that have been heard at Keith's this year. The ex-cop was obliged to appear on the stage last evening in his street clothes but he provided the entertainment and his song and a great impression on the audience. Morton is tall, broad shouldered and straight and his address on the stage increases the success of his act.

The other acts on the bill are all of first class variety. Bessie and Harriet Rempel and company in "A Playlet of Youth" in two scenes present a sentimental little melodrama that is different from anything seen here this year. The Rempel sisters are ably assisted in the presentation by Aubrey Ligon and Raymond, who supplies plenty of comedy.

Love, romance, disappointment and final triumph of love are combined in the lot to round out a really enjoyable presentation.

The melodrama is very well presented. Miss Harriet Rempel, as well as her sister, Bessie, handling their parts in a pleasing manner. Mr. Raymond also did excellently.

The Six Military Angels, three boys and three girls, are an act that is sure to please. They are very good in their presentation of a military aspect brought into action. The first scene is at a station at West Point and the company does some clever dancing. The second scene is on a battlefield and considerable clog dancing is carried out. A military drill by the six young people, pretty, attention, is featured. The act is the last of the bill and must be seen to be appreciated.

Jewell's Marklin Mimics, presented by Mrs. Jewell, walk, dance and do other stunts in a delightful way with impersonations of Lillian Russell, Anna Held, Gertrude Hoffman, Bert Williams, Harry Lauder, the Castles, Ben Tany and others are given in an amusing way. The scenery is a feature of the presentation of the act.

Miss Marion Weeks, billed as the diminutive prima donna, made her first appearance in Lowell in a singing act which took very well last evening. Miss Weeks opens with "The Rose Love Song" and then sings a doll's song from "The Tales of Hoffman," which was very good. Her third number was "Tennessee, I Hear You Calling Me," and she also gave several encores.

The Three Whalers are seen in a singing and dancing act while the Novellys, Clinton, entertain with a jumping exhibition. The man is one of the best jumpers ever seen on a local stage and his novelties are remarkable. The Hearst-Sell News pictorial is good as usual.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Reformer" is the attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. It is the well known play by Ben L. Legere and is of socialistic tendency. Although it has nothing objectionable. The basic principle of the drama is freedom. This of course necessitates a romantic personage in this role.

The complete cast of characters is as follows:

Nathaniel Rawson Joseph Thayer
Mrs. Rawson Sadie Galloupe
Dorothy Stewart
Evelyn Frances Shannon
Tom Rawson Sam A. McHarry
Dr. James Lynch Wm. H. Dimick
Rev. Wallace Fallon Thomas Carroll
Mr. Kerwin Frank McDonald
Edward J. Carey Clifford Hastings
Lord Gerald Cavendish Alfred Renaud
Lady Cavendish Marion Chester
Helen King Natalie Rounds
Perkins Dorothy Ardle

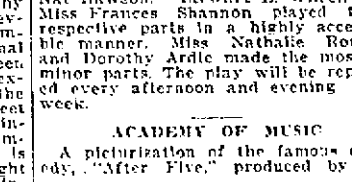

Tom Rawson, the son of a poor man, decided to make a trip to Europe for the purpose of studying life in all its aspects. When he returns he finds his father a multi-millionaire. Being imbued with positive ideas as to the unjust methods by which very large fortunes are accumulated he questions the honesty of his father's methods.

He started a reform movement which finally won over his father and other members of his family. A love affair made interesting to the plot, the characters being one of Rawson's sisters and a young man preparing for the ministry. The reformer prevents the separation of the young couple, following a scandal and forces their marriage. Next comes a general clean-up of the political situation in the city and a triumph in reform.

Sent A. McHarry makes an able Tom Rawson while Miss Sadie Galloupe as Mrs. Rawson interprets the role with becoming grace and skill. Thomas Thayer gives a good impersonation of Nat Rawson. Stewart E. Wilson and Miss Frances Shannon played their respective parts in a highly acceptable manner. Miss Natalie Rounds and Dorothy Ardle made the most of minor parts. The play will be repeated every afternoon and evening this week.

FIRE ON GARNET STREET

BOY SET FIRE TO CLOTHING IN BATHROOM AND HAD NARROW ESCAPE

A small boy playing with matches on the second floor of a three tenement house at 12 Garnet street started a fire about 10:45 o'clock this forenoon which gutted the bathroom and damaged considerable clothing that was hanging on the walls and packed in a trunk. The building is owned by Albert Hamel, Esq., and the tenement occupied by the family of Marie Marcel.

The boy, who is about four years old, had a narrow escape from being suffocated or burned to death. While his mother was busy engaged in the kitchen he went into the bathroom to play and locked the door. It is believed that he secured matches from a shelf and lighted the clothing. The smoke pouring through the cracks of the door attracted the attention of Mrs. Marcel and she ordered the boy to come out. The room was then filled with thick smoke and the walls and floor of the bath room were ablaze. An alarm from box 21 was sounded and the prompt response of the fire apparatus prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining rooms. The contents of the tenement were not insured.

MINISTERS ASSOCIATION

The North Middlesex Ministers Association held its mid-winter meeting yesterday afternoon in the Unitarian vestry. Rev. Oliver J. Fairfield of Littleton preached the sermon, his subject being "German Ideals." A paper on the topic "After the War," written by Dr. Dole of Jamaica Plain, was read by Rev. E. P. Daniels of Wilton, N. H., and Rev. J. R. Pennington of Westford read his paper on a similar topic, treating the subject of settlement between the nations from the humanitarian viewpoint. The general discussion was of the ultimate settlement of war difficulties.

One of the members of the association present, Rev. Richmond Flisk, D. D., of Ayer, will be 80 years of age next day.

The North Middlesex Ministers association was founded in Lowell in May, 1881. It meets three times a year.

DOES RHEUMATISM BOTHER YOU?

The Doctors Say "Use Musterole"

So many sufferers have found relief in MUSTEROLE that you ought to buy a small jar and try it. Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. MUSTEROLE relieves the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin.

It takes the place of the mussy, old fashioned mustard plaster.

MUSTEROLE is recommended for Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Lumbago, Neuritis, Sprains, Bruises, Stiff Neck, Headache and Colds of the Chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

At your druggists, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Will Lose Its Effect Unless the Hair is Pretty and Properly Dressed

The woman who looks to clothes for her charm and attractiveness is likely to find her most expensive outfit a failure if she has thin, faded or lifeless hair. The most beautiful evening gown will appear dowdy and out of style unless crowned with a head of pretty hair, soft, fluffy and lustrous.

Beautiful hair does not just happen to us, but is always a matter of care and proper nourishment of the hair roots. No matter how unsightly the hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage, an inexpensive tonic, well rubbed into the scalp, is all that is ever needed. The hair roots are nourished and stimulated to grow new hair. Even dandruff is entirely removed with one application, and itching scalp and falling hair cease; the hair will be bright, vigorous, soft and fluffy.

If the hair is oily, dry, brittle, or you have dandruff, Parisian Sage immediately removes the cause, and by toning up the scalp quickly restores the hair to its original brilliancy and vigor.

Parisian Sage can be had from any drug or toilet counter. It is a delightful and harmless treatment that never fails to act as a real and lasting benefit to the hair and scalp.

ELABORATE ENTERTAINMENT PLANNED FOR JAPAN'S REPRESENTATIVE TO EXPOSITION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—In honor of Baron Shigeto Dewa, Japan's representative to the opening of the Panama-Pacific exposition who was due here today, an elaborate round of entertainment has been planned by the state department. He is accompanied by Commander S. Kobayashi and Lieut. Commander Uyeda. Lieut. Commander Barle of the Dolphin will act as escort for Admiral Dewa during his stay here.

Admiral Dewa will call on President Wilson, the secretaries of state, navy and war, and Admiral Dewey. Secretary Daniels will give a dinner in his honor tomorrow night and Secretary Bryan will entertain him at luncheon. Visits to Annapolis, the navy yard, the wireless station at Arlington, Mount Vernon are on the program of entertainment.

BIRD FLIES ACROSS OCEAN

Pigeon Found at Wilkesbarre, Penn., Had Message from a German Soldier in Belgium

WILKESBARRE, Penn., Feb. 8.—A carrier pigeon dropped from the roof of a building here, and Fred Jacobs, who found it, discovered a message tied about the bird's neck, which evidently was the message of a German soldier in the Belgium trenches to his wife. The message read as follows:

"Dear Wife—I am alive and well in the trenches in Belgium, but your brother has been killed."

"That was all there was, not even a signature to denote the identity of the man who wrote this little tragedy of war. The pigeon showed evidences of long flight and the injury to the wing seemed to have been received shortly before the bird was picked up."

The message was written in English and wrapped in the heading of a German newspaper and the date mark of the paper was Saxony, Dec. 1, the day of the month missing.

NONPAREIL CLUB

The annual election of officers of the Nonpareil club was held at their rooms this week, the following officers being chosen to serve this year: President, Andrew A. Grogan; vice-president, Linwood O. Knapp; treasurer, P. Percy Warren; recording secretary, Richard D. Donoghue; financial secretary, Geo. F. Haggerty.

The report of the treasurer showed the club to be in excellent financial condition and it was voted to make several improvements at "Tak-it-e-z," their spacious camp at Nabasset. Preliminary arrangements were made for a grand minstrel overture and dance to be given in the near future. Richard Donoghue is the club's general manager of the affair.

The members were very enthusiastic in making the arrangements for the minstrel show and the public will certainly hear some sweet singing, as every member of the club possesses a good voice.

THE TRIPLE OTT CLUB

The Triple Ott club, composed of young men from the upper Gorham street district held its quarterly meeting in its rooms in Gorham street last night and after transacting considerable business elected the following officers: President, Victor Peterson; vice-president, Frank Hendricks; secretary, Patrick Healand; treasurer, Patrick Gill.

After the election of the club officers the members voted to hold a farmers' hall at North Billerica in May and the following officers were chosen to have charge of the affair: General manager, Victor Peterson; assistant general manager, Patrick Healand; floor director, Thomas Healand; assistant floor director, James Hendricks; treasurer, Patrick Gill.

When the election was finished the members talked at length on the coming baseball season and appointed John W. Glindey, the catcher of last season's team, to captain the nine this coming season. All hoped that the team would meet with as much success this year as it did last year when they won twelve out of fifteen games.

How Any Woman Can Remove Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)

It is not longer necessary for a woman to visit a beauty specialist to have her unsightly hairs removed, for, with the aid of a little depilatory paste, she can, in the privacy of her own home, remove even a stubborn growth in a very few minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs and after two or three minutes removed and the skin washed, when it will be left clear and hairless. Be sure you buy real delatone.

NEW STARTLING REVELATIONS PROMISED IN CASE OF MURDERS AT HOME FOR AGED

1. GERMAN I. O. O. F. HOME, YONKERS, N.Y. 2. GIRL IN CHARGE OF HOME'S DRUG STORE, WHERE POISON WAS OBTAINED. 3. OLD INMATES'

YONKERS, Feb. 9.—The investigation into the confession of Frederick Mors that he killed eight inmates of the German Odd Fellows' home, where he was employed as nurse, centered today in efforts of the authorities to obtain sufficient corroboration to justify exhumation of the bodies of three of the victims. These died from poison before the institution moved here from Unionport, according to Mors but the authorities said today they would not act upon this statement until it was supported by other evidence. If this is forthcoming, the bodies will be examined for traces of the poison. The other five alleged victims were put to death with an anesthetic, Mors says, and exhumation of their bodies would be of no value. Light on the question as to whether Mors is mentally unbalanced was expected today from Dr. Gregory, who has had the nurse under observation at Bellevue hospital, New York. Dr. Gregory was looked for here today to make a report to Governor Dunn as to whether he believed Mors' story was credible.

LADY LOOKABOUT

In November of this year the question of equal suffrage will be placed before the voters for the first time in the history of the state. The electorate of Massachusetts, made up in part of native born citizens and in part of foreign born men who have been naturalized, shall decide the question. A large proportion of the voters I fear are not prepared to act intelligently on this question and it may require a long time to educate them. Still the cause is making progress and this will continue until success is attained. I am afraid for the suffragists in Massachusetts next fall. The women of Massachusetts have a well-nigh hopeless task before them to educate the voters in favor of suffrage, and I still believe that our only hope is through constitutional amendment. I believe it is not a local issue. Suffrage was granted to the negro by constitutional amendment. Why not to woman by the same means?

Feeding the Birds

In some cities, since the ground has been covered with snow, the municipal governments, through their park departments, have been feeding the wild birds. It is an act of kindness to do this, as their food supply is cut off by the snow, and unless something is done for them they will perish. Mr. Kernan, superintendent of parks, is always quick to think of little acts of kindness, may already have taken steps to relieve the distress among the birds. Parents and teachers should encourage children to place food where the birds can find it.

Snowballing Abuses

In a nearby city, snowballing by boys has become such a nuisance that the police have been given strict orders to apprehend any one caught in the act. A few days ago, the members of the city government were assaulted as they passed along the streets of that city. The boys of Lowell are not among the absent when it comes to throwing snowballs, and they seem to take headless delight in chasing the snowballs. The old and infirm horses are a favorite target with them, and often, not snowballs alone, but pieces of ice are hurled at them. It is a wonder that so many can indulge in this cruel pastime and escape arrest. I am afraid a day of reckoning is in store for many of them.

Heel Exposed to Dust

It was a windy day just before the snow storm of the past week. As I hurried along one of our main thoroughfares blinded by the clouds of dust that rose from the dry street, I passed a market outside which lay some dressed hogs. One had a sign on it which read, "435 pounds." All were covered with thick road dust. Some real carcasses also were there. They, too, were thickly coated with dust. It seems to me that it is not so long ago since there was passed a law which compelled hogs to be covered with canvas, the carcasses they carry through the city. It would seem that the purpose of the law is exposed if markets can expose these carcasses outside their doors without covering of any kind. It surely is not carrying out the spirit of the law.

WITH THE FRENCH WOUNDED

Paris, Feb. 9th. 8:30 p. m. Away from the battlefield one sees war stripped of its glamor. We see the heroic work of nurses who are on duty day and night. There is devotion, self-sacrifice, suffering patriotism—qualities which only a great war and its terrible consequences can inspire to the highest development. The women everywhere are helping and everywhere one sees self-sacrifice and devotion to country.

The Woman's Sacrifice.

There are plenty of women who suffer in silence, whose strength is out of proportion to their ambition. Their hands are tied by some chronic disease common to womanhood; that weak back, accompanied by pain here or there, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, may be fainting spells or spasms, are all signals of distress for women. She may be growing from girlhood into womanhood, passing from womanhood to motherhood, and later suffering from that change which leaves so many wrecks of women. At any or all of these periods of a woman's life she should take a tonic and nerve, prescribed for just such cases by a physician of vast experience in the diseases of women. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has successfully treated more cases the past fifty years than any other known remedy. When you feel dull, headachy, backache, dizzy, or perhaps hot flashes, there is nothing you can accomplish, nothing you can enjoy. You can find permanent relief in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is sold by medicine dealers, or trial box by mail from Dr. Pierce, Invalids Relief, Buffalo, N. Y., on receipt of 50 cents, or one dollar for large box—Adv.

POSITIVELY PAINLESS DENTISTRY

WITH NAP-A-MINIT

USED BY DR. GAGNON

A broad statement, but a true one, and one which I am prepared to prove.

The average person is rather skeptical in regard to painless dentistry, as experience has taught him that in most cases the work done in a painless manner simply meant that the teeth were not prepared properly and the result was that trouble arrived sooner or later.

With Nap-A-Minit you can have teeth and roots extracted, nerves removed, cavities thoroughly prepared for fillings, bridge work inserted, pyorrhea treated in fact every branch of dental work done absolutely without pain.

Do not confound Nap-A-Minit with the ordinary anesthetics, as ether, gas, or any of the anesthetics. It is a combination of nitrous-oxid producing the state of analgesia in which you can talk, hear, watch the dentist at work, every faculty unimpaired, save that you can not feel pain.

Don't let fear keep you from your rightful inheritance—good teeth—but come to either of my offices and let me explain in detail the wonderful merits of that great boon to teeth-suffering humanity—Nap-A-Minit.

SLEEP FOR BEAUTY

Night is the psychological time for beauty culture. It is the time for erasing the care-lines of the day, and making ready for rebuilding. It is a time of recuperation, of gaining strength, of repairing nerves.

If you want to rise with a sunshiny face, go to sleep with a mind freed from inhibitions. Put away all "envy, hatred and malice," set yourself at peace with the world, yourself and your fellow man.

Take some simple exercises for the relaxation of tense muscles. Don't say you are too tired, and tumble into bed with the "tired" thought. You have to breathe, whether you are tired or not. Twenty-five deep breaths will quiet nerves, start the circulation, loosen the tension of body and mind. A warm bathe will do as much good as an hour's sleep.

Brush your hair with long, even strokes, breathing rhythmically meanwhile. Massage the scalp. It will clear your head, and take away the feeling of being "bound with hands," which is the sign of a tired brain.

St. before your mirror in a strong light and carefully smooth out all lines of worry, of petulance, of unhappiness. I have given dozens of recipes. If, however, you want a specific for wrinkles, try this:

Half an ounce each of lanolin and coconut oil, a quarter of an ounce each of white wax and spermaceti, one ounce of oil of sweet almonds, melt together and while stirring add half an ounce of orange flower water and a few drops of benzoin.

MRS. HALE GIFFORD DEAD

WAS WIFE OF U. S. CONSUL AT BASLE AND SISTER OF FEDERAL JUDGE HALE

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 9.—Mrs. Augusta Hale Gifford, authoress and historian and wife of George Gifford, United States consul at Basle, Switzerland, from 1884 until 1913, died in this city yesterday from the effects of an accident. She was 73 years old.

Mr. Gifford, who 45 years ago was editor in chief of the Portland Daily Press, is still in Switzerland. Mrs. Gifford returned to her home just before the European war broke out, a sufferer from a broken hip, which caused complications to set in. She was a sister of former Senator Hale and Federal Judge Clarence Hale of this city.

MATRIMONIAL

Louise Corriveau and Miss Marie Evelina Blanchette were married yesterday morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock at St. Joseph's church by Rev. C. A. Paquette O. M. I. The witnesses were Nazaire Corriveau and Amedee Blanchette. At the close of the ceremony the couple left on a wedding tour to Milton, N. H. They will reside in this city.

LEQUIN—LAVALLÉE

Achille Lequin and Miss Helene Lavallee were married yesterday at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Louis church at 7 o'clock by Rev. J. C. Beaudry. The couple were attended by their respective fathers, Calixte Lequin and Ferdinand Lavallee. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bridegroom, 124 Dalton street, where a wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Lequin, who were the recipients of numerous gifts left at noon for Holyoke, Worcester and Southbridge, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will return in two weeks and will make their home at the corner of Lakeview avenue and Farmland road. Present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lequin of Marlboro.

ROANE—MCCARRON

With the celebration of a nuptial mass Mr. Frank Roane and Miss Anna McCarron were united in the bonds of wedlock at the Immaculate Conception church at 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

The popularity of the young couple made the event one of unusual interest. Mr. Roane is the son of Mr. John F. Roane of Chapel street, the prominent letter carrier, while the bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony McCarron of Concord street, Belvidere, and for the last two years a teacher in the Coburn evening school. The nuptial mass was celebrated at 2 o'clock by Rev. James P. McCarron, O. M. I.

The happy couple were attended by Mr. John F. Roane, Jr., a brother of the groom and Miss Catherine McCarron, a close friend of the bride.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of white princess satin embroidered with duchess lace and wore a white picture hat. She carried a large bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom wore a gown of blue chambruse with lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. She also wore a picture hat.

Following the ceremony Mr. Roane and his wife left on an extended wedding trip to Boston, New York and Providence, and upon their return in

VERY GRAVE MATTER

ALLEN TOWN, Pa., Feb. 9.—Despondent because work was slack, Francis D. Baer, a grave digger, 46, committed suicide while his wife and daughter were in church.

He pulled the hose from a gas heater and stuck the end in his mouth, with the cock turned on full force.

He had been complaining that Allentown was so healthy that a grave digger could not make a living.

SOUTH END MINSTRELS

WILL PRESENT THEIR SHOW FOR BENEFIT OF INMATES OF CHELMSFORD ST. HOSPITAL

The 500 or more inmates of the Chelmsford St. hospital will be treated to a minstrel show Wednesday night when the members of the South End club will assemble at the hospital and present their show which made such a hit at Associate hall a short time ago. The inmates are looking forward to this evening with pleasurable anticipation.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Nine-tenths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure

A famous physician whose successful researches into the cause and cure of stomach and intestinal diseases have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the vital organs, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach. Much of the trouble was due to acidity, which in turn was due to the action of ten to excessive gastric secretions, termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the delicate lining of the stomach, but also set up gastritis and stomach ulcers. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines as well as of medical treatment for the stomach, stating that he and his colleagues have secured remarkable results by the use of ordinary dissolved magnesia, which, by neutralizing the acidity of the food, removes the source of the trouble. He contends that it is as foolish to treat the stomach itself as it would be for a man who stepped on a tack to rub menthol on the foot without first removing the tack. Remove the tack and the foot will heal itself—neutralize the acid and the stomach troubles will disappear. He said that medicines will disappear, but the stomach and medical treatments are useless, as long as the contents of the stomach remain acid; remove the acidity, and the stomach will no longer need medicine—the stomach lining of the stomach will heal itself. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach or heartburn should get a small bottle of dissolved magnesia from their druggist, and take a teaspoonful in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after meals, repeating in fifteen minutes, if necessary, this twice the dose which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases.
